REVENUE.

3. The net decrease of Rs. 1,22,997 under the head of Receipts is principally due to the fact that no credit was afforded to Provincial Revenues for the assignment made by the Government of India on account of the cost of the construction of a vessel to replace the pilot brig Cassandra, and for which a provision of one lakh was included in the revised estimate. The total cost on account of the brig has been adjusted in the accounts of 1889-90. The principal change introduced into the accounts of 1888-89 is the reclassification of loans and advances, the control of which has been made over to the Provincial Government. The interest on these loans received during the year amounted to Rs. 24,820, viz.:—

	Rs.
On loans to Municipalities and other Public Corporations, excluding Presidency Corporation	1,324
On loans to landholders and other notabilities	345
On advances to cultivators	12,192
On advances under special laws	10,959
Total ...	24,820

The 4 per cent. payable to the Imperial Revenues on the amount advanced from the treasury amounted to Rs. 45,802, and the difference between the two amounts, Rs. 20,982, has been credited to Provincial under the head of Land Revenue.

Expenditure.

4. The actual expenditure shows a net increase of Rs. 54,920 compared with the revised estimate. There was an increase of Rs. 83,198 under "Marine," in consequence of larger payments made than were anticipated to the Government Dockyard at Bombay for the cost of building the pilot brig to replace the Cassandra. The final adjustment of accounts also caused an increase of Rs. 14,632 under "Miscellaneous." Against these increases there was a decrease of Rs. 30,905 under "General Administration," caused chiefly by the restricted expenditure under "Tour expenses of the Lieutenant-Governor" and by savings under "Commissioners" on account of privilege leave absences of officers during the year. There were also small decreases under "Police" and "Scientific and other Minor Departments."

5. The transactions of the Provincial loans and advances not included in the cash account are as follow:—

Part II.

REVISED ESTIMATE, 1889-90.

6. A revised estimate, based on the actuals of eight months, was submitted to the Government of India with letter No. F $\frac{1-E}{41}$ 62, dated 30th January 1890. A few important changes in these estimates were again reported on the 6th March 1890. The year has now expired, and although the account has not yet been finally closed and is still open to adjustment, there are sufficient materials to make an approximate estimate of the actual financial position of the province at the close of the year. The following statement shows the revised estimates as framed by the Local Government, the estimates as modified by the Government of India, and the estimates as now adopted with reference to the preliminary actuals of the year :—

Receipts.

7. Land Revenue.—The total Land Revenue receipts for the year 1889-90, as estimated by the Local Government in January last, amounted to

Rs. 3,82,59,000, and this estimate was raised by the Government of India to Rs. 3,86,50,000. The Comptroller-General's statements show that the total collections in 1889-90 were Rs. 3,89,05,000. The 10 per cent. on collections from Government estates amounts to Rs. 4,14,000, and the total Provincial share of land revenue for the year is therefore one-fourth of (Rs. 3,89,05,000—Rs. 4,14,000) + Rs. 4,14,000, or Rs. 1,00,37,000. This amount has been taken as the revised estimate of Provincial share of Land Revenue (proper) for 1889-90. The adjustments between Imperial and Provincial will result in a net credit for Rs. 2,71,208 to the latter as shown below :—

Total ...	—8,34,000	+2,34,000	+2,71,208

The addition of Rs. 2,71,000 to the Provincial share of Land Revenue against a net credit for Rs. 8,34,000 to Imperial provided for in the revised estimate of the Local Government is chiefly due to the decision of the Government of India to appropriate the special contribution of 10 lakhs in 1890-91 instead of in 1889-90.

8. Salt.—The original estimate under this head was raised from Rs. 83,000 to Rs. 1,18,000 in consequence of the increase under "Rents of warehouses," caused chiefly by the reduction of the rate of rent from Rs. 5 to Rs. 3 for 1,000 maunds of salt bonded. The amount of salt bonded during the year was the largest on record, and the salt was kept longer in the golahs than formerly. The actual Provincial receipts have amounted to Rs. 1,24,000.

9. Stamps.—The revised estimate of the Local Government under this head, amounting to Rs. 1,05,75,000 (Provincial share), was raised to Rs. 1,06,50,000 by the Government of India. The Comptroller-General's statements show that the total receipts amounted to Rs. 1,42,38,000. The revised estimate of Provincial share has accordingly now been placed at Rs. 1,06,78,000. The increase was chiefly under court-fee stamps.

10. Excise.—The estimate of receipts under this head was originally placed by the Accountant-General at Rs. 1,11,09,000, but was reduced by the Local Government to Rs. 1,05,00,000, and this amount was passed by the Government of India. The results of the settlement of shops for the sale of country spirits having shown a decrease of more than 8 lakhs in license fees as compared with the actuals of 1888-89, the estimate was reduced to Rs. 1,02,00,000 in the Financial Resolution dated the 28th September 1889, and the same figure was adopted in the revised estimate of the Government of India. The latest returns show that the total receipts of the year were not less than Rs. 1,04,75,000, and one-fourth of this, or Rs. 26,19,000, has been taken as the revised estimate of the Provincial share.

11. Assessed Taxes.—The revised estimate of the Local Government under this head, amounting Rs. 40,00,000, was raised by the Government of India to Rs. 40,50,000. The actuals amounted to Rs. 41,66,000, and half of this, or Rs. 20,83,000, has been taken as the revised estimate of the Provincial share. The greater portion of the increase was due to the careful revision of assessments in Calcutta.

12. The total receipts of the Civil Department amount to Rs. 38,20,000 against Rs. 36,83,000, the revised estimate adopted in the Financial Statement. The increase was chiefly under Jails.

13. Railways.—The following statement compares the estimates as originally proposed by the Local Government with those passed by the Government of India and those now adopted :—

14. Irrigation—Major Works.—The orginal estimate of Rs. 13,58,000 under this head was increased to Rs. 14,44,000 in the revised estimate, but the actuals amount to Rs. 15,21,000. The excess has been general, but is most marked on the Orissa and Sone projects.

15. Civil Works.—The receipts in charge of the Public Works Department were originally estimated at Rs. 3,75,000, but owing to the sale of the Burrakur Iron Works, and to the Akra Brick Factory having been leased out, a reduction was anticipated, and the revised estimate was placed at Rs. 2,42,000. The actual result has been better than this by Rs. 11,000, owing to the apportionment of the sale proceeds of the Burrakur Iron Works between Imperial and Provincial Funds having been made on the basis of the actual capital outlay to end of 1889-90 instead of on the outlay to end of 1888-89 as originally made.

Expenditure.

16. Land Revenue.—The estimate of the Local Government was raised by the Government of India by Rs. 12,000, in order to accord with the survey estimates passed in Finance and Commerce Department Resolution No. 736, dated the 12th February 1890. The latest information shows that the total expenditure under this head is not less than Rs. 35,67,000, and this figure has been taken as the revised estimate for 1889-90.

17. Salt.—The original estimate, amounting to Rs. 22,000, was raised by Rs. 67,000 to provide for the cost of Kilby's patent scales for the weighment of salt, the introduction of which into the Port of Calcutta was sanctioned by Government in July 1889. But as Rs. 15,685 could only be spent on this account in 1889-90, the estimate has been reduced to Rs. 46,000, which is the amount reported to have been actually spent during the year.

18. Forests.—The Government of India have reduced the estimate of the Local Government under this head from Rs. 4,50,000 to Rs. 4,10,000. The expenditure amounts to Rs. 3,90,000, and the revised estimate of the Provincial share has been placed at Rs. 1,95,000.

19. General Administration.—There was larger expenditure under "Commissioners" than had been provided for in the revised estimate, and the total estimate now stands at Rs. 16,16,000 against Rs. 15,93,000, the estimate passed by the Government of India.

20. Law and Justice.—Courts of Law.—The estimate of the Local Government under "Civil and Sessions Courts" was raised by the Government of India by Rs. 29,000 with reference to later actuals than were available when the estimate was submitted by this Government. The actual charges under the heads "High Court," "Law Officers," "Civil and Sessions Court," and "Criminal Courts" exceeded the estimates, and the total expenditure is not less than Rs. 81,58,000.

21. Jails.—The increase under "Jail Manufactures" was attended with a corresponding increase under receipts. The revised estimate now stands at Rs. 19,00,000 against Rs. 18,20,000 passed by the Government of India.

22. Marine.—There has been an increase of expenditure under "Purchase and hire of ships and vessels" and "Purchase of marine stores and coal for the building, repairs, and outfit of ships and vessels." The total charges are Rs. 12,03,000 against Rs. 11,48,000, the estimate passed by the Government of India.

23. Education.—There was an increase of expenditure under "Inspection" and "Scholarships," and the total expenditure is Rs. 24,94,000 against Rs. 24,73,000 passed by the Local Government.

24. Stationery and Printing.—The value of "Stationery supplied from Central Stores" in 1889-90 amounts to Rs. 5,07,000 against Rs. 5,30,000 provided for in the estimate of the Government of India. The revised estimate of total expenditure has been reduced from Rs. 10,13,000 to Rs. 9,87,000.

25. Miscellaneous.—The revised estimate now adopted amounts to Rs. 2,73,000 against Rs. 2,19,000 passed both by the Government of India and the Local Government. The increase has been under the heads of "Subscriptions to periodicals," "Donations for charitable purposes," and "Miscellaneous and unforeseen charges."

26. Famine Relief.—A lump grant of Rs. 3,75,000 was provided in the estimate under this head. The adjustment of charges between Provincial and Local Funds, which has been reported to Government, shows a debit of only Rs. 1,40,000 to Provincial, and this figure has been provisionally adopted as the approximate expenditure on this account.

27. Construction of Railways.—It was anticipated, when both the budget and the revised estimates were passed, that a net credit for Rs. 2,000 would be given to the Capital account of the Kawnia and Dharla State Railway, but the debits to "Capital" on account of the coal purchased for this section more than absorbed the credits arising out of the issue of stores to "Revenue."

28. Irrigation—Major Works.—The "Working expenses" of these works amounts only to Rs. 13,56,000 against Rs. 14,36,500, which was provided in the departmental estimate.

29. Minor works.—The latest information shows that the grant provided for expenditure on Capital account of the Orissa Coast Canal and the grant for Agricultural works could not be fully utilized within the year. The total expenditure amounts only to Rs. 14,19,000 against Rs. 16,96,000, the estimate passed by the Government of India.

30. Civil works.—The expenditure in charge of the Public Works Department shows an increase of Rs. 1,46,000 over the final grant, which is mainly due to the adjustment of the value of iron girders supplied by the Port Storekeeper, Calcutta, for the Mahanuddy bridge, to the Darjeeling hill cart road, and to roads in the Chota Nagpore Division.

31. Contributions.—The revised estimate of contributions in aid of Incorporated Local Funds for the year was Rs. 8,00,000, but the total amount drawn amounts to Rs. 11,83,000. The increase is mainly due to the payment of arrear contributions to District Funds for 1887-88 and 1888-89. The Accountant-General has been instructed to take steps to prevent the recurrence of such arrears in future, and to see that the fixed annual grants to District Boards are regularly paid at the commencement of the year for which they are due, and not deferred till applications are made for them.

32. Closing balance.—According to the revised estimates now adopted, the closing balance of the past year amounts to Rs. 37,87,000 against Rs. 35,39,000 anticipated by the Government of India when passing the estimate for the current year.

Part III.

BUDGET ESTIMATE, 1890-91.

33. The Lieutenant-Governor has already in separate Resolutions reviewed the estimates of receipts and expenditure for the current year under each head of account. Later information, however, has led to a modification of these in some respects. The following table shows the original budget of the Local Government, the figures accepted by the Government of India, and the estimates which the Lieutenant-Governor has finally resolved to adopt :—

34. Land Revenue.—The total collections in 1889-90 amount to Rs. 3,89,05,000, and the estimate for 1890-91 has been placed at Rs. 3,82,79,000. The collections in the first five months of the current year amounted to Rs. 74,72,000 against Rs. 77,50,000 obtained in the corresponding period of last year. These figures do not justify any change in the estimate of total collections, but the Provincial assets from the 10 per cent. on collections on Government estates, which were estimated at Rs. 3,60,000, with reference to the actuals of 1888-89, amounting to Rs. 3,26,000, amounted to Rs. 4,14,000 in 1889-90, and as the receipts in the first four months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 13,000 over those of the corresponding period of last year, there is no reason why the estimate should be placed at a lower figure than four lakhs. The estimate on this account has accordingly been raised to Rs. 4,00,000. The Provincial share of the total revenue will therefore be one-fourth of (3,82,79,000—4,00,000)+4,00,000, or Rs. 98,70,000. The adjustments between Imperial and Provincial will probably result in a net debit of Rs. 10,99,000 against Provincial as shown below:—

Total ...	—2,16,000	—10,78,000	—10,99,000

The difference between the estimate of the Government of India and that now adopted is due to a credit for Rs. 9,000 afforded to Provincial for the up-keep of the Rhotas, and to a debit of Rs. 30,000 on account of the rewards paid out of criminal fines in excise and stamp cases being now adjusted departmentally, instead of, as formerly, under the wholly Provincial head of "Law and Justice."

35. Salt.—The receipts under this head during the first four months of the current year amounted to Rs. 43,000 against Rs. 39,000 obtained in the corresponding period of 1889-90. The total receipts in 1889-90 amount to Rs. 1,24,000; and as some further increase is anticipated when the railway siding and other works now under construction in the Sulkeah Salt Golahs have been completed, the estimate for 1890-91 has been raised from Rs. 1,00,000 to Rs. 1,30,000.

36. Stamps.—The total receipts from stamps amount to Rs. 1,42,38,000 in 1889-90 against Rs. 1,42,00,000, the revised estimate for the year. The details furnished in the district returns show that, while the receipts from the sale of "General stamps," including duties and penalties, increased by Rs. 1,14,000 in the first five months of the current year over those of the corresponding period of last year, the proceeds from the sale of "Court-fee stamps" and "Plain paper" diminished by Rs. 2,61,000. The increase under non-judicial stamps and the decrease under court-fee stamps have not been confined to one month, but have been spread over all the months except June, in which the receipts from court-fees were nearly equal in two years. A part of the latter decrease is probably due to the reduction of the rate of copying fees from 4 annas to 3 annas per folio which has been sanctioned with effect from 1st April 1890, but an allowance of one lakh was made for this in the estimate originally sanctioned. These figures give some cause for anxiety as to the continued expansiveness of this source of revenue, and they certainly tend to show that it will not be safe to adhere to the original estimate of Rs. 1,42,00,000. The estimate under "General stamps" will be raised from Rs. 39,37,000 to Rs. 42,00,000, and that under "Court-fee stamps" reduced from Rs. 1,02,63,000 to Rs. 98,00,000, and the total placed at Rs. 1,40,00,000. The Provincial share will amount to Rs. 1,05,00,000.

37. Excise.—The estimate of total revenue under this head amounts to Rs. 1,02,00,000. The Comptroller-General's statements show that the actual receipts in 1889-90 amounted to Rs. 1,04,75,000. The results of the recent settlement of excise shops for 1890-91 show a falling off of nearly two lakhs in "License fees" as compared with the last year, but the details furnished in the district returns show that, while the receipts from "License fees" diminished by Rs. 1,77,000 in the first five months of the current year, the receipts under other heads increased by Rs. 1,55,000. In view of these figures, and looking to the falling off of revenue in the Patna Division in particular, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that it will not be safe to place the estimate for the current year at a higher figure than Rs. 1,04,00,000. The Provincial share will be Rs. 26,00,000.

38. Customs.—The revised estimate of Provincial receipts under this head for 1889-90 now stands at Rs. 55,000. The receipts during the first four months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 2,000, and there is no reason to anticipate any falling off. The estimate will be raised from Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 55,000.

39. Assessed Taxes.—The Government of India placed both the revised estimate for 1889-90 and the estimate for 1890-91 at Rs. 40,50,000. The receipts in 1889-90 amount to Rs. 41,66,000. The estimate for the current year can safely be raised to Rs. 41,50,000. The Provincial share will stand at Rs. 20,75,000.

40. Forests.—The estimate of total receipts has been reduced by Rs. 14,000, and a corresponding reduction has been made on the expenditure side.

41. Interest.—The Government of India have accepted the revised estimate of loans and advances for 1889-90 as passed by this Government, but have made a lump deduction of Rs. 6,85,000 from the provision made under the head of "Loans to municipalities and other local bodies" for 1890-91. This deduction will reduce the estimate of Provincial receipts from Interest by Rs. 15,000, and the amount payable to the Imperial Government by Rs. 14,000. The estimate of Provincial receipts will therefore be reduced from Rs. 1,59,000 to Rs. 1,44,000.

42. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The total receipts under this head in the first four months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 29,000 over those of the corresponding period of last year. The approximate actuals for 1889-90 were Rs. 8,03,000. The estimate for the current year will be raised from Rs. 7,84,000 to Rs. 8,00,000.

43. Jails.—The Inspector-General of Jails originally estimated the total receipts for the current year at Rs. 8,32,000, and this was accepted by the Local Government. This estimate has since been raised by Rs. 1,80,000 on account of the anticipated sale proceeds of castor-oil to be supplied to the Eastern Bengal State Railway, a corresponding additional grant being made on the expenditure side for the purchase of seed. The estimate now stands at Rs. 10,12,000.

44. Marine.—The original estimate under this head amounts to Rs. 8,76,000 against Rs. 8,54,000, the latest estimate for 1889-90. The receipts in the first four months of the current year show a decrease of Rs. 11,000 as compared with those of the corresponding period of last year. The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it safe to take more than Rs. 8,40,000 as the estimate for the current year.

45. Medical.—The estimate of receipts under this head amounts to Rs. 1,40,000 against Rs. 1,46,000, the revised estimate as it now stands. The receipts from Medical College and School fees in the first four months of the current year show a small increase, and there is no reason to suppose that the total receipts will be less than those of the preceding year. The estimate will accordingly be raised to Rs. 1,46,000.

46. Superannuations.—The Provincial receipts under this head consist chiefly of contributions received from officers employed on foreign service. The original estimate for the current year stands at Rs. 56,000 against Rs. 45,000, the latest estimate for 1889-90. The increased provision is due to the anticipated increase in receipts, with reference to the Government order directing that contributions shall be levied on the salaries of employés of Municipalities and District Boards whose services have been declared to be qualifying for pension. The estimate will now be further raised by a sum of Rs. 75,000 on account of arrear contributions to be recovered from the salaries of employés under Road Cess and Educational officers transferred to the District Boards.

47. Railways.—The estimates of State Railways as passed by the Government of India have been compared below with the latest estimates for 1889-90 and those originally adopted by this Government for the current year:—

The latest returns from the Examiner of Accounts show that the receipts of the Eastern Bengal System during the first five months of the current year were more than 2 lakhs in excess of those during the corresponding period of the past year. But against this increase must be taken into account the falling off of revenue owing to the interruption of traffic, though temporary, occasioned by the floods on both the Northern Bengal and Eastern Bengal State Railways. The decrease in the first week of September amounted to about Rs. 56,000. The management of the Tirhoot State Railway has been made over to the Bengal and North-Western Railway Company under an agreement from the 1st July 1890, and there is no later information to justify any alteration of the estimate passed by the Government of India. This estimate of net receipts amounting to Rs. 65,21,000, showing an increase of Rs. 1,02,000 over the latest estimate for 1889-90, will be retained.

48. Irrigation—Major Works.—The revised estimate under this head for 1889-90 was originally placed at Rs. 14,44,000, and the estimate for the current year at Rs. 14,50,000. The total receipts in 1889-90 amount to Rs. 15,21,000, but the collections in the first three months of the current year were Rs 2,22,000 against Rs. 2,92,000 realized in the same period of 1889-90. In view of the fluctuating character of these receipts, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it safe to alter the estimate passed by the Government of India.

49. Minor Works and Navigation.—The returns from the Examiner of Public Works Accounts show that the receipts in the first three months of the current year amounted to Rs. 1,37,000 against Rs. 1,33,000 realized in the corresponding period of last year. The total receipts in 1889-90 amounted to Rs. 7,89,000. It will not be safe to place the estimate for the current year at a higher figure than Rs. 8,00,000. The estimate will accordingly be reduced by Rs. 32,000.

EXPENDITURE.

50. Land Revenue.—The Government of India have raised the original estimate of total expenditure under this head by Rs. 23,000 to accord with the estimates of the Surveyor-General passed by that Government in the Finance and Commerce Department Resolution No. 736, dated 12th February 1890. The estimate will further be increased by Rs. 2,000 for the purchase of an elephant for the Chittagong Division, for which no provision was made in the budget. The estimate of total expenditure, which would thus have risen from Rs. 36,16,000 to Rs. 36,41,000, will be reduced by Rs. 3,000, the amount transferred to the Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, for the maintenance of the Kutubdia embankments in the Chittagong Division. The estimate will then stand at Rs. 36,38,000.

51. Salt.—The original estimate under this head, amounting to Rs. 30,000, was raised by Rs. 36,000 for the construction of pontoons on the river frontage of the Sulkea Salt Golahs, and of a shunting line directly connecting the golahs with the East Indian Railway. Since then a regrant of Rs. 51,425 for the purchase of Kilby's scales has been sanctioned, and an additional grant of Rs. 2,861 has been made for the completion of the sidings. The charge for pontoons, amounting to Rs. 28,210, has since been transferred to the Public Works Department. The estimate has provisionally been placed at Rs. 93,000.

52. Stamps.—The Government of India have raised the Provincial expenditure under this head by Rs. 25,000, chiefly under "Stamp paper supplied from Central Stores," to accord with the figures adopted in the India estimates. It has recently been decided that the rewards for the prevention or detection of offences against the laws of the Excise and Stamp Departments should be debited to "Excise" and "Stamps" respectively, and not to "Law and Justice." The new classification has come into force from the 1st April 1889, and to meet the additional liability thrown on the Imperial revenues by the change, Rs. 28,859 and Rs. 30,000 have been deducted from the Provincial share of Land Revenue for 1889-90 and 1890-91 respectively. The rewards in stamp cases are, however, comparatively few, and a grant of Rs. 1,000 will probably be sufficient for the purpose. On the other hand, it is probable that there will be some reduction under discount of stamps. On the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that a grant of Rs. 3,85,000 on Provincial account against Rs. 3,83,000, the latest estimate for 1889-90, will suffice, and this figure has accordingly been now adopted.

53. Excise.—The original estimate under this head, amounting to Rs. 5,79,000 was subsequently raised by Rs. 40,000 to meet the cost of the construction of new distillery buildings required for the introduction of the central distillery system throughout the whole of the Presidency, Burdwan, Dacca, and Orissa

Divisions. A provision of Rs. 39,000 has also been added under the head for rewards in excise cases, a corresponding reduction being made under "Law and Justice." The total estimate will therefore stand at Rs. 6,58,000, and the Provincial share at Rs. 1,64,000.

54. Provincial rates.—The estimate for the current year is thus compared with the latest estimate for 1889-90:—

	Latest estimate, 1889-90.	Estimate, 1890-91
	Rs.	Rs.
Public Works Cess establishment ...	25,000	48,000
Road Cess establishment	3,12,000	2,67,000
Total ...	3,37,000	3,15,000

In view of the approximate actuals for 1889-90, the estimate under the head of Road Cess establishment has been raised to Rs. 3,00,000, and the total placed at Rs. 3,48,000.

55. Customs.—The estimate under this head will be raised by Rs. 4,181, to provide for the cost of the establishment and contingencies required by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, for the purpose of working Kilby's patent scales for the weighment of salt in the Port of Calcutta. It will now stand at Rs. 5,54,000.

56. Forests.—The Government of India have raised the estimate of expenditure under this head by Rs. 14,000, to provide for the forest survey charges. Against this increase there has been a reduction of a like amount as explained in paragraph 40 above. The Provincial share of the estimate amounts to Rs. 2,23,000.

57. Interest on Ordinary Debt.—As explained in paragraph 41, the estimate of expenditure will be reduced from Rs. 1,22,000 to Rs. 1,08,000, as passed by the Government of India.

58. General Administration.—The estimate of the Local Government includes a provision of Rs. 3,000 for the cost of two elephants for the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, Orissa. The Secretary of State has recently sanctioned the appointment of an Additional Commissioner for the Patna Division for nine months on Rs. 2,500 per mensem, and a provision of Rs. 16,000 has been made for this purpose. The estimate will therefore stand at Rs. 15,82,000.

59. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The estimate under this head will be raised by Rs. 18,000 to provide for the salary of six additional Munsifs sanctioned since the estimate was passed. Against this increase the estimate will be reduced by Rs. 40,000, being the amount transferred to "Stamps" and "Excise" on account of rewards for the prevention and detection of offences against the laws of the Stamps and Excise Departments. The total estimate will stand at Rs. 82,41,000.

60. Jails.—The difference of Rs. 3,000 between the original estimates of this Government and the Government of India is under the sub-head "Clothing and Bedding" under District Jails. The estimate has further been increased by Rs. 1,80,000, to provide for the purchase of castor-seed. Against this increase a sum of Rs. 2,124 has been deducted and made over to the Public Works Department for the construction of Jailors' quarters at Rungpore. The grant now stands at Rs. 20,70,000.

61. Police.—The Government of India have raised the estimate of this Government by Rs. 22,000. The reductions approved in the Resolution of the Home Department, No. 742, dated the 28th October 1889, have not been entirely carried out. The approximate actuals for 1889-90 were Rs. 52,99,000, and the actuals of the first four months of the current year do not show any falling off in expenditure as compared with those of the corresponding period of last year. In view of these figures, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it safe to place the estimate for the current year at a lower figure than Rs. 52,80,000.

62. Marine.—The original estimate under this head, amounting to Rs. 8,86,000, includes a provision of Rs. 10,000 for grant to the Balasore Port Fund. As grants of Rs. 20,000 have been sanctioned to each of the "Balasore" and "Cuttack and Pooree" Port Funds, the estimate will be raised by Rs. 30,000. It will be further increased by Rs. 9,000 to provide for the up keep of the Rhotas, which has now been transferred to Provincial with an assignment of a like amount. The grant will stand at Rs. 9,25,000.

63. Education.—The estimate under this head has been reduced by Rs. 6,278, and a grant of a corresponding amount has been made to the Public Works Department for additions and alterations to the Gya Zillah School building. The grant now stands at Rs. 24,61,000.

64. Medical.—The expenditure under this head for 1890-91 has been estimated at Rs. 15,11,000 against Rs. 15,27,000, the latest estimate for 1889-90. The charges under Medical establishment show however no Reduction and the estimate will, therefore, be raised to Rs. 15,27,000. The estimate does not include any provision for the salary of the Sanitary Engineer and the establishment and other contingent charges of the Sanitary Board now formed under the orders of the Government of India. An Engineer has been appointed with a salary of Rs. 700 and an allowance of Rs. 100 per mensem and a small establishment, costing Rs. 39 per mensem, has been sanctioned. A provision of Rs. 7,000 will be made on this account. The total grant will stand at Rs. 15,34,000.

65. Superannuations.—The Provincial expenditure under this head in past years has been as follows:—

		Increase.
	Rs.	Rs.
1884-85	11,99,000	.....
1885-86	12,39,000	40,000
1886-87	12,68,000	29,000
1887-88	12,80,000	12,000
1888-89	13,70,000	90,000
1889-90	14,36,000	66,000
Estimate, 1890-91	14,47,000	11,000

The increase in the last five years amounted to Rs. 2,37,000, or an average of Rs. 47,000 a year. The actuals of the first four months of the current year show an increase of about Rs. 13,000 as compared with the corresponding period of last year. In view of these figures, it will not, be safe to place the estimate for the current year at a lower figure than Rs. 14,70,000.

66. Miscellaneous.—The estimate of Rs. 2,46,000 under this head has been raised to Rs. 2,51,000 to provide for an increased grant of Rs. 3,600 to the St. Mary's House of Charity Building Fund, and for the regrant of Rs. 1,352, being the unexpended balance of the Government grant on account of the passage-money of Clewer sisters, to the Honorary Secretary, Lady Canning Memorial Fund

67. Railways—Subsidized companies, land, &c.—The original estimate of Rs. 5,000 under this head represents the capitalized value of the abatement of Government revenue to be credited to Government and debited to the Provincial revenues under the head "Tarkessur Railway." The estimate does not provide for the cost of land required for the construction of a metre-gauge railway from Julpigoree to the tea districts in the Western Dooars and for establishment required for the demarcation of land. It has been decided to meet the charge from Provincial revenues, and the Board of Revenue have been asked for a rough estimate of the cost of land. In the meantime a provision of Rs. 11,000 will be made on this account.

68. Minor Works and Navigation.—The estimate of the Government of India, amounting to Rs. 17,33,000, will be raised by Rs. 16,921, the amount added to the grant for expenditure by the Collector of Gya on irrigation in Government estates, and by Rs. 3,000 for the adjustment of expenditure on Kutubdia embankments in the Chittagong Division under this head. The total grant thus stands at Rs. 17,53,000.

69. Civil Works by Public Works Department.—The grant under this head was originally fixed at Rs. 28,97,000. This has subsequently been raised to Rs. 30,20,000 by the following additions and deductions :—

	Rs.	Rs.
As originally fixed		28,97,000
Add—
Grant for the telegraph office at Budge-Budge ...	17,478
Grant for the construction of pontoons (Rs. 28,210), crane and other works (Rs. 3,750) in the Sulkea Salt Golahs	31,960
Grant for additions and alterations to the Gya Zillah School building	6,278
Grant for the construction of a metalled road from Matigurah to Nuxulbari	60,000
Grant for the construction of Jailors' quarters in the Rungpore Jail	2,124
Grant for the repairs of the river bank in proximity to the Nawab's Palace at Moorshedabad	25,000
Grant for the repairs of the roads from Buxa and Santrabari to Chunabatti	3,000
	———	1,45,840
		30,42,840
Deduct—
Grant to the District Board of Gya	20,000
Durbhunga Municipality ...	2,426
	———	22,426
		30,20,414
Or in round numbers ...		30,20,000

A further grant of four lakhs will now be made to enable the Public Works Department to undertake urgent works, and especially to defray the cost of repairs and maintenance of the roads in the Darjeeling district where considerable damage has been done by the recent rains. The total grant will now stand at Rs. 34,20,000.

70. Civil Works by Civil Department.—The estimate under this head was originally passed for Rs. 88,000. The estimate has since been raised by Rs. 2,000 to meet the Government contribution to the Mahomedan Burial Board. It will further be raised by (2,426+1,653=) Rs. 4,079 for grants already sanctioned to the Durbhunga and the Calcutta Municipalities for the maintenance of certain roads formerly under the control of the Public Works Department and the 24-Pergunnahs District Board respectively. The total grant thus stands at Rs. 94,000.

71. Contributions.—The original estimate of Rs. 8,30,000 for grants-in-aid of District and other Incorporated Local Funds will be retained.

72. Closing balance.—According to the estimate originally passed by this Government, it was expected that the year would close with a credit balance of Rs. 20,32,000. According to the estimates now adopted, the closing balance will be Rs. 25,06,000. The improvement in the resources of the Local Government is chiefly caused by the increase under the head of Railway receipts. When the estimates were submitted to the Government of India by the Financial Department in March last, the figures of the Public Works Department, which were available at the time, showed Rs. 1,22,89,000 and Rs. 1,24,11,000 as the estimated gross receipts for 1889-90 and 1890-91 respectively. A more favourable forecast, based on later information, was submitted to the Government of India direct by that Department, and the estimates, as now finally adopted, amount to Rs. 1,25,04,000 and Rs. 1,27,01,000. The net increase in the two years amounts to Rs. 5,05,000.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be submitted to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue; to all Commissioners of Divisions; to the Inspectors-General of Civil Hospitals, Police, Jails, and Registration; to the Directors of Public Instruction and Land Records and Agriculture; to the Conservator of Forests; to the Port Officer, Calcutta; to the Superintendents of Botanical Gardens and Government Printing, Bengal, and to all Departments of this Government, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Darjeeling, the 20th October, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on Public Instruction in Bengal for the year 1889-90.

The Education Department was in the charge of Sir A. Croft, K.C.I.E., during the year, except for the period of three months in which Mr. C. H. Tawney, C.I.E., acted for him and submitted the annual report for 1888-89. The greater length of the report now submitted than that of last year is in accordance with the wishes of Government that details should be fully examined only in alternate years. But the account furnished of the year's operations is no less interesting than any of the series which for some years past Sir A. Croft and Mr. Tawney have added to the records of the Education Department and of Government. These reports are always highly creditable to the Department of Public Instruction in Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in noticing that the present report has been laid before Government by the prescribed date.

Number under instruction.

2. The total number of pupils under instruction in the educational institutions of all classes only rose by 9,773 in comparison with the previous year. This increase was secured among private as distinguished from public institutions; the latter on the whole showed some decline. The falling off in the number of college students was slight, and, generally speaking, the figures betoken the same eagerness as has been previously noticed on the part of the upper and middle classes of the community to avail themselves of the advantages of education. The chief factor in the decrease of public institutions is to be found in the loss of aided lower primary schools, whereas the gain in the number of private institutions is partly attributable to the discovery of 1,750 elementary Koran schools hitherto unrecorded in the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions, and partly to an increase of elementary indigenous schools. Too much importance must not be attached to the fluctuations in the numbers of the lower primary schools. The indigenous schools of Chittagong, for instance, present endless difficulties in the way of accurate classification, so that primaries disappear only to be counted in another category as Koran schools. The tenure of the lowest fringe, or, to use another metaphor, of the outer circle of these primaries is described as thoroughly precarious and unstable. Hundreds, or even thousands, of these are set up, carry on feebly and intermittently for a period, and then disappear, leaving no trace. The Director has opportunely raised the question whether the country or the cause of education derives any advantage from the expenditure of money on such ephemeral schools, which make no appreciable impression on the ignorance of the rural population. The anxiety of Government to extend elementary education has been constantly declared and is an established principle of the educational policy; but a mere superficial extension, with a view to show larger numbers on the list of pupils, without requiring any depth or conformity with the existing standard, does not commend itself to the Lieutenant-Governor. The money available for primary education is necessarily limited in amount, and it is essential, in the interests of economy and of the really useful schools, that the allotment should be spent with discrimination. Under present circumstances, therefore, while the primary grant remains inexpansive, the consolidation, rather than an unlimited extension, of the primary system appears to be advisable, and the Director's recommendation is therefore accepted that, for the present, admission to the reward examination should be limited to schools that satisfy certain conditions as to number and progress of pupils as determined by inspection in situ, and that no school so admitted should be entitled to any reward unless it earns at the examination a certain minimum sum. The progress of education cannot be gauged by the test of numbers alone, on which the changes in the schools of the lowest grade have an effect so disproportionate to their real importance. The increase of 20,909 schools and 672,893 pupils in 10 years undoubtedly represents a real advance in the demand for education.

Financial results.

3. The expenditure as verified by the Accountant-General's figures has again exceeded the sanctioned estimate. The excess of Rs. 51,182 has, however, been balanced to a great extent by a surplus of Rs. 33,506 over the estimated receipts. After allowing for certain charges to be debited to the Public Works Department, the net deficit is only Rs. 6,295. The explanation offered by the Director deserves consideration. His budget, it appears, was reduced by the Accountant-General by the large sum of Rs. 1,64,000 on account of probable savings, after examination of the actuals of the preceding year, and he was then required to retrench Rs. 30,000 more to assist the financial necessities of Government. The result shows that, when the effect of the probable savings has been thus discounted, it is practically almost impossible for the reduced estimates to bear further curtailment. The Lieutenant-Governor recognises the loyalty with which the Director and the Department have endeavoured to meet the views of Government, and he trusts that vigilance and care may be constantly exercised in keeping down expenditure and in realizing the best possible value for the cost incurred. The total sum spent in Bengal on education of all descriptions, from the highest to the lowest, amounted to Rs. 87,43,000, an increase of Rs. 75,000 over the preceding year. The contribution from public sources declined from Rs. 32,44,000 to Rs. 32,37,000, while private expenditure rose from Rs. 54,24,000 to Rs. 55,06,000. Collegiate, secondary, primary, female, and special education were all more costly than in the previous year, whereas comparative economy was exercised in the item of buildings to the sum of a lakh and a half of rupees. The municipal contributions stand at exactly the same sum, Rs. 83,000, as last year; the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to hear of their being increased. Steps have been taken to make the figures furnished by the municipalities to the Department correspond with those supplied by them to Government. There are difficulties in the way, it is admitted, but the matter should continue to receive attention.

District Boards as controlling agencies.

4. The educational functions delegated to the District Boards constituted under Act III (B.C.) of 1885 include the management of Government primary and middle schools, the distribution of the grant-in-aid allotment for middle schools under private management, the administration of the primary grant, the conduct of the annual examinations of primary schools for rewards, and the award of lower primary scholarships. The Boards are also authorized to establish and maintain, with the sanction of Government, schools of technical instruction, and some have already taken up this question with interest and energy. The Technical Institute, for example, established by the District Board of Rungpore, has attained considerable success. With the object of defining more clearly the functions of the Boards and their relations to the officers of the Department, revised educational rules under the Act were under consideration and public criticism during 1889-90, and finally promulgated by Government on the 18th April last. Experience has already shown the new rules to be greatly superior to the old. They give somewhat larger powers to the District Boards than they had previously enjoyed, while any departure from the existing system, in regard to the administration of funds or the control of schools, is made conditional on the sanction of Government. The power of the Inspector and his position as a controlling officer are more clearly defined. In accordance with the views of Government, Deputy Inspectors of Schools have in nearly every district been appointed ex-officio members, not only of the District Boards, but also of the Education Committees to which these bodies have generally delegated their ordinary executive duties. The advantages of this plan are already apparent, co-operation and efficiency having often taken the place of friction and mismanagement. The Lieutenant-Governor has again the pleasure of observing that the relations between the Boards and the Deputy Inspectors in the majority of districts are eminently satisfactory. Government must look to the good offices of the authorities in the Burdwan and Orissa Divisions, in which differences have arisen, to put things straight as soon as possible. On the other hand, there are indications that in some places the education work of the District Boards has been allowed to lapse too much into the hands of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman in his executive capacity. While the Lieutenant-Governor allows that there is some force in the excuse that it is ordinarily not easy to arouse any enthusiasm for educational work, except on such occasions as present opportunities for the exercise of patronage, he desires that the District Boards, through their Education Committees, may be fully consulted in all matters of principle and importance, and that their functions may not be over-ridden by the executive officers. The Director has, in a very proper spirit, as a friendly critic, drawn attention to some shortcomings in the work of certain District Boards. It is through no fault on their part that their educational operations have in some cases been hampered for want of funds, the income from ferries and pounds not having kept pace with their educational requirements. But they must be held responsible for such matters as great delay in the despatch of business, especially in disposing of reward bills and in making up examination results, irregularities in the method of accounting for public money, misapplication of the primary grant, or failure to spend fully the allotments for primary education. These are matters which the District Boards are quite capable of correcting for themselves. It is not a matter for surprise that their control and management of middle schools of various classes is less efficient than when the work was performed by high officers of the Education Department. Sir Alfred Croft rightly observes that this decline in efficiency is part of the necessary price paid for Local Self-Government. The policy of entrusting District Boards with certain educational work, in which the Department has given them its steady support, has been deliberately adopted for reasons which have often been stated, and improvement can only be obtained by perseverance. The transfer of large educational powers to Local, as distinguished from District, Boards appears to have been prematurely attempted in some places.

Inspection.

5. The Circle Inspectors have all done a large amount of inspection duty. Among the Deputy Inspectors it is noticeable that the average number of days spent on tour varies from 118 in Orissa and 131 in the Chittagong Division to 198 in the Bhagulpore and 203 in the Patna Division. It is not explained why there should be such marked differences between one division and another, and the Director has taken proper notice of the unsatisfactory explanations offered by the three Deputy Inspectors in Orissa for their deficiencies in touring. A change in the system of reckoning the duration of tours makes any comparison with the previous year difficult. During the year the heading "days on tour" in the tabular statement of inspections has been changed to "days on tour outside head-quarters," and it has been ordered that all work done by an officer who returned the same night to his house without overpassing the five-mile limit should be reckoned as head-quarters work. The object of this change has been to frustrate the designs of some officers whose returns of inspection, showing a numerically high average of work, had been secured by the easy device of visiting schools at and near head-quarters with unnecessary frequency. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs with Sir A. Croft that it is the duty of Deputy Inspectors to spend at least 150 days on actual tours within their districts, and that there is no reason why head-quarters schools should be neglected in consequence of the new rule. He will be requested to bring to the notice of Government any cases of its abuse. The inadequacy of the clerical assistance afforded to the Deputy Inspectors is a serious matter. The increased office work thrown on them since the creation of District and Local Boards, and the correspondence that will be entailed by the working of the transfer rules for primary and middle schools, are calculated to diminish their activity as inspecting officers if proper help is not allowed them. This matter has been represented to Government, but, owing to financial considerations, it has been hitherto impossible to apply a remedy. The Director will be desired to resubmit the case. The Sub-Inspectors have for the most part complied with the prescribed minimum of inspection duty, viz. 200 days and 400 schools. But the opinion of superior officers inclines to the view that there is some falling off in efficiency in their work, and that the control formerly exercised by the Department was firmer than that of the District Boards to which the Sub-Inspectors have been transferred. The anomalous position occupied by these officers may partly account for this: they have become the servants of the Boards for their work and their pay, while they are still eligible for promotion to and in the subordinate graded service; they are not under the direct control of the Deputy Inspector, but must necessarily depend largely upon his good opinion and endeavour to work up to his views.

University education.

6. During the last three years there has been an increase of nine private collegiate institutions, of which four have sprung into existence in 1889-90. There are now 38 in all, namely, Government 11, municipal 1, aided 8, unaided 18. The increasing demand for such education, and the development of private enterprise, are gratifying. Sir A. Croft strikes the right note when he says that the policy of the day clearly tends more and more towards the concentration of higher educational effort in the Presidency College and the gradual retirement of Government from the outlying colleges, where private enterprise may in time be trusted to take up the work. The number of collegiate students has fallen (for the first time since 1886) from 5,184 to 4,882, the result, it is evident, of fewer passed candidates at the Entrance Examination of 1889 being available to supply the places of those who had left the colleges after taking their degrees or otherwise. The number of successful candidates at the University Examinations again increased, and have for the last three years been as follows:—

	1888.	1889.	1890.
First Arts	481	629	996
Bachelors of Arts	323	366	399
Masters of Arts	43	58	62

The increasing number of Mahomedan candidates is noteworthy, viz. 57 in First Arts as against 21 and 19, 21 in the B.A. against 18 and 12, and 3 Masters of Arts against 1 and 1 in the two preceding years. The percentage of success achieved by the Government colleges was well maintained. The total expenditure upon collegiate education has risen during the year from Rs. 6,38,954 to Rs. 6,91,079, of which Government contributes a fraction over 40 per cent. In the Government colleges the total cost has also risen from Rs. 3,83,365 to Rs. 4,09,955, and the cost to provincial revenues from Rs. 2,30,409 to Rs. 2,52,465. The annual cost of each student in a Government college increased from Rs. 233 to Rs. 244, and the cost of his education to Government from Rs. 140 to Rs. 150. The increase in the Government expenditure is attributed partly to the absence of fewer officers than usual on furlough and partly to the loss of students and their fees—a loss from which all colleges suffered alike. This is borne out by the following figures relating to the entire body of collegiate students:—

	1888	1889.	1890.
Average cost of each student in a college in Bengal	143	124	138
The Government share thereof	63	50	55

The college reports bear testimony to substantial progress, and mention cases of liberality of individual benefactors which merit the acknowledgments of Government.

Secondary education.

7. Though the total number of secondary schools of all classes has risen from 2,319 to 2,366, i.e. by 2 per cent., the number of pupils has only risen from 2,00,124 to 2,01,452, i.e. by ·6 per cent. This absence of corresponding increase in the number of pupils betokens an unnecessary multiplication of schools and an unhealthy competition among them for pupils. The high English and the middle English schools are both more numerous and have more pupils. The decrease in the number of middle vernacular schools is confined to schools managed by Municipal or District Boards or aided by those bodies or by Government. All middle schools in extra-urban tracts, whether maintained or aided by the Department, have been transferred to the control of District and Local Boards under the Government rules, in accordance with the Local Self-Government Act. The expenditure on secondary instruction has varied in the last two years as follows:—

	No. of schools.	Public funds.	Private funds.	Total.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1888-89 ...	2,319	6,01,539	19,34,506	25,36,045
1889-90 ...	2,366	6,08,294	20,11,672	26,19,966

The "public funds" include the provincial revenues, district funds, and municipal funds. The Education Commission recommended that a periodically increasing provision be made in the education budget of each province for the expansion of aided institutions, but financial exigencies and the needs of primary education have prevented compliance with this policy. Not only has it been found impossible to aid the several classes of secondary schools up to the maximum percentage allowed by the grant-in-aid rules, but it becomes necessary to scrutinize every application for a renewal of a grant with a view to possible reduction and perhaps cancellation, so as to have money for new grants and still keep within budget limits. Thus there are still 477 schools, viz. 127 high English, 210 middle English, and 140 middle vernacular, which have not been placed upon the aided list. At the University Entrance Examination 2,156 boys passed in 1890 as compared with 1,153 in 1889, the percentage of success being 50 instead of 24. The schools have profited by experience, greater attention has been paid to their studies by the many unsuccessful candidates of the preceding examination, and school-masters have recognised the necessity of more systematic and careful teaching before a candidate has any chance of passing. The continued success of the Dacca Collegiate School and of the Burrisal and Furreedpore Zillah Schools is praiseworthy. The results of the Middle English and the Middle Vernacular Scholarship Examinations were far worse than in the preceding year. The full enforcement of the rule preventing successful candidates of previous years from again attending the examinations in the hope of winning scholarships affords an insufficient explanation. Sir A. Croft hesitates to ascribe this decline to a failure of efficiency under the management of District Boards, and would rather attribute it to the resumption of the more rigorous standard formerly required.

Discipline and moral training.

8. Measures have been adopted during the year for giving effect to the views of the Government of India in regard to discipline in schools and colleges. The summary of these measures given in the Director's report hardly admits of further condensation, but some of the more important steps taken deserve notice. The establishment of a special training college for teachers has been sanctioned and will be carried out as soon as funds are forthcoming. Principals of Government colleges were addressed on the subject of elevating the moral tone of the students, and the Lieutenant-Governor drew attention to the many opportunities which the study of ethics, and other occasions of college life, afforded to Professors for moral instruction of a character such as to influence their pupils and make a permanent impression. The adoption of suitable moral text-books for schools of all classes has been kept in view: and the example set by the University in preparing a book of selections for the Entrance Examination is to be followed so as to meet the requirements not only of the junior classes of high schools, but also of middle and primary schools through the medium of works in the vernacular. The maintenance in every school of conduct registers, with a record of the head-master's opinion of each boy's character and behaviour, based upon personal knowledge, has been insisted upon, and special attention is to be paid to the entries in the conduct registers of candidates for employment in Government offices. The appointment of monitors under proper safeguards has been authorized, and the system is being tried in institutions to which hostels are attached. More recently these monitors or prefects have been entrusted to a limited extent with punitive powers. A rule has been issued with the object of minimising the evil of having in the same class grown-up lads and little children. The attention of school authorities has been drawn to the necessity of encouraging outdoor games and exercises, on the understanding that no attempt should be made to create a race of acrobats out of our students. Should physical exercise in other forms not be popular, some form of drill is, under the orders of the Government of India, to be compulsory. The Director adds: "It is believed that schools at the sudder stations will find no difficulty in obtaining a person able, if necessary, to give instruction in drill; but such exercises as parallel bars, dumb-bells, cricket, football and indigenous games, including athletic sports, running, jumping, &c., are more to be commended and more likely to be generally acceptable. It has been explained that no reasonable outlay will be refused for the purpose of setting up gymnastic appliances, or of aiding cricket and football clubs." As to discipline, it is admitted that the more closely a school is connected with the Department, the better is its discipline, and in most cases it is not so much the absence of morality as of good manners in the boys and the junior teachers that requires to be corrected. Defiance of authority, indifference if not positive disrespect, a rude offhand manner, showing no sign of respect to a superior, are sights too common in many schools. Cases of actual misbehaviour towards teachers are said to be happily rare; but they are entirely absent, and the punishment of rustication for a year or more has had a salutary effect. Cases of grave misconduct on the part of teachers themselves are not wanting: and to some extent the unhealthy state of public opinion in regard to discipline gives rise to troubles in school management. The opening of a new school as a money speculation, near an old and established institution, often has the effect of disorganising school discipline in the locality for a time. Sir A. Croft considers that it is very desirable that certificates should be refused to schools that defy the rules of discipline, or to those that are opened in a mere spirit of opposition and rivalry to other non-Government schools, without any prospect of permanence and to the injury of sound education. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in these views, and will be prepared to receive definite suggestions on the subject. It is very satisfactory to learn that the operation of the transfer rules has been entirely wholesome, and that the revised rules recently issued are likely to check many irregularities that formerly prevailed. Simple rules for the transfer of pupils in middle and primary schools, in the spirit of those approved by Government for high schools, are being framed. Having regard to these measures, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that a very considerable advance has been made in the direction desired by the Government of India. The policy indicated has had his entire concurrence and support; he has not expected anything but gradual improvement, and he looks to the co-operation of all officers of the Department in the endeavour to reform the whole tone of education in Bengal on the lines laid down by the highest authority.

Primary education.

9. The same features which were noticed in the Resolution on the report for 1888-89 have re-appeared this year in the numerical statistics of primary education. There are more upper primary schools and they have more pupils: but the gain is more than met by the loss in the lower primaries. The net result is a diminution in the number of schools by 449 and of pupils by 12,178, confined to the Presidency, Chittagong, and Orissa Divisions. Excluding payments made to primary schools from the grant-in-aid and circle fund allotments, the expenditure on primary education, controlled by the Department and by District Boards, amounted to Rs. 7,29,851, divided into Rs. 1,46,178 from provincial revenues and Rs. 5,83,673 from district funds. The following statement shows by divisions the administration and expenditure of the primary grant upon aided schools in 1889-90:—

Division	Allotment.	Expenditure.	Number of schools.	Number of pupils.	Cost per school in rupees.	Cost per pupil in annas.

Total ...	7,61,550	7,29,851	39,226	928,078	18·6	12·6

The average annual cost was Rs. 18·6 per school and annas 12·6 per pupil, against Rs. 18·3 and annas 12·2 in the preceding year. The lowest cost per pupil was again in Howrah 7·3 annas, and the highest in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, 92 annas, and 55 annas in Darjeeling; but, apart from such abnormal areas, it was about 22 annas in Durbhunga, Shahabad, and Monghyr. The municipal contribution to primary schools for boys and girls was Rs. 20,827 against Rs. 20,303 and Rs. 16,355 of the last two years. It is not satisfactory that the departmental grant, which is administered by the District Committees of non-Board districts, and, as regards Government estates, municipalities and cantonments, by the Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner, shows large savings, while in Board districts a sum of about Rs. 10,000 was unspent. It is important that full use should be made of all grants sanctioned. The lower primary schools have fallen off in two years from 45,505 to 44,146, and the pupils from 991,099 to 960,865. Various causes are assigned for these changes in connection with the vicissitudes of season, which are held largely to account for the loss of 334 schools in Orissa; but the case of Chittagong, where 555 schools of this description have disappeared from the list, is special and is attributed to inaccurate classification. These figures are important enough to affect the total figures of the whole province, and have been referred to in a preceding paragraph. Where the number of schools has fallen off in consequence of the frequent and harassing delay in the payment by District Boards of the sums earned by gurus at the examinations, there should be no difficulty in rectifying this mismanagement. The expenditure on lower primary schools for native boys from all sources amounted to Rs. 20,13,050, of which the public funds contributed Rs. 3,81,377. The people therefore bear more than four-fifths of the total cost of the primary pathsalas. The falling off in the lower primary schools from 7,467 to 6,784 successful schools, and from 20,617 to 17,614 successful pupils, is ascribed to several reasons. The Director appears to be disposed to regard the constant tendency to raise the standard of examination, in Bengal proper at any rate, as the real cause, and makes a suggestion for the preparation of a common set of question papers to be distributed to all the examination centres in a division or circle. The idea is worth considering; but the Lieutenant-Governor apprehends that, having regard to the difficulty of keeping examination questions secret, it would hardly prove feasible. His Honour has recently had occasion to press upon a District Board the advisability of adhering to the Government policy of replacing a system of stipends by one of rewards for the encouragement of primary education. He has recorded his opinion that the system of payment-by-results is the best on account of its cheapness, as setting free money by which the education of the masses may be reached. But at the same time he recognises the value both of stipends as fostering the stability of schools, and of stipendiary schools, both upper and lower primary, as being the best of the class and serving to keep up the standard of primary education. While, therefore, the main policy of Government must be maintained, in favour of replacing stipends by payments-by-results, His Honour is not prepared, while the primary grant remains inexpansive, to insist on the immediate distribution of the available money over a larger surface, merely for the sake of increasing the numbers nominally receiving some kind of instruction. He regards the preservation of the standard which has been attained by the primary schools as a principle of great importance.

Special instruction.

10. There are 242 training schools for teachers, i.e., masters, mistresses, and gurus, with 1,093 persons under instruction. It is satisfactory to find that in general those who pass out of our training schools are sought after as teachers, and seldom find difficulty in obtaining employment. The Director has rightly instructed the Inspector of the Behar Circle to challenge any appointment made by a District Board that he finds open to objection on the ground of a passed pupil of the Patna training school being overlooked for an outsider.

The other class of schools of special instruction includes the institutions for professional, technical, art, and industrial education, and schools of a special character. The statistics relating to their numbers and cost are given in the following form:—

	Number of institutions.	Number of pupils on the rolls on 31st March 1890.	Average monthly roll number.	Expenditure. From public funds. From Provincial revenues.	From District and Municipal funds.	From Private funds.	Total.	Average annual cost per Pupil. Cost to public funds.	Total cost.

There is no object in striking an average of the cost per pupil at a number of schools so varied in character and status.

The variations in the numbers of students following the different professions will appear from these figures :—

Years.	Law.	Medicine.	Engineering.	Arts and industry.	Other special schools.	Total.
1888-89	935	999	518	651	172	3,275
1889-90	912	1,016	652	795	611	3,986

It is a hopeful sign if these figures may be depended upon, as they presumably can be, as indicating that a fair proportion of the youth of Bengal are seeking to devote their talents to professions comparatively new to them. The attendance at the Seebpore Civil Engineering College, 265, was the largest yet recorded. The Lieutenant-Governor observes the remark quoted by the Director that insufficient opportunities are afforded to the students of acquiring familiarity with practical work. He concurs in the necessity of recognising more fully the educational purpose of the workshops, and trusts that their requirements may be met, so that the Seebpore College may become, as it now is to a great extent, the centre of true technical education in Bengal. The Government School of Art continues to attract students, 178 having attended it as compared with 158 and 172 in the last two years. The need of a new building for the accommodation of the school and the attached Art Gallery in place of the dilapidated and altogether unsuitable houses now rented for the purpose has been recognised by Government as a matter of pressing urgency.

Towards the end of the official year the valuable report submitted by Mr. E. W. Collin, C.S., on the existing arts and industries in Bengal, in connection with technical education, came before Government. A number of his suggestions have been under consideration, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in due course some practical measures may be selected for adoption.

Female education.

11. The attendance and expenditure in schools for native girls are shown in the following statement, in which the total figures for the previous two years are given for comparison:—

The number of girls' schools has declined from 2,302 to 2,153, and their pupils from 47,888 to 45,690. These figures are the lowest for the three years under examination. The number of girls reading in boys' schools, which had fallen from 37,785 to 35,079, has again decreased to 32,673. The net result therefore is a loss of 149 schools and 4,604 pupils. Greater stringency has apparently been exercised in the administration of the rules for rewards and in the realization of fees. Two young native ladies were admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Medicine, and another passed the Preliminary Scientific L.M.S. examination. Eleven young ladies of the certificate class of the Medical College also obtained the College license to practice medicine and surgery: eleven more were in the certificate class at the close of the session. There were 22 female students in the Campbell Medical School and five in the Cuttack Medical School. From the Bethune College three native candidates out of four passed the First Arts Examination, and all three candidates at the B.A. Examination passed. The second examination for the award under the new standards of the special girls' scholarships sanctioned for Calcutta and the neighbourhood was held during the year. As the extension of these standards to the mofussil has been sanctioned, they would be very widely adopted, it is said, if it could be found possible to create a certain number of special scholarships for girls in each district: at present they have to compete for scholarships on equal terms with the boys at the primary scholarship examinations.

Education of Europeans

12. The statistics of European education at the end of the last three official years may be exhibited as follows:—

	1887-88	1888-89.	1889-90.
Schools	72	71	68
Pupils	6,541	6,682	6,710

In the last year the number of boys increased by 40, while there were 12 girls fewer under education. The boarding school at Kurseong is still the only Government school in the province. Out of the 6,710 scholars, 3,383 were in schools under Roman Catholic management and 1,646 under the Church of England. The total cost of European education in Bengal was Rs. 6,50,812, of which Government paid Rs. 1,72,168. Several important changes in the Code came into force during the year. A set of inter-school transfer rules was introduced: they have been very beneficial in preventing capricious transfers, and have improved the financial condition of the schools by compelling parents to pay the schooling fees. Provision was also made for the substitution of fixed grants in place of payment by results in selected schools. The imposition of fines for uncorrected errors in the keeping of attendance registers was also sanctioned. The recognition of the high school examination by the University has not induced any of the boys' schools to substitute this examination for the Entrance Examination; the reason is said to be that no scholarships are awarded on the result. The establishment of scholarships for the high school examination has been proposed.

Muhammadan Education.

13. The total number of Muhammadan pupils again rose from 423,564 to 436,653, and the percentage on the total number of pupils from 28·5 to 29·06, the proportion of Muhammadans to the whole population being 31·5 per cent. This increase was altogether due to a rise of 22,024 pupils in private institutions teaching the Koran only. In public institutions the number of Muhammadan pupils decreased by 10,624, the loss of Muhammadan pupils in lower primary schools being 14,889. As already explained, the large increase in the number of Koran schools, and the corresponding decrease in lower primary schools, were largely due to a change of classification in parts of Eastern Bengal. The number of Muhammadan college students fell from 240 to 179, and percentages show that candidates of this creed suffered at the Entrance Examination of 1889 more severely than others. At the Entrance Examination of 1890 the successful candidates increased from 54 to 125. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with great satisfaction that, in spite of a temporary decline in the colleges, the appreciation of Muhammadans for English education continues to grow steadily and even rapidly. The first reports furnished by the recently appointed Assistant Inspectors for the supervision of Muhammadan education in Eastern Bengal and in Behar have been received, and show that the special requirements and difficulties of this branch of the community are now receiving and will receive adequate attention. The Director has, by giving a resumé of the facts, confined himself within the proper limits of an annual report, and the Lieutenant-Governor will await any definite suggestions for action which he may desire to offer. The annual income of the educational portion of the Mohsin Fund continues to be about Rs. 63,100, and the actual expenditure debited to this account is stated at Rs. 61,067. The question of the redistribution of the grants from this fund may be considered with any other points which the Assistant Inspectors may raise. The comparative success of the Muhammadans in the University examinations in the last two years is shown by the following figures:—

	M.A.	B.A.	F.A.	Entrance.
1888-89	1	18	21	54
1889-90	3	21	57	125

There was also a large increase in the number of middle and upper primary examination certificates gained by Muhammadan students, though somewhat fewer passed at the lower primary examination. The total number of pupils at the madrassas under Government management remained exactly the same as in the preceding year, viz. 1,456, but the total expenditure rose from Rs. 58,865 to Rs. 61,760, the increase being nearly all at the cost of Government. Sir Steuart Bayley notices with pleasure the excellent report of the discipline and tone of the Nawab of Moorshedabad's Madrassa with its 63 pupils.

Education of aborigines and indigenous education.

14. The number of pupils from among the aboriginal races rose from 27,246 to 29,749, i.e. by 2,233. This is more than a recovery of the loss recorded in the last year's report This increase was shared by most of the tracts of country inhabited by these races. The greatest gain of 1,559 pupils was in Chota Nagpore, of whom 1,390 were non-Christians and 169 Christians. The pupils in the Missionary schools in that division increased from 3,127 to 3,582, and the expenditure from Rs. 38,703 to Rs. 39,011, of which Government contributed less than one-fifth. No aboriginal pupil passed any University Examination as in the previous year, but 427 passed the departmental examinations. Of these, 367 succeeded in the lower primary scholarship examination (a falling off from the 378 last year) and 36 (as compared to 15) in the upper primary scholarship examination.

The development of indigenous institutions during a triennial period is apparent from the subjoined figures:—

	1887-88.	1888-89	1889-90.
Schools	10,048	11,709	13,867
Pupils	96,721	117,284	139,603

This is a remarkable and continuous rise. Analysing the figures, it appears that there was a considerable decrease in advanced Arabic or Persian schools, and a gain in Sanskrit tols. There was a very large increase in the number of elementary pathsalas and of Koran schools, as already noticed. The Assistant Inspector's observations on the latter and the maktabs are noted, but call for no immediate orders.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor has had the pleasure annually of acknowledging the services rendered to Government by the Director in his successful administration of the Department of Public Instruction, and the merits of the reports submitted by him and Mr. Tawney. The record of the year under review fully maintains the Director's high reputation. Sir Steuart Bayley desires to take this opportunity, the last of which he will be able to avail himself, to offer his cordial thanks to Sir A. Croft, Mr. Tawney, Mr. Bellett, Mr. Nash, Rai Radhika Prasanna Mookerjee, Bahadur, Baboo Brahmo Mohun Mullick, Rai Dinanath Sen, and the many other excellent officers of the Department employed in the direct work of instruction as Principals and Professors of Colleges, for the valuable advice and the loyal co-operation which he has always received from them.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last for the week ending Friday, the 24th of October 1890.

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fall.

CALCUTTA, the 28th October 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 24TH OCTOBER 1890.

In last week's report it was noted that conditions at the end of the week were favourable to the formation of a cyclonic storm in the Bay. Subsequent events have proved that a storm was then in the course of formation in the usual birthplace of these whirls in October—to the south-west of the Andamans. The storm was a very small one, and its centre advanced very much closer to the Burmah coast than is usual with storms advancing up the Bay. On Saturday 18th, Sunday and Monday morning, no telegrams were received from Diamond Island, and it illustrates the extreme importance of that station from a storm-warning point of view, that the telegram received on Monday afternoon about 3-30 immediately indicated the passage of a storm of which the ordinary coast stations (Bassein observations being wanting) gave no indications other than might be characterized as "suspicious." The whirl on Monday at 8 A.M. was approaching the Burmah coast, but curved off and advanced in a north-westerly direction and apparently made for the coast of the Circars, as is usual with October storms. There was, however, a trough of low pressure extending from Mymensingh, through Dacca and Burrisal, out into the Bay, and as the barometer was very high behind the Circars coast, the whirl was forced up in the direction of the Sunderbuns, which it crossed on the morning of 22nd at 10 A.M

Pressure at the beginning of the week was relatively highest in Madras and lowest in North Bengal. A very rapid fall took place on Saturday over the whole eastern and northern area, and a brisk fall at all places in the south-east except Negapatam and Trincomalee. This was followed by a series of very small irregular changes on Sunday and a rapid recovery on Monday, especially in Burmah, behind the depression. This feature was still more pronounced on Tuesday as the depression advanced up the Bay, and became the dominant factor of the weather in Bengal. On Wednesday morning it advanced across the coast, the lowest pressure recorded being 29·900″ at Saugor Island. On Thursday morning it wasbetween Jessore and Dacca, lowest pressure recorded being 29·858″ at Furreedpore and subsequently it began to fill up rapidly, spreading itself out along a low-pressure area extending from Jalpaiguri, through Dhubri, up into Silchar. Whilst the recovery was taking place behind the depression in Bengal, the barometer was falling slowly in Madras, and the distribution approximating more nearly to the ordinary cold weather conditions.

Temperature has been governed to a very great extent by the depression, and, as might be expected, was below the normal of the season. This defect, however, was due almost entirely to low maximums, for minimums were in few cases below the normal, and at the end of the week were decidedly above the average all over the province. All this was due of course to the unusually damp weather.

Rainfall has been reported from few stations except those in the immediate path of the small storm. The stations chiefly affected were Noakholly (4·27″), Mymensingh (3·77″), Furreedpore (3·47″), and Jessore, Dacca, Commilla, and Burrisal, each of which received over two inches. The only very heavy fall in twenty-four hours was 3·07″ at Mymensing on the 23rd.

Humidity and cloud proportion were very high for the season at the beginning of the week, but rapidly decreasing at the end.

Weather during the week was entirely subject to the depression. It has cleared the air, passed away and left conditions very favourable for an early cold season.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 24th of October 1890:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the "Gazette of India."]

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, is republished for general information.

C. C. STEVENS,
Offg Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 24th October 1890.

No. 1569.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 13 of the Charitable Endowments Act VI of 1890, the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to frame the following forms and make the following rules:

Note.—In these rules "the Government" means the Local Government or, when the Governor-General in Council exercises under section 7 of the Act the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 on the Local Government, the Government of India.

Cases in which there should ordinarily be previous publication of vesting orders and of schemes.

1. It being the wish of the Governor-General in Council that the Government should not interfere under the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), in cases of doubt or dispute, and that the jurisdiction of the Courts in such cases should in practice be left unaffected by the Act, the cases with which the Government will have to deal may be divided into two classes, namely, (1) cases of trusts, whether already established or proposed to be established, out of which it may be confidently predicated that contention cannot arise, and (2) cases out of which contention may possibly arise, however remote or unlikely the contingency. To the first class will belong such cases as those of Lawrence Asylums, Railway Schools, and endowments in Government securities in general aid of the funds of specified dispensaries or schools. To the second class will belong most cases in which private persons apply for a vesting order or a scheme or modification of a scheme and all cases in which it is proposed to depart in any respect from the ascertained wishes or presumable intentions of the founder of an endowment. In cases belonging to the first class previous publication of proposed vesting orders and of proposed schemes and modifications of schemes will ordinarily be unnecessary: in cases belonging to the second class there should ordinarily be previous publication of such documents.

Mode of previous publication of vesting orders and of schemes.

2. (1) When the Government, having regard to the last foregoing rule, is of opinion that a proposed vesting order, or a proposed scheme or modification of a scheme, should not be made or settled without previous publication, it shall publish a draft of the proposed order, scheme or modification, or a proper abstract thereof, signed by one of its Secretaries, for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

(2) The publication should be made in the official Gazette and in such other manner as the Government may prescribe.

(3) There shall be published, with the draft or abstract, a notice specifying a date at or after which the proposed order, scheme, or modification will be taken into further consideration.

(4) The Government shall consider any objection or suggestion which it may receive from any person before such date with respect to the proposed order, scheme or modification.

Incidence of cost of vesting orders and of schemes.

3. The cost of the previous publication under the last foregoing rule of any proposed order, scheme or modification of a scheme, and any other costs incurred or to be incurred in the making or settlement of the order or of the scheme or modification, shall be paid by the applicants for the order, scheme or modification, and, if the Government so direct, may be paid by them out of any money in their possession pertaining to the trust to which th eir application relates.

Accounts of trusts consisting of immoveable property.

4. In the case of property vested in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments other than securities for money, the persons acting in the administration of the trust, and having under section 8, sub-section (3), of the Act the possession, management, and control of the property and the application of the income thereof, shall, in books to be kept by them, regularly enter or cause to be entered full and true accounts of all moneys received and paid respectively on account of the trust, and shall, on the demand of the Government, submit annually to such public servant as the Government may from time to time appoint in this behalf, in such form and at such time as the Government may from time to time prescribe, an abstract of those accounts and such returns as to other matters relating to the administration of the trust as the Government may from time to time see fit to require.

5. The following are prescribed as the fees to be paid to the Government in respect of any property vested under the Act in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments :

(1) In the case of securities for money—

(a) For the purchase and sale of securities, a commission of $\frac{1}{8}$th per cent., in addition to any actual outlay on brokerage.

(b) For drawing interest, a commission of $\frac{1}{4}$th per cent.

(c) For remitting interest, the actual charges incurred.

(2) In the case of property other than securities for money, the actual charges incurred by the Treasurer in the discharge of his functions in respect of the property

The Treasurer may deduct any fees payable to the Government on account of any endowment from any money in his hands on account of such endowment. If he holds on such moneys the amount should be claimed from the administrators.

6. All copies of vesting orders received by the Treasurer will be filed together and will be numbered in consecutive order of their receipt ; when a sufficient number have been received, they will be bound in volumes. A note will be made on each vesting order of any entries in the registers prescribed below relating to the property vesting in the Treasurer under the order.

Accounts of securities for money.

7. On the receipt of any securities for money, or on their purchase by himself, the Treasurer will record their receipt in a register in Form No. 1. He will also keep a separate account for each endowment in Form No. 2, in which he will record all receipts including any amounts sent for investment, and all disbursements. In the cash account the Treasurer will record only his own transactions (such as the payment of the money to the administrators), not the transactions of the administrators of the endowment fund.

8. The Treasurer will keep a record in the appropriate columns of Form No. 1 of all securities returned by him. The return will also be entered in Form No. 2, where the amount returned will be deducted from the capital of the endowment concerned.

9. If the securities elsewhere than in Madras and Bombay consist of Government promissory notes, they will be forwarded to the Comptroller-General for custody under the general rules laid down in the Civil Account Code; but the securities held under the Act must be forwarded separately, and the Treasurer will keep a separate register under those rules for these securities, and will also keep a separate file of the acknowledgments.

The Treasurer will retain in his own custody all securities for money other than Government promissory notes.

10. The Treasurer, on receipt of any interest on securities, will pass it through his General Trust Interest Account under a special sub-head, "Interest on Charitable Endowments under Act VI of 1890." The interest will then be distributed to the various ledger accounts (Form 2), in which the gross amounts must be shown, any deductions for fees, &c., being shown as a charge, and the payment of the balance to the administrators being also shown as a disbursement. The entries in the ledger of interest received must be taken out and agreed annually with the total amount of interest drawn.

11. The register in Form No. 1 will show all securities vested in the Treasurer as such, whether actually held by him or by the Comptroller-General as his agent. In order to prove the balance actually held by the Treasurer in his own hands, a balance sheet in Form No. 3 will be made out annually and agreed with the actual securities in the Treasurer's possession ; such agreement will be certified on the balance sheet.

12. The accounts of the interest and the annual agreement of balance will be made at the time which the Local Government may direct under section 9 of the Act for the publication of the list of properties held, and of the abstract of accounts.

Property other than securities.

13. The Treasurer will enter in a register in Form No. 4 any property other than securities which becomes vested in him, and will record in the same register against the original entry a note of any property of which he is divested.

Publication of lists and abstract of accounts.

14. The list of properties vested in the Treasurer to be published annually shall be in Form No. 5. Part I will relate to properties other than securities; Part II will relate to securities, and will also contain the abstract of accounts required by the Act to be published. The Treasurer will demand and receive acknowledgments from the administrators of the correctness of the balances when published.

Audit of accounts.

15. The Treasurer's accounts will be audited—

(a) where there is an Outside Audit Section of the Accountant-General's Office,—by such section annually;

(b) where there is no such section,—by a Deputy Auditor-General at such periods as the Auditor-General may direct.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately The price to non-subscribers will be Rs 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 21st October, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Presidency Division for the year 1889-90.

Mr. Smith continued in charge of the Division during the year, and has again submitted a full and excellent report. There is a curious omission of the district of Moorshedabad in the third paragraph, which is not explained.

2. The Commissioner's tour was well planned, and the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to observe that, with a single exception, all district officers completed useful tours of the requisite length. In Jessore district officers, in consequence of the indigo disturbances, were out altogether for 114 days. In Moorshedabad the Collector was out for 104 days, part of his time being devoted to the flood caused by the breach of the Rampal embankment and to the consequent distress. The Collectors of Nuddea and Khulna were out for 106 and 93 days respectively. The Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to agree with the Commissioner that, though the rapid succession of district officers in the 24-Pergunnahs affords some excuse, the period of 60 days especially fixed for that district should have been completed.

Tours.

Mr. Forbes, however, did his best to make up the deficiency by a useful tour of 41 days. All the sub-divisional officers in the Division were out for the prescribed time, with the exception of the sub-divisional officer of Kandi, whose tour was unavoidably interrupted. In almost every case Assistant Magistrates posted to head-quarters were out for a longer or shorter time.

Weather and crops.

3. There was a paucity of rain at the beginning of the year; later on there were local floods in Moorshedabad and Nuddea, but the chief and most widely-spread characteristic of the season was the unusually late rain in November, which damaged the cold-weather crops and in some places also the amun harvest. In the result the harvests generally were slightly better than those of the preceding year.

Public health and material condition of the people.

4. Judging from the recorded mortality, the past year was more healthy than either of the two preceding years. Jessore and Khulna show worse on paper, but it is not known how far this is due to improved registration. The other districts show improvement. There was an increase of cholera in Nuddea and Moorshedabad, attributed to the want of rain in the early months. Fever, on the other hand, was not so fatal. Owing to the amalgamation during the year of a considerable portion of the Suburbs with the town of Calcutta, no useful comparison can be made in the 24-Pergunnahs. There was an outbreak of small-pox in that district in spite of a considerable extension of vaccination, 335 deaths from this cause having occurred, as against 49 and 23 in the two preceding years. It is satisfactory, however, to note that the practice of inoculation appears to have been stamped out. The scanty harvests of 1888 were followed by high prices in 1889, and there was some pressure in the Diamond Harbour sub-division of the 24-Pergunnahs, and in the Lalbagh and Jungipore sub-divisions of Moorshedabad, which necessitated relief operations until a good aus and jute crop put an end to further anxiety. There was also some scarcity in the Magurah and Bongong sub-divisions of Jessore; but as to the remainder of the Division the Commissioner writes that "the condition of the cultivating classes was one of fair prosperity, as they were able to make up for the deficiency of the crops by the high prices which prevailed." He adds, however: "The labouring and middle classes, dependent on service and fixed income, suffered on account of the high prices of food-grains. Living in a state of transition, the latter class have not only to keep up old customs and appearances, but also have to cope with the wants of the day, and few of them have sufficient strength of character to resist and set themselves free from old trammels."

The wages of labour were not affected by fluctuations in price, and remained almost identically the same as in the two preceding years.

Manufactures and trade.

5. As in the previous year, 46 mills, presses and factories were at work, giving employment to nearly 57,000 persons in the manufacture of cotton-twist and yarn, gunny-bags and cloth, sugar, paper, silk, ice, shell-lac and lac-dye. The bone-crushing factory at Tengra was closed, but this is counterbalanced by a saltpetre refinery at Balliaghatta. Owing to the state of the market the outturn of jute was less than in 1888-89. Cotton and other industries appear to have flourished, and especially in ligo. The outturn of indigo in Nuddea was 6,650 maunds, valued at Rs. 11,52,806; in Jessore 2,695 maunds, valued at Rs. 4,54,488; and in Moorshedabad 4,358 maunds, valued at Rs. 8,33,530, the outturn and value being in every case considerably in excess of those of the previous year, though lower prices ruled in the market. The important sugar industries were also generally prosperous, though imported sugar is usurping the place of the local article in Khulna. In Moorshedabad the year was favourable to silk, both as to outturn and value. The total weight of traffic registered between the mofussil and Calcutta shows a decline of about 9⅔ lakhs of maunds, while the returns of trade between Calcutta and the mofussil are nearly stationary. The import of rice into Calcutta was less by nearly 4½ lakhs of maunds, and the export greater by over 3 lakhs—facts which afford a useful commentary on the ready adjustment between trade and the varying conditions of different seasons. There was a further decrease this year in the traffic over the Nuddea river, and the Lieutenant-Governor would have been glad of some explanation. The traffic in Khulna is still carried principally by river, though the railway has appropriated a portion of the jute trade of Eastern Bengal.

Police and crime.

6. There was an increase of cognizable crime, chiefly under the head of house-breaking and other offences against property, attributed to the high prices current during the year. In other respects the returns do not call for any criticism beyond the remarks made by the Commissioner. With regard to the conduct of the police, the Commissioner quotes with approval the following observations by the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs:—

"The police of the district cannot, as a body, be deemed efficient, and are in no way superior to the men found in districts more remote from the metropolis. There are a few smart and conscientious officers, but, on the whole, the standard of intelligence and honesty is low. Better materials cannot be procured while the pay of the lower ranks continues on its present low scale, and reward for thoroughly good service does not go beyond the rank of Inspector. The important work of investigation of criminal cases is as a rule done only fairly, and there is a lack of energy, patience, and detective capacity which causes the failure of many serious cases."

Revenue.

7. The percentage of collections of the land revenue on the gross demand was 95·69, the total collected being Rs. 51,58,542. There was a decrease in the excise revenue, chiefly due to the abolition of the outstill system in the 24-Pergunnahs and Nuddea, and the consequent decreased consumption of country liquor, to which the closing of several shops by order of the Commissioner of Excise also contributed. There was, however, an increase in the consumption of rum in Calcutta, no change having been made in the rate of duty, which stands at Rs. 4 per gallon. There was a decrease in the consumption of salt in both the protected areas in the 24-Pergunnahs and Khulna, attributed partly to illicit manufacture, partly to a smaller number of reapers having come into the district during the harvest time, and partly to a smaller number of feasts having been celebrated owing to the poor outturn of the harvest. The gross revenue from stamps amounted to Rs. 39,46,935, and the net increase, taking receipts and charges, amounted to Rs. 1,27,623. The net demand of income-tax was Rs. 21,33,988, or an increase of 7·5 per cent. on the demand of last year. The collections were 89·6 per cent. as against 90·9, the worst result coming from Jessore, where the Deputy Collector in charge did not pay sufficient attention to his duties.

Education.

8. The following statistics, given by the Commissioner, are interesting:—"The area of the Presidency Division is 12,021 square miles, and it has a population of 7,771,693 souls, of whom 3,895,365 are males and 3,876,328 females. Calculating at 15 per cent. of the total number, the school-going population would consist of 584,304 boys and 581,449 girls. The numbers attending the schools being 180,592 boys and 11,650 girls, we have of all boys of a school-going age 1 in 3·2 and of girls 1 in 49·9 only at school. The total number of schools on returns being 5,913, there is one school for a little over two square miles of area." Making allowance for the transfer from the 24-Pergunnahs of part of the Suburbs of Calcutta, there was still a slight decrease in the number of schools and pupils, extending to the number of girls' schools and of girls under instruction and to th number of Mahomedan pupils. It is difficult to account for such retrogression in the Presidency Division.

District and Local Boards and Municipalities.

9. Mr. Smith writes:—

"From what I have seen, it seems to me that, on the whole, the system of local self-government has continued to work smoothly and with fair success."

With regard to municipalities, the transfer of jurisdiction in the 24-Pergunnahs has been already alluded to, and was noticed in the Resolution last year. The Commissioner observes:—

"The attendance of Commissioners at meetings has been on the whole fair, and they have taken interest in the administration of the municipalities under their charge."

In another passage the Commissioner has a word to say in favour of Ratepayers Associations, which "display considerable activity in criticising the proceedings of Municipal Commissioners, their Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen, and serve as a check upon irregular proceedings and extravagant expenditure of public money." Criticism is wholesome, but in unintelligent hands is apt to degenerate into obstruction. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to observe that there are no complaints in the Presidency Division on this score.

Public feeling and the Public Press.

10. The Commissioner remarks:—

"Public opinion on questions of general interest is chiefly confined to the educated classes living in towns, and it is formed and guided by the Calcutta press, which has a large circulation in the districts of this Division. Municipal discussions, which are not uncommon, excite much feeling and discussion, but they are purely of local interest and attract no attention beyond the towns concerned. The masses of the people only interest themselves in such matters as concern them. To matters of general interest they are perfectly indifferent."

Rumour might carry to mofussil villages the news of the visit of an English Prince and Heir-Apparent, or of a meeting of Congress at Bombay, but to the majority such occurrences would appear remote and indistinct, though they might have a passing effect on the imagination. Of local events the indigo disputes in Jessore have perhaps received a larger share of public attention than any other. In the beginning there were two centres of discontent in the district, but it was some time before the quarrel reached the acute stage and attracted general notice. This happened when the ryots had recourse to those tactics of violence which are always characteristic of agrarian disputes in this country. The public peace was so far threatened that it became necessary to make a special administrative arrangement, and Mr. Luson was placed in charge of the two sub-divisions of Jhenidah and Magurah—an arrangement which was discontinued on the transfer of Mr. Luson on promotion as district officer to Moorshedabad. The excitement culminated in two serious riot cases, which were dealt with in the Courts. The whole subject has been considered in another Department of this Government, and it is only necessary to say here that the local excitement has to a great extent subsided, and that the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the public peace will be maintained.

Conduct of zemindars.

11. In Nuddea, the Maharaj Kumar of Nuddea came of age and took over his estate from the Court of Wards. He is said to be taking great personal interest in its management. In Jessore, the only landlord who has been highly spoken of by the Collector is the Rajah of Naldanga. In Moorshedabad, the Nawab Bahadur, the Maharani Surnomoyee, and other zemindars received the acknowledgments of Government for their liberality during the distress. One of the Nawab's brothers, Saliman Syed Wahid Ali Mirza Bahadur, was appointed a Municipal Commissioner and Honorary Magistrate during the year.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to acknowledge the care and success with which Mr. Smith has managed his Division during the year. Mr. Ritchie rendered excellent service in Moorshedabad, especially in connection with the inundations in August and September 1889. Mr. Forbes sustained his reputation as an energetic District Officer, and Baboo Durgagati Banerjee, as Deputy Collector of Calcutta throughout the year, is very favourably mentioned. The Commissioner's remarks on the merits of officers will be forwarded to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BURDWAN DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 24th October, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

THE General Administration Report of the Burdwan Division for the year 1889-90.

The Division was in the charge of Mr. Clay for eight months, of Mr. Alexander for three months, and for the remaining month of the year of Messrs. Buckland and Toynbee. Although Mr. Toynbee took charge just before the close of the year, he is well acquainted with the Division and has made his report full and interesting.

Tours.

2. The Commissioner's tour extended to sixty days, in the course of which he inspected all the district offices. Only one sub-divisional office and treasury, however, were inspected, but the Commissioner hopes to be able to inspect them all during the current year. All the Sub-divisional Officers were on tour for the prescribed period of 90 days. Mr. Grant in Beerbhoom and Mr. Taylor in Bankoora, however, were out for only 87 and 85 days respectively; and in Midnapore, owing to the change of officers and other causes, the total touring done amounted to only 66 days. As regards Howrah, the Lieutenant-Governor accepts the Commissioner's view that Mr. Currie's tour of 60 days was sufficient in view of the size of the district.

Weather and crop.

3. In Beerbhoom and Howrah the rainfall was sufficient, but elsewhere it was not only insufficient in quantity but was most unevenly distributed, and consequently the rice crops are reported to have averaged only 13·1 annas. It seems doubtful however, from an examination of the figures, whether the rule that the average crop is to be taken as 16 annas, which has been misunderstood elsewhere, has been properly applied in all the districts, and if so, the crops throughout the Division must probably be taken as nearly average. In addition to this the prices obtained were exceptionally high, and the Commissioner considers that the people were fairly well off. As regards the coolies or labourers, however (who largely consist of temporary immigrants), it is stated that their wages remained almost stationary in spite of the high prices. Although the material condition of the people was good, the public health of the Division during the year was, as elsewhere, bad—fever being especially prevalent and there being also an extraordinary epidemic of influenza, which caused considerable suffering and public inconvenience, although seldom attended with fatal results.

Trade and manufactures.

4. The trade and manufactures of the districts were, on the whole, in a flourishing condition during the year. At the Barakar iron works the value of pig-iron and castings turned out is reported to have been 33 per cent. greater than in the previous year, and the six firms which have iron works in Howrah are all said to have done well. As regards coal, it is stated that some new coal-pits were worked in the district of Burdwan, and that the export from Raniganj was 1,227,990 tons as against 1,101,079 and 944,449 tons in the two preceding years. Indigo also has done well, the crop having been a good one throughout the Division and four new factories having been opened. On the other hand, it appears that the output of the Balli paper mills fell considerably below that of the two preceding years, and that the cotton industry in Burdwan and the silk industry in Bankoora are declining. In Beerbhoom, however, the statistics furnished show that silk is improving. The information regarding the Hooghly jute mills is said to be very incomplete; but, so far as could be ascertained, the operations were restricted owing to excess production Some of the explanations regarding the export of rice are not readily intelligible. In Burdwan it is said that the export in 1889-90 decreased owing to the bad harvests of two successive years; but it is not clear how the harvest of the previous year can have affected the export of the year under review, although possibly the meaning is that a smaller area was sown with rice. In Bankoora it is said that the export fell off owing to the absence of any keen demand from outside; but the keenness of the demand is measured by the price offered, and the price offered was exceptionally high; and as the crop is stated to have been much better than in the two preceding years, there must have been a considerable surplus available for exportation. The same remarks apply to Beerbhoom, where a similar explanation is given, in spite of an 18-anna crop and high prices elsewhere. In Hooghly it is said that, owing to high prices, the trade in rice and paddy was not brisk. High prices are usually associated with brisk trade, but probably the explanation is that, owing to the poorness of the crop, only a small surplus was left for export. The continued increase in the importation of European piece-goods is satisfactory as an indication of the prosperity of the people and of the increasing variety in their wants. The only other point calling for remark under this head is the statement that in Howrah the trade in hides is decaying.

Administrative changes.

5. Of the administrative changes, the most important was the appointment of an Excise Commissioner, a change, however, which affected other Divisions as much as Burdwan. The others referred to are the abolition of the Assensole Municipality, the establishment of an independent Bench at Rampore Hât, the reduction in the members of the Midnapore District Board from 36 to 24, and the investment of three of the Honorary Magistrates of the First Hooghly General Bench with powers of a second class Magistrate to sit and try cases singly. As regards the share taken by Mahomedans in the administration, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe a slight increase in the percentage employed, but at the same time he is compelled to call attention to the remark of the Commissioner, who says, with reference to the difficulty of getting qualified Mahomedan candidates:—"The moral of the matter is that the Mahomedans must bestir themselves and renew their exertions instead of crying to Government to help them to appointments for which they are not found to be equally fitted with others."

Police.

6. There was a general increase of crime during 1889, both cognizable and non-cognizable, in all the districts of the Division except Beerbhoom, where there was a decrease of one cognizable and 262 non-cognizable cases. Regarding this the Commissioner says that the increase is due chiefly to the high prices which prevailed throughout the year and is most marked in offences against property; and that this class of offence increased even in Beerbhoom, which otherwise shows a nominal decrease. This state of affairs is far from satisfactory, and, moreover, the explanation cannot be held to be sufficient, for a distinction must be drawn between high prices the result of scarcity in the Division and high prices due to increased demand outside the Division. The crops throughout the Division were much better than in the two preceding years, and it is obviously an advantage to an agricultural population to sell their produce at high prices. In this connection it is significant that there was an increase in offences against property even in Beerbhoom, where the rainfall was evenly distributed and the rice crop was an 18-anna one. The remarks of the Commissioner on the rural police and on the success of Mr. Munro, District Superintendent of Police of Midnapore, in dealing with them are interesting and will be communicated to the Judicial (Police) Department for disposal.

Criminal Justice.

7. Under the head of Criminal Justice the Commissioner is able to give, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe, a favourable and encouraging account of the work done by the Benches of Honorary Magistrates and of the extension of the system. Under this head also he makes the following remarks on the subject of criminal fines:—

"The subject of the realization of criminal fines is, I think, one which deserves more attention than it ordinarily receives at the hands of Magistrates. There is a very large outstanding balance of fines unrealized in this Division, and steps have recently been taken to write off all sums found to be irrecoverable after repeated attempts. This balance was Rs. 35,274 on the 31st March 1890. In this connection the quarterly examination of the thana fine registers prescribed by the fine rules is a most important duty, which should not be delegated as a matter of course to Subordinate Magistrates. If, for the purpose of this examination, the Court Sub-Inspector were made to give a detailed list of the fines outstanding in his books (thana by thana), a great impetus would, I think, be given to the police in this important branch of their work. Subordinate Magistrates who are in the habit of giving wholly inadequate sentences of imprisonment often impose fines which are quite beyond the present or future possible means of the accused. The enquiries periodically made as to the assets of such persons not only needlessly irritate and disgrace them but also impose a useless and hopeless task upon the police."

These remarks will be communicated for disposal to the Judicial Department, to which their consideration properly belongs.

Land Revenue.

8. The result of the land revenue administration was fairly satisfactory, 93·48 of the total demand being collected within the year, and the percentage of total collections on current demand being 105·34. The heaviest arrears occurred in the districts of Hooghly and Midnapore, that in the latter being due to successive bad seasons. As in the previous year, use was made of the Eden Canal for irrigation purposes and about 30,000 beeghas of rice lands were irrigated from it. As regards the Tenancy Act, it is said that no burning questions have arisen under it, that the special provisions for registering transfers of permanent tenures are gradually falling into disuse, and that the number of applications for survey and record of rights is on the increase. The only district in which the charge of wards' estates was heavy was Midnapore, and in that district it was very heavy, there being at the close of the year 15 estates under the Court, with a gross annual income of about Rs. 3,57,500.

In this connection may be noted the enormously increased extent to which the public availed themselves of the post-office for the remittance of land revenue. Against 7,890 orders covering Rs. 45,845 in 1888-89, the Postal Department issued 20,990 for remittances aggregating Rs. 1,34,654. The Commissioner adds that figures to show the working of the similar system for the payment of rent are not available, but the local officers state that it has been a partial success, in spite of the opposition of the zemindars and their local agents.

Stamps, Income tax and Excise.

9. There was an increase of 2·3 per cent. in the revenue from stamps and of 3·5 per cent. in that from income-tax. Regarding the latter the Commissioner remarks:—"These results are, I consider, highly creditable to the district officers generally, the more so as they were obtained without any complaints being made of harsh and inquisitorial measures with the issue of a smaller number of processes and with a percentage of only 2·1 objections on the part of the 8,466 persons assessed." On the other hand there was a falling off under Excise, due to the outstill being replaced by the sudder distillery system.

Communications.

10. Under the head of Railways and other Public works may be noted the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway as far as Chakhardharpur and the completion of the Damudar bridge. Under the head "Communications" the Commissioner gives figures showing the large amount spent on repairs as compared with the small expenditure on original works and village roads, and remarks as follows:—

"The great difficulty of all the District Boards is the fixed and inelastic nature of their income and the large mileage of roads which they have to maintain. They are like parents with large and increasing families, but with fixed incomes. Each mile of road newly made or metalled involves a fixed charge for maintenance, and thus adds to the financial difficulties of the future. The maintenance of village roads is less expensive than that of the main lines of communication, both metalled and unmetalled; but the want of a proper establishment to supervise the work on the former is, I think, the principal reason why so little money is spent on them. The District and Local Boards hesitate to spend money on work which they cannot properly check or control, and they fear to entrust it to local agents in whose integrity and supervision they have no confidence."

Village roads, however, have this great advantage, that the land required can usually be obtained for nothing, whereas the people hesitate about giving, and usually will not give, the land and roadside lands for a road much broader than they require. In sub-divisions, the Sub-divisional Officer will almost invariably give a good account of money made over to him for village roads which he is given free liberty to spend, and in sudder sub-divisions the members of the Board should, with the assistance of the District Engineer, be able to look after the work themselves and to see that the money is properly spent.

Education.

11. In paragraph 68 et seq. of his report the Commissioner deals with the administration by District Boards of the grant for primary education. Although there was a divisional increase both in the number of pathsalas and of boys attending them, the results cannot, on the whole, be regarded as very satisfactory, for there was a decrease both in Midnapore and in Howrah; and in the case of girls' schools, there was a decrease both of schools and scholars in Burdwan and in Howrah, while in Midnapore it is reported that four girls' schools were closed "owing to the apathy of the managers." In Bankoora, however, the administration has been much more successful and the prospects are brighter. There it is said that, whereas in 1887-88 there were nearly 49 girls' schools with 920 pupils, there were last year 121 such schools with 2,054 pupils. A great part of this increase is attributed to the establishment of separate girls' schools in the place of mixed schools. It is probable that if the Magistrate and Chairman of the District Board takes an interest in primary education and shows that he does so, the apathy of the managers will disappear; and it is to the absence of such an interest that the Lieutenant-Governor feels compelled to attribute, to some extent, the failure in this branch of the administration in the districts referred to.

Local Self-government.

12. As regards local self-government institutions the verdict of the Commissioner is on the whole favourable. He says that the working of the District and Local Boards and of the municipalities in his Division is pronounced by the district officers generally to have been successful; and he adds that the attendance of the members has generally improved, and that they have been of much use as consultative bodies. He also makes the following general remarks on the subject:—

"The successful working of local self-government institutions depends quite as much upon the character and abilities of the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and permanent officials as a district does on its staff from the Magistrate-Collector downwards. The position of an official Chairman is altogether a stronger and more popular one than that of a non-official. The latter's every public act is regarded with distrust and suspicion: parties are formed to thwart his measures and question his executive action, and his position is by no means a bed of roses. It says much for the future of local self-government that many such difficulties have been bravely faced and overcome. The names of Baboo Lalit Mohan Sing, Vice-Chairman of the Hooghly District Board; of Baboo Siva Narain Mookerjee, Chairman of the Uttarparah Municipality; and of Baboo Nalinaksha Basu, Chairman of the Burdwan Municipality and Vice-Chairman of the District Board, whose services have recently been specially recognised by the title of Roy Bahadoor, deserve special mention in this connection.

"I would also mention Baboo Eshan Chunder Mitter, the Chairman of the Hooghly Municipality. With the exception of the Baidyabati Municipality in the Hooghly district, none of the local institutions have shown any wrong-headedness or impatience of control. On the contrary they have, as a rule, loyally accepted the advice tendered them by the officers of Government both in matters of finance and of general administration. Not the least promising feature of the present system of local self-government, and one which gives much hope for the future, is the fact that its defects are seen and fully admitted by all classes of the people. The strength of purpose and the moral courage to apply the remedy—which is the subordination of all personal and party feeling to the public good—though wanting at present, will, it is hoped, be developed gradually in the future."

Conduct of zemindars.

13. The Commissioner remarks that the conduct of zemindars has been, on the whole, satisfactory and singles out for favourable notice Baboo Raghu Nath Panja in the district of Bankoora and the zemindars of Motiari and Ajudhya in the same district. Only one zemindar, he says, deserves specially unfavourable notice—Mohant Gopal Das of Beerbhoom, whose estates are being settled under the Tenancy Act.

Character of officers.

14. A copy of the remarks regarding the conduct of officers will be forwarded to the Appointment Department for record. But the Lieutenant-Governor will take this opportunity of acknowledging the services rendered by Mr. H. Lee, C.S., both in Burdwan and Midnapore, which have led to his selection for an important charge elsewhere. Mr. Cooke has also done well in the Hooghly district. The Commissioner writes of his Personal Assistant, Babu Pran Kumar Das, as an excellent officer, hard-working and thoroughly reliable.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE TRIENNIAL REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL ON THE WORKING OF THE VACCINATION DEPARTMENT DURING THE THREE YEARS 1887—90.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 20th October 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Triennial Report of the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal on the working of the Vaccination Department during the three years 1887-88, 1888-89, and 1889-90.

The annual statistical returns for 1888-89, with the brief notes accompanying them, and the report of the previous year incorporated with the Sanitary Report, together with the Resolutions recorded thereon.

This is the first occasion on which, under instructions contained in the Resolution of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 28—1579-95, dated 15th July 1887, a triennial report on the working of the Vaccination Department in Bengal has been submitted. Dr. Gregg's report, though commendably moderate in length, gives a sufficiently clear view of the working of the Department during the past three years, and the diagrams and maps which accompany it are both intelligible and instructive.

2. The system of administration of the Department remained unchanged; but during the past year the amalgamation of the Sonthal Pergunnahs Circle with the Darjeeling Circle has reduced the number of circles from eight to seven. The following table shows the number of officers and vaccinators working under the Department during each of the three years under report:—

		Inspecting Staff.				Operators.
						Vaccinators.		Apprentices.

3. The average annual number of operations performed during the past three years was 1,790,098, or 719 to each vaccinator employed; and the average annual percentage of persons vaccinated to the whole population was 2·9. Of the two agencies, the paid and the licensed, the former were far the more active, performing on an average 1,475 operations each to 671 of the licensed vaccinators—a result which is probably due to the fact that the people obtain their services free and are therefore more willing to employ them.

4. The reported proportion of successful operations was in the case of primary operations 99·38 and 95·30 in vaccination circles and municipalities, dispensaries, &c., respectively, and in the case of secondary operations 34·08 and 64·04. Dr. Gregg reports that the percentage of successful secondary operations in municipalities is much too high to be correct, and that either many cases returned as secondary were in fact primary, or that the rate of success was not truly recorded. The question of the accuracy of the reported rate of success was raised by the Government of India in Mr. Lyall's letter No. 327, dated 17th October 1889, in which comment was made on the small proportion of operations checked by inspecting officers. The following table shows, however, that during each of the three years under report the number of operations checked by supervising officers of one class or another has always exceeded 70 per cent. The Lieutenant-Governor attaches much importance to these inspections, and hopes that future years will show a larger percentage, especially on the part of Superintendents:—

	Number of operations.	Superintendents		Deputy Superintendents		All other Inspecting Officers.
		Number of cases inspected.	Percentage.	Number of cases inspected.	Percentage.	Number of cases.	Percentage.
1887-88 . .	1,639,694	155,924	9 50	144,917	8·83	930 602	56 81
1888-89 ..	1,758,354	133,851	7·61	166,025	9 44	1,033,553	58 73
1889-90 ..	1,709,288	80,869	4 73	189,936	11 15	973 344	57 14

5. Dr. Gregg dwells at some length on the very important question of the results of vaccination as shown by the number of deaths from small-pox in various areas, compared with the proportion of population in those areas protected by vaccination; and illustrates these results by several useful diagrams. The following table shows the proportion of deaths from small-pox during the last seven years in areas under vaccination compared with those not under vaccination:—

	Number of areas which were under vaccination in—							Death-rate from small-pox per mille of population
	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90
Areas under vaccination ..	459	463	472	488	507	543	548	·12	·15	·06	·02	·04	·09	·14
„ not under vaccination ...	149	116	107	91	72	35	29	·25	·56	·26	·16	·16	·09	·18

It is noticeable that though the death-rate in protected areas is, as a rule, much lower than in those which are not under vaccination, the results of the last two years are far from satisfactory. The table shows, moreover, a marked increase in the mortality from small-pox in each of the last three years. In this connection Dr. Gregg remarks that "the protection of rural areas can never be placed on a proper footing until the Compulsory Vaccination Act in a suitably modified form be extended to them," and promises a full report on the subject, which is awaited by Government.

6. The total cost of vaccination during the three years was Rs. 4,97,833-0-11, giving a yearly average of Rs. 1,65,944-5-7. The average cost of each successful operation was one anna six pie against one anna eight pie in the three years 1884—87. It was highest in Calcutta, where each successful operation cost 15 annas 7 pie, and lowest in the Eastern Bengal Circle, where the cost was only 7 pie.

7. The attitude of the people towards vaccination is, according to Dr. Gregg, one of passive acceptance tempered apparently by a considerable but fortunately diminishing amount of passive obstruction. The issue of lymph in tubes from the Animal Vaccination Depôt in Calcutta to the mofussil has proved a failure owing, in Dr. Gregg's opinion, rather to carelessness in storing at the depôt than to any physical causes. Dr. Gregg speaks most unfavourably of the whole working of the depôt, which is under the supervision of the Superintendent, Metropolitan Circle. It is hoped that, when the projected Darjeeling depôt is in working order, the supply of animal lymph from Darjeeling and Calcutta will be sufficient to enable the Bengal vaccine establishment to dispense with lymph obtained from the human subject.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the excellent work done by Moulvie Tajamal Hossein, Deputy Superintendent of the Bhagulpore Division. The remarks made by the Sanitary Commissioner on the working of his subordinates in this Department will be communicated to the Appointment Department for record.

C. R KIERNANDER,

Offg. Accountant-General, Bengal.

OUTTURN OF BHADOI CROPS, 1890.

THE following is published for general information.

REVENUE DEPT., AGRICULTURE,
CALCUTTA:
The 4th November 1890.

By order of the Lieut.-Govr. of Bengal,
P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Note on the Outturn of the Bhadoi Crops, 1890.

THE character of the rainfall during the past bhadoi season was described in the preliminary forecast of the winter rice crop. In the latter half of June, after the monsoon had set in, the fall was abnormally heavy in all parts of the Province During July and August it was again very heavy and continuous in North Bengal and North Behar, moderately heavy in South Behar, and nearly normal in Chutia Nagpur, but on the whole deficient in Orissa, South-West and Eastern Bengal, and especially in a tract in the south of the Province, including Singbhoom, Balasore, Midnapore, Hooghly, and the 24-Pergunnahs.

The excessive rain which fell in the latter half of June directly after the bhadoi crops had been sown, and also in July and August, seriously damaged these crops in South and North Behar, and to a less extent in the northern districts of Bengal, in Chittagong, Noakhally, Tipperah, Hooghly, Manbhoom, Pooree, and parts of Cuttack. The damage from this cause was greatest in South and North Behar. The loss from excessive rain was intensified by floods in some of the riparian tracts in which the winter rice crop also seriously suffered from this cause.

In Hooghly, Midnapore, Balasore, and parts of Cuttack the bhadoi crops are reported to have suffered to the extent of 4 annas, owing to deficiency of rain in July and August.

There are very few districts in Bengal in which the bhadoi crops have not suffered from one cause or another. and in most districts of Behar, in parts of Nuddea, Khoolna, Moorshedabad, Jessore, Furreedpore, Hazaribagh, and Cuttack, the reported loss varies from 7 to 14 annas. Taking the Province as a whole, the outturn is not expected to be more than 10 annas

The tracts in which both the bhadoi food crops and winter rice have been seriously damaged are shown in the following statement:—

Names of districts and subdivisions.	Outturn of winter rice in annas.	Outturn of bhadoi crops in annas.	Remarks as to last year's stocks (vide final report of the wheat crops for 1889-90).
Khoolna	11	7	The produce of last year's food-grains was below the average. The district exports rice largely in ordinary years.
NUDDEA—
Sudder	3	4	The produce of last year's food-grains was below the average.
Kushtea	10	8
Meherpore	7	5
Chuadanga	1	1
Ranaghat	10	6
JESSORE—

Jhenidah	8	6
MOORSHEDABAD—
Sudder	12	4	Ditto ditto.
Lalbagh	10	8
PATNA—			The produce of last year's food-grains was on the whole average. The bhadoi crops occupy about $\frac{1}{5}$th of the total cultivated area, and the winter rice less than half. The remainder is under rabi crops. The flooded areas will be available for rabi sowings. If these do well, as they are expected to do, there need be no apprehension of scarcity.
Sudder	12	2
Dinapore ...	10	4
MOZUFFERPORE—			The produce of last year's food-grains was below the average. The remarks with regard to Patna apply to this district.
Sudder	10	6
Hajipore	10	6
SARUN—			The produce of last year's food-grains was about the average. There will be undoubtedly distress among the poorer classes, especially in the Sudder subdivision, in spite of a good rabi harvest that may follow.
Sudder	24	2
Sewan	10	4
Gopalgunge	11	5
MONGHYR—			Last year's produce was below the average—vide remarks against Patna, which apply also here.
Begusarai	8	5

There is cause for watchfulness on the part of the authorities in the tracts above mentioned, especially in the Sudder and Chuadanga sub-divisions of Nuddea, and in the Sudder sub-division of the Sarun district; but the Collectors of Nuddea and Sarun are of opinion that there is as yet no apprehension of scarcity in those districts.

In the flooded tracts of Behar there may be distress in the event of failure of the next rabi harvest, of which, however, there is at present no likelihood. Abundant rain having fallen over the whole Province in September, and the first-half of October, the prospects of the winter rice crop are assured.

M. FINUCANE,
Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

The 30th October 1890.

A bumper crop is expected if the weather continues to be as favourable as it has been up to date.	In August the rainfall was much short of the normal (4·25 against 13·5), but it was quite sufficient for the bhadoi crops.

In the latter half of June and throughout July the rainfall was considerably in excess and incessant in the Sudder sub-division. In the Rampore Hat sub-division there was considerable excess in June, but in July the fall was nearly normal. In May the fall was nearly normal, and in June considerably in excess of the normal in all parts of the district; the deficiency of rainfall at the time of ploughing and sowing noticed against Contai is not borne out by rainfall records.

Jessore	Jhenidah	478	317	60	60	60	Aus paddy	12	6	The early inundation has destroyed the greater part of the aus paddy, which was about to be harvested. In the 2nd forecast of jute 16 annas were shown to be the estimated outturn. But the early inundation has since destroyed about 3 annas of the crop. Hence the difference.

Rajshahye	Sudder	944	588	273	249	273	Aus paddy	12	10½	Owing to the timely rainfall both at the ploughing and sowing seasons, the outturn this year is expected to be a good one, though early floods had greatly injured the crops.	In the latter half of June and in July the rainfall appears to have been excessive and continuous. The bhadoi crops probably suffered to a certain extent from this cause.

Chittagong Hill Tracts.	Sudder	3,583·5	43·25	36	37·45	35·50	Jum paddy	10	10	In many cases jum cutting this year was retarded as the hill-people were engaged in eesly work. Consequently almost all jums cut later were not sufficiently burnt. This has affected the outturn to some extent. Incessant rain too throughout the season has washed away the earth from the roots of the plants and promoted weeds. These causes have reduced the outturn to a great extent.	The Commissioner thinks that the area under the crops is under estimated. He estimates the probable outturn of cotton at more than 8 annas. Last year the Commissioner estimated the outturn of jum paddy at 14 annas, although the Deputy Commissioner's estimate was 10 annas.

	Madhepura	872	566	175	175	175	Marua	10	12	Marua has been affected by excess of rainfall at harvest time.	In Madhepura the rainfall was in excess in June (15·61 against 8·83); in July it was still heavier (23·5 against 12), but there was plenty of fine weather, the number of rainy days being only 13 against 15·4; hence the bhadoi crops did not suffer so much here as in other parts of the district from excessive rainfall. In August the fall was normal with plenty of fine weather. There was no rain in the first-half of September. It does not therefore appear how marua harvest can have been interfered with by excess of rainfall at harvest time. The injury was probably caused by excess in June and July.
	Sonpoie	1,275	936	280	289	289	Bhadoi paddy	16	16	Insufficient rainfall at ploughing time, unequal distribution at the sowing time, and continued rain in July, caused injury to marua plants. The rivers rose more than thrice and caused damage to marua and some bhadoi paddy, as the water did not recede quickly. The transplantation of bhadoi paddy was retarded for want of rain in the north-east of the sub-division in the middle of July, with the result that some lands usually planted with this crop had to be left fallow. The excessive rain towards the end of July produced rank weeds which it took some time to clear. This rain did more injury to marua than to the bhadoi dhan.

It was somewhat excessive at the time of harvest. Floods have done damage to the extent of six annas in the Kudwah, Dhumdaha, Ranigunge and Manihari thanas.	The rainfall in the Sudder and Kissengunge subdivisions was very heavy in June (20·1 and 25·4 against 10·8 and 15·3 inches respectively) and moderately heavy in July; but no injury from this excess is noticed by the Collector.

Mulberry		6	Just after sowing the crops suffered to some extent from the rains being partial, and when earing the unusual and untimely inundations damaged them to a great extent.	The cause of the low outturn is not understood. In June and July the rainfall was nearly normal, and there was no unusual stretch of rainless weather. The injury from inundation to the winter rice crop appears from the winter rice forecast to have been small; it should be less in the case of upland bhadoi crops.

Cuttack	Sudder	969	775	180	180	178	Beali and mandia paddy, &c	18	12	The poor outturn of beali crop this year is owing to deficiency of rain at the ploughing time. In Jajpur the rainfall was sufficient at the ploughing and sowing seasons, but the crop suffered much for want of rain at their maturity. The prospects of mandia are not bad.	From the rainfall records the fall in May and June appears to have been quite sufficient, and at many places even in excess of the normal. In Jajpur the fall was indeed very deficient in August (5·49 against 11·74 inches). In July it had been slightly deficient (11·33 against 13·19 inches).

Calcutta, the 4th November 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 31st OCTOBER 1890.

WEATHER, especially in the early part of the week, has been settled and fine over the whole province except in the south-west corner, where the influence of shallow local depressions in the south of the Bay gave showers and rather strong winds during the last three days. The first of these depressions crossed the extreme south of the peninsula, and the second, forming to the east, gave squally weather as far north as Diamond Island, where wind velocity rose to 17 miles an hour on Tuesday. This depression continued to influence the weather for some days, but as it approached the Madras coast it became very diffused and disappeared, leaving the pressure distribution characteristic of the season. A current of moist air, due to the disturbance, flowed northwards, and gave cloudy weather and scattered showers in Orissa and Lower Bengal, the heaviest rain falling in the Balasore and Midnapore districts on Friday, the last day of the week.

At the commencement of the week pressure was above 30 inches in Bengal and Assam, with lowest pressure in the centre of the province. Westerly or northerly winds were blowing at nearly all stations, and temperature, below the normal except in Orissa and the adjacent part of South-West Bengal, was falling rather rapidly almost everywhere. Pressure during the week underwent the usual small oscillations, but was never below the normal, and wind velocity was invariably low, while directions were irregular from the 28th to the 31st.

Pressure rose moderately on the 25th, fell slowly on the 26th, again rose moderately on the 27th, after which there was a slow fall till the last day of the week, when there was a very slow rise, the distribution being very little different from that at the beginning, but with lowest pressure in Orissa and isobars running east and west instead of north and south. The weekly means are above the normal except over the Darjeeling Hills, where, however, defect is only ·003 inch. Elsewhere excess varies from a hundredth of an inch in the west of Assam and east of North Bengal to more than a twentieth of an inch in the southern districts.

Temperature has been generally below the normal except in Assam and Orissa, in the former of which mean excess is ·4° and in the latter 1·1°. Defect is 2° in South Behar, 1·8° in Chutia Nagpur, 1·2° in North Behar, 1° in East Bengal, ·9° in South-West Bengal, and ·7° in North Bengal. The somewhat rapid fall of temperature at the beginning of the week continued till the 27th, when defect was between 3° and 4° at many stations, and averaged more than 3° in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, and more than 2° in South-West Bengal. During the last four days changes were more irregular, but generally upwards. On the 31st excess prevailed except in Behar, North Bengal, and Assam, where there was still defect ranging up to 2°..

Rainfall.—Showers fell in East Bengal in the beginning of the week, and in Orissa and South-West Bengal at the end, while in the northern districts practically no rain has been received. Behar and Chutia Nagpur have been entirely rainless, and the average fall for North Bengal is only ·01 inch In the southern districts the mean falls are deficient, in East Bengal by ·64 inch, in South-West Bengal by ·53 inch, and in Orissa by ·15 inch. Somes heavy showers fell on Friday, Contai in the Midnapore district receiving 4·47 inches and one or two other stations more than one inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 31st of October 1890 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; d, drizzling rain, ≏, dew; ≡, fog.

General remarks on the fluctuations of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during four weeks ended 27th September 1890.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase both in the upwards and downwards traffic; that in the former was chiefly due to larger takings by the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway vid Agra. The downwards increase was partly due to shipment to coast ports.

Cotton.—The increase was chiefly in despatches from Agra to Howrah and Cawnpore, for shipment and manufacture, respectively.

Turmeric.—Chiefly in despatches from Howrah to stations in the North-West Provinces.

Gunny bags.—The improvement in this staple was chiefly in despatches from Howrah and neighbouring stations, to Cawnpore, Delhi and the Punjab.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The increase was due to considerable despatches of rice husked from stations on the Loop line to Howrah for shipment and to stations on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway.

Other rain and spring crops.—Chiefly in despatches from stations on the Sahebgunge district to stations on the Dinapore district, and to the Bengal and North-Western Railway.

Government stores.—The increase was principally in ordnance stores from Howrah and Allahabad Fort to Firozepur, Rawalpindi and other stations on the North-Western Railway.

Railway material, Foreign.—Chiefly in despatches of rails and other material from Howrah to Benares Cantonment, Delhi, and Umballa.

Stone.—Principally in stone ballast from Pakur to Chitpore.

Sugar (refined and unrefined).—There was a decrease in the weight carried attended with an increase in the earnings, and this was chiefly due to long distance despatches from Howrah to stations on the North-Western Railway. There was a falling off in short lead traffic on the "B" and "C" districts.

Bones.—Chiefly in despatches from vid Digha Ghât and vid Moghalsarai to Bally and Chitpore.

DECREASES.

Piece-goods, European.—The falling off in this staple was chiefly in despatches from Howrah and Bombay vid Jubbulpore.

Gram and pulses.—There was an increase in the weight carried attended with a decrease in earnings; the former was chiefly due to short distance traffic from Loop line stations to Howrah for shipment and local consumption; the decrease in earnings was in long distance despatches from stations on the "D" district.

Brass and copper.—Chiefly in despatches from Howrah consequent on the dull state of the import business generally.

Salt.—The falling off under this head was chiefly in despatches from Howrah owing to the dull state of the market and to earlier despatches last year in anticipation of the Durga Poojahs.

Saltpetre.—Limited demand at Howrah.

Seeds.—This is a continuation of the decrease reported last month, and was chiefly in mustard and other oil-seeds.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 29 of 1890), issued by the Port Master, Brisbane, is re-published for general information :—

It is 200 feet wide, and is marked by SIX piles carrying square black beacons driven 50 feet from the edge on the eastern side of the cutting; the shoalest water in the cutting being 13 feet at low-water ordinary spring tides. After passing through the cutting, the water gradually deepens from 3 to 5 fathoms, the depth at the anchorage off the wharves.

W., keeping two white triangular beacons, which are erected on the masts on which the leading lights are exhibited, in line, which will carry in mid-cutting until within a ship's length of the outer leading light mast; then steer mid-stream until abreast the wharves, when a vessel may anchor in mid-channel in 4 to 5 fathoms of water.

By Night.—Two white leading lights and one red light are exhibited, which enable vessels to enter the Port and reach the wharves by night. The back light is at an elevation of 96 feet and the front light of 87 feet above high water, and are at a distance apart of 5,000 feet. The red light, which is at the wharves, is distant half-a-mile above the outer white light. When making for the Fairway buoy the two leading lights will be seen, which, when brought in line, will bear about S. S. W., and will lead in mid-cutting. Steer with the lights in line to within one to two ships' lengths of the outer light, when haul more to the eastward, keeping the red light, which is placed on the outer end of Burns, Philp and Company's wharf, on the starboard hand. When abreast of the red light a vessel may anchor in from 4 to 5 fathoms.

The old channel is still marked by seven black beacons on the port hand; and seven red beacons on the starboard hand.

A tide-gauge, showing the depth of water in the cutting, is placed on the outer pile marking the eastern side of the cutting.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or sources; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL CORPORATION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Darjeeling, the 4th November 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipal Corporation for the year 1889-90.

This is the first report submitted by the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta on the working of the Municipality under the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act II of 1888. As the area of the Town now comprises the amalgamated area of the Suburbs, the general statistics given are not comparable with those of previous years, and it is probably due to this cause, as well as to the fact that a new Chairman has been appointed after the close of the year, that the present report is in some respects less complete than others which have lately been submitted by the Commissioners. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that on previous occasions it has been usual for the Commissioners to summarise the reports they receive from their Health Officer and Engineer, and to describe in more or less detail in separate chapters the work done during the year in these departments. In the present year these important chapters have been omitted, while the subjects to which they refer have only received very cursory treatment in an introductory chapter, and it is necessary to examine the departmental reports in order to obtain any adequate appreciation of the work really done by the Municipality. The object of an administration report is, however, to lay before the public and Government a self-contained account of the work done during the year, and the Lieutenant-Governor would therefore be glad if in future reports the Commissioners would revert to their former practice and arrange to furnish fuller information under the heads of Sanitation and Engineering. At the same time it might be possible to curtail some of the other sections of the report, and so not increase the dimensions of a volume which is already sufficiently bulky. The Lieutenant-Governor desires also to express a hope that in future it may be found possible to submit this report with greater punctuality. It is due to Government on the 1st August, but the present report was not received until the 17th of October.

Attendance of Commissioners.

2. As might have been expected during the first year of the amalgamation, the duties which devolved on the Commissioners were exceptionally onerous. There were 31 general meetings against 14 in the previous year; 125 meetings of standing Committees against 56; 66 of special Committees against 28; and 57 of Sub-Committees against 33. Altogether the total number of meetings was 282 against 131. There were no less than 26 members who attended 50 meetings or more during the year, and seven members (of whom three were nominated and four elected) who attended over 100 meetings. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that these results, showing how largely the Commissioners devote their time and trouble without remuneration to municipal duties, afford the most satisfactory evidence of the growth of public spirit in the metropolis. The account given of the principal subjects under discussion at these meetings indicates the importance and variety of municipal interests under consideration. Among other items may be mentioned the new Central Road, the question of burning the town refuse, the extension of water-supply and drainage to the Suburbs, the question of legislation for lepers, the protection of wild birds, the maintenance of a public library, the preparation of bye-laws, and the reorganization of establishments in the amalgamated area.

Loans.

3. The loan liability of the Corporation at the close of the year stood as follows:—

	Rs.
6 per cent. debentures	4,17,500
5 ditto	1,12,92,400
4½ ditto	10,48,300
	1,27,58,200
Consolidated loans from Government ...	60,11,610
	1,87,69,810

Two new 5 per cent. loans were raised during the year; one for 5 lakhs in June 1889 for water-supply, for which tenders amounting to Rs. 39,26,000 were received, and which was placed at an average premium of Rs. 5-14-6; and the other for 14 lakhs, which was incurred for both water-supply and drainage and the repayment of 6 per cent. debentures. The larger loan was raised in September, and the whole of it was taken up at rates varying from Rs. 3 to Rs. 5-12 premium. These results are satisfactory. The total borrowing power of the Commissioners is fixed by section 410 of the Act at such an amount as that the sum payable thereon annually by way of interest and as instalments due to the reserve funds shall not be more than 10 per cent. on the annual valuation of Calcutta. The amount of this valuation during the past year was Rs. 1,73,70,515, and at the present time, therefore, the Commissioners are legally competent to raise a loan liability on 5 per cent. debentures amounting to Rs. 3,46,00,000.

Income and expenditure.

4. The actual income of the Municipality during the year was Rs. 42,17,121, and the actual disbursements amounted to Rs. 41,27,831. The principal items of receipts and charges are as follows:—

Receipts.	Rs.	Expenditure.	Rs.
General rate at 9¼ per cent.	17,34,869	Interest on general loans including drainage ...	4,25,237
Sewage rate, &c., at 2 per cent.	3,10,034	Contribution for repayment of general loans ...	1,72,933
Water rate at 6 and 3 per cent. ...	9,11,028	General establishment ...	3,86,080
Lighting rate at 2 per cent.	3,02,259	Road department ...	4,14,289
Taxes	4,95,821	Gowkhana	1,69,221
Municipal Market ...	1,20,477	Conservancy... ...	3,40,621
		Sewage rate charges ...	2,76,799
		Water rate charges, including interest on loans, Rs. 4,29,916, and contribution for repayment of loans, Rs. 1,70,917 ...	9,33,930
		Lighting, &c. ...	3,17,860

The total rates now realized amount to 19½ per cent. on the annual valuation of assessable property, against a maximum of 23 per cent. allowed under the law, and the total incidence of taxation of all sorts is at the rate of Rs. 6-8-1 per head of the population according to the census of 1881.

Collections and balances.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the receipts from rates fell considerably short of the budget estimate, the total receipts under the four rates being Rs. 31,78,704 as against the estimate of Rs. 33,47,000, a total deficit of Rs. 1,68,296. The only explanation which the Commissioners give of this unusual discrepancy is under the head of the general fund (paragraph 83), where it is ascribed to short bustee collections and disputed assessments. It is evident, on analysing the collections, that it is in fact due to a large increase in the outstanding balances. The usual statement, bringing together all the balances of the different departments, has been omitted from the present report; but if the items are picked out from paragraphs 97 to 109 the result is found to be as follows:—

	Outstanding balances of rate bills.
	End of 1888-89.	End of 1889-90.
	Rs.	Rs.
In the hands of Assessor	58,173	67,489
Ditto of Collector	26,014	80,645
Ditto of Joint Collector ...		42,209
Ditto of Warrant Superintendent ...	93,841	1,51,933
	1,78,028	3,42,276
		1,78,028
Excess of 1889-90 over 1888-89		1,64,248

It will thus be seen that the excess of outstandings corresponds very closely with the deficit in the collections, showing that the estimate was approximately correct.

6. The increase in the arrears is very briefly explained by the Collector in paragraph 100, and somewhat more fully by the Joint-Collector for the Suburbs in paragraph 103. It appears that it is attributable to the inevitable temporary derangement of the collecting machinery due to the addition of a large suburban area, and also to changes in the system of rating introduced by the new Act. The difficulties under which the Collectors laboured may be thus summarised:—

(1) The collections of five quarters of the house rate within the year —This rate used to be collected during the succeeding quarter, while the whole of the consolidated rate in which it has been merged under the new Act is collected during the currency of the quarter for which it is due. The result was that the bill department had to get through the work of five quarters in a year, and necessarily fell much into arrears at its commencement, while more persons than usual postponed payment of their dues owing to the double demand for the first quarter.

(2) The recovery of rates for bustees from the landlords.—This measure, as might be expected, met with much opposition from the landlords, who have petitioned the Lieutenant-Governor, and are now petitioning the Governor-General in Council, to revert to the former system of collecting the bulk of the rates direct from the hut-owners. Under any circumstances, the collections of this portion of the rates during the first year of the operation of the new Act must have fallen very short of the demand, but the difficulty was enhanced by the impossibility of making out correct bustee bills in many cases till after the annual valuation required by the Act. Apart from his ordinary work of revaluation, the Assessor was overwhelmed with objections from bustee owners, especially in the added area, where he had no trustworthy materials to refer to until the bustees had been revalued; and looking to the difficulties with which he had to contend, it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor to be highly creditable to this officer that he should have so far surmounted them at the close of the year that the arrears in his hands of all sorts were only Rs. 67,489 against Rs. 58,173 at the beginning of the year.

In the statement showing the working of the Collector's Department the collections on account of bustees are not separated from those of the landlords' share of the consolidated rate, and the report of the Commissioners therefore does not show clearly the extent to which the bustee collections fell short of the demand; but the Lieutenant-Governor gathers from the statistics which are given that the total demand for bustees was Rs 5,03,337, and that the arrears at the close of the year, excluding those for which the Collector is responsible, were—

	Rs.
In the hands of the Assessor	3,464
Ditto of the Joint Collector	14,843
Ditto of the Warrant Superintendent	51,962
	70,269

The total arrears in the hands of the Collector under the joint head of landlords' share of the consolidated rate and bustee bills were Rs. 60,102, while the arrears of the occupiers' share were Rs. 20,543; and if this latter figure can be taken as the measure of the similar arrears due from owners, it leaves Rs. 39,559 as the share of the bustee owners, in the hands of the Collector, thus raising the total arrears from all departments to Rs. 1,09,828. By the same process, viz., actual figures taken from the reports of the Assessor, Joint-Collector and Warrant Superintendent, and probable figures from the Collector's report, it appears that the amount remitted or cancelled was Rs. 20,979. It would seem, therefore, that the collections were approximately Rs. 3,72,590 out of the demand of Rs. 5,03,337, or 74 per cent. Considering the exceptional difficulties which beset the collection of these bills during the first year, this result is fairly satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that next year the Commissioners will furnish the statistics regarding these bills separately, and that they will show that good progress has been made in recovering the arrears. It is presumed that after a proper valuation has been made under the new Act of all the bustees in the old and added areas, the difficulties which are now experienced will disappear.

(3) The increase in rates in the added area.—Before the amalgamation the rate-payers in this area paid 7½ per cent. plus house service fees which varied with the valuation, but averaged about 4½ per cent. Under the new Act the rates were raised to 19 or 16 per cent., according as the water-rate was 6 or 3 per cent. So large an increase must obviously have augmented the reluctance of the rate-payers to pay with punctuality.

(4) The unprecedented amount of work thrown upon the Assessor's department during the year of transition.—This is another difficulty which, with the completed valuation of the bustees, may be expected to entirely disappear.

(5) The new assessment section which has led to a general increase in the rating of residential houses.—This has naturally been followed by an unusual number of objections, the decision of which throws much work on the Assessor's department, while the ratepayer refuses payment till his objection and appeal, if he appeals to the Small Cause Court, have been decided. This difficulty will only cease when the entire city has been revalued under the Act, and all objections and appeals have been disposed of.

It is thus evident that the collection of rate bills was rendered exceptionally difficult during the past year, and, under the circumstances, the increase in the outstandings does not appear to be larger than might have been reasonably expected; but of the five causes enumerated, only the 3rd and 5th will continue to operate during the present year, and their effect will be comparatively small. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts, therefore, that the year 1890-91 will close with the outstanding balance of the rate bills considerably reduced.

License Department.

7. The working of the License Department appears to have been satisfactory. The receipts from the trade and profession tax, which had never before exceeded Rs. 2,65,996, rose to Rs. 2,79,313 for the old area and Rs. 34,951 were collected for the added portion of the Suburbs. Here, however, as elsewhere, the report is disappointing in that no attempt has been made to illustrate the working of the new Act. Most important changes were introduced by that Act in the system of assessments, the gradation of trades and professions and the penal sections, and the manner in which they have worked ought to have been set forth in the annual report for the first year of its operation.

Valuation.

8. As already stated, the annual valuation of Calcutta for the past year was Rs. 1,73,70,515. The apparent increase is only Rs. 26,408, but the real increase is Rs. 2,76,408, after allowing for a nominal reduction of 2½ lakhs in the valuation of the Kidderpore dock premises. The Lieutenant-Governor understands that the Port Commissioners accepted a valuation of 7½ lakhs, being 7½ per cent. on the estimated capital outlay of their property, because under the Bengal Municipal Act they would only be called upon to pay one-fourth rates on the excess over one lakh of rupees; but that they demurred to this valuation being maintained under the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, which fixes the lower percentage of 5 per cent. on the capital outlay, but charges full rates on the whole amount, and that they eventually consented to a compromise by which they should pay the full rates, but have the valuation reduced to 5 per cent. on the assumed capital outlay. Hence there is a nominal reduction in the assessed value which will, however, entail a considerable increase in the rates hitherto paid by the Port Commissioners. When the docks are completed a proper valuation will be made under the provisions of Act III (B.C.) of 1890.

Assessments.

9. The Commissioners appear to take an unfavourable view of the question of assessments under the new Act, and observe that "those who have to administer the law must experience considerable difficulty in working it." In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, however, the figures which are furnished by the Commissioners seem to show that the assessment provisions of the Act were worked with facility. The whole area of Calcutta must be revalued under the law every six years, and during the past year five wards out of twenty-five, or more than the due proportion, came under revaluation, and the work was completed by the Assessor with punctuality. The wards revalued were those in which under-assessment had been very general, and the valuation was raised by the Assessor from Rs. 25,41,387 to Rs. 31,53,952. Out of 1,414 objections which were preferred, no less than 1,249 were filed on or after the 16th of March, and of these 22 were disposed of before the close of the year. The whole of the objections filed before the 16th March were duly disposed of. It is observed also that out of the 212 objections decided by the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, only 6, of which 2 were pending and 4 have been rejected, were appealed to the Small Cause Court within the year. These results indicate satisfactory promptitude in the disposal of work. They also show that the assessment provisions of the law were administered with leniency. It is no doubt a judicious policy, upon the first introduction of a principle of assessment which, however fair and reasonable, does considerably increase the taxation of those who were formerly much under-assessed, to lean upon the side of moderation. But it must be remembered that under-valuation in one direction is equivalent to the unfair augmentation of the burdens of those whose property is fully valued, and that justice to the rate-payers in general demands that no particular section of the community shall be treated with favour or partiality. Upon the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman, and Assessor of the Corporation rests the responsibility of seeing that assessments are equitably made in accordance with the law.

Vital statistics.

10. Owing to the large fluctuating population of Calcutta it is not possible to estimate the increase or decrease, as is usually done, by the number of births and deaths, and the vital statistics of the town are therefore still calculated on the census of 1881. Upon this basis the number of deaths in the town proper was 26·9 per thousand against 27·7, the mean of the decade; while in the amalgamated area of the Suburbs it amounted to 46·9 per thousand. The number of cholera deaths in the town proper was 1,071, which, with two exceptions, is the lowest mortality since the introduction of a pure water-supply. The Health Officer observes—

"The years 1871 and 1880 had respectively 800 and 805 deaths. There is a marked periodicity about these low rates from cholera, which seems to point to some biological law in the life history of the cholera contagion, in the form perhaps of some periodic struggle for existence which, when recovered from, is followed under favourable conditions for a time with a remarkable vigour. To remove those favourable conditions is practically to stamp out cholera, a consummation which, as far as Calcutta is concerned, will no doubt in time be effected. In the days before the water-supply, i.e. before 1869, there was a similar periodicity, only with this difference, that the lowest annual number of deaths was 2,270 and the highest over 6,829, whereas after the introduction of the water-supply the lowest was 800 and the highest 2,272."

Water-supply.

11. Nothing could demonstrate more eloquently than these figures the immense sanitary boon conferred on Calcutta by the introduction of a water-supply. The Commissioners are to be congratulated on the vigour they have displayed in the administration of this department of the Municipality, and on the systematic manner in which they have extended the benefits received to all portions of the town. Shortly before the commencement of the official year under review a third pumping-station was opened at Halliday Street to remedy the scarcity of water in the riparian and other wards, and Dr. Simpson reports that the favourable effect on the cholera rate was at once marked and has been continuous. A fourth station will soon be constructed in Bhowanipore to supply the Suburbs. The work of connecting that portion of the Suburbs which could be directly supplied from the town mains was completed in September 1889, and at the close of the year the length of mains and services on the filtered system amounted to 184 miles. There are now 990 stand-posts on the filtered and 2,505 ground hydrants on the unfiltered system. The population supplied with filtered water at the date of the Engineer's report was 480,019, which includes 75,800 of the suburban amalgamated area. The supply had then reached an average of 35·4 gallons of filtered water and 8·9 gallons of unfiltered water per head of the population. Although these results have been attained at a great cost to the town, amounting in round figures to Rs. 1,42,72,897, there can be no doubt that this outlay has been amply repaid not only by the improved health of the inhabitants, but also by the increase of wealth and material prosperity which the reputation for improved sanitation has attracted to the city.

Ventilation of the city by proper streets and squares the most important sanitary want of Calcutta

12. But important as the question of water-supply is, and beneficial as the outlay has been, the possession of good drinking-water is after all only one of the necessary conditions for the enjoyment of healthy life in a crowded city. When all has been said, it must be admitted that the conditions of life in the Metropolis of British India are still highly insalubrious. The cholera map of Calcutta is still simply a map in which the whole of the native town appears one mass of red dots indicating cholera deaths during the year, and the inspection of this map, with its record of more than one thousand deaths from preventible disease, cannot fail to awaken in the mind of every one who sees it a sense of how much there still remains to be done to improve sanitation. Sir Steuart Bayley has always cordially acknowledged the value of the work already accomplished by the Commissioners, but at the same time he has taken every opportunity of pointing to the work there still remains to do. The success they have attained must be their strongest incentive to further effort. The Health Officer of the Corporation has, therefore, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, rendered a valuable public service in now calling attention in the most prominent manner to the ventilation of the city by proper streets and squares, and to the enforcement of proper building regulations, as the most important sanitary measures which it remains for the Municipal Commissioners to undertake. Pure air is as much a necessity for the public health as pure water, and the overcrowding of buildings, as Dr. Simpson points out, not only impedes the circulation of air and disseminates disease along the poisonous alleys, often not more than three feet in width, which divide house from house and harbour the germs of all disease, but it prevents the possibility of laying down proper and efficient drainage and hinders and adds to the cost of scavenging. The diagrams which accompany the Health Officer's report show convincingly the urgent character of the remedies he proposes. They show at a glance how the ground is covered with houses without open space between, and how narrow streets, winding lanes and numerous passages afford complete obstacles to efficient ventilation. The fine new street, known as the Central Road, which the Commissioners have at great expense determined to cut through the most overcrowded and overbuilt portion of the city, is a very praiseworthy enterprise and most creditable to the Municipality. This road will be 70 feet wide with 50 feet for carriage way, and nearly two miles long from the Hooghly Floating Bridge to the Sealdah terminus of the Eastern Bengal State Railway. The first section of this road from the bridge to Clive Street has been completed; the land acquisition for the rest is proceeding, and a considerable portion at the Sealdah end has been cleared of buildings. This road, though it is progressing less rapidly than the Lieutenant-Governor could wish, is a most important and valuable sanitary improvement. But it is justly observed by Dr. Simpson that this one street, however excellent it may be, will exercise but a small influence in doing away with the evil of congested and unregulated buildings, unless streets from north to south and south to north be constructed to meet it. The great structural defect which prevails, especially in Burra Bazar, but also throughout the whole of the heart of Calcutta where the residents of the city dwell, is, and always has been, due to the toleration of too many houses and too many people on too limited a space, instead of forcing them to spread out on a wider area. The plan or construction of the city being radically defective, the supply of every other sanitary improvement is only palliative while that constitutional defect remains. It will never be possible to wipe away the reproach under which Calcutta labours as the home of cholera until the present germ-laden air is as purified from contagion as is the filtered water now drunk by the people.

13. The necessity of ventilation has been emphasised by the process of tank-filling which for years past has been going on in the city. Each one of these tanks was a cup of poison, and their obliteration therefore was a positive boon of the highest quality. In place of the water from these tanks, worse than London sewage as it was described, the purest possible water is now supplied from the Pulta water-works. On the other hand, these tanks were open spaces which allowed the admission of air and placed some restriction on the crowding together of buildings. But now the sites on which the tanks formerly existed are being built over without stint or any regard to structural considerations, and one evil is thus rapidly giving place to another.

14. The demand for residential houses is now so great in Calcutta that there is a marked tendency to construct brick houses on bustee sites. But unwholesome as were the bustees, it were almost better from a sanitary point of view to have bustees through which the wind can permeate than groups of high houses if these are to be separated from each other only by narrow, tortuous and foul alleys which, in Dr. Simpson's expressive words, "signify obstruction of traffic, obstruction of proper circulation of air, overcrowding of houses and inhabitants with all their attendant evils, foul and inefficient drainage and pollution of air by sewage, by sewer gas, by unremoved filth from defective scavenging, and by the organic products given off from animals and men living in a crowded state."

15. Dr. Simpson then points out that the executive is powerless to prevent these defects under the existing law or bye-laws, that there is no regulation as to the minimum width of existing or new streets, and that the only real control the Commissioners can exercise is by planning out the city under section 208 of the Act, with the aid of engineers and medical men, in accordance with certain laid down sanitary principles. There are also the problems of the ventilation of houses and the ventilation of rooms to be considered. For all these difficulties the Health Officer purposes remedies in detail, and suggests that a Committee formed of engineers, medical men and others should be appointed to thoroughly investigate and report on the whole subject.

16. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that this suggestion will receive the very early attention of the Chairman and of the Commissioners.

Drainage.

17. The most important work undertaken in the Drainage Department of the Municipality is the survey for drainage of the Suburbs, which is still in progress. There are two parties engaged, one for the south-eastern area and the radical outfall into the Biddiadhary river, and the other for the southern area, which is for surface drainage only.

Bustee cleansing, structural and Suburban improvement.

18. The total expenditure incurred on bustee cleansing and structural improvement during the year was Rs. 2,46,572. Under section 37, clause 7 of the new Act the Municipal Commissioners are required to devote to the improvement of the area added to Calcutta a sum of not less than three lakhs of rupees annually, and the Lieutenant-Governor requests that in future reports the manner in which this provision of the law has been complied with may be specifically stated. The information furnished on this subject in the present year's report is insufficient.

General.

19. Upon the whole there can be no doubt that the administration of the Calcutta Municipality during the past year was marked by very satisfactory progress, great attention to work on the part of the Commissioners, and improvement in all directions. The extension of the water-supply and of suburban drainage, the improvements in the flushing of the sewers, the large sums expended on maintenance of roads, the inception of the new Central Road, the experimental construction of refuse incinerators, the revision of assessments, the acquisition of land for a new dhobikhana, and many other important matters, sufficiently attest the activity of the Commissioners and of the officers of the Municipality in the discharge of their duties. The year was also marked by harmonious relations between the Commissioners and the Executive, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe in the present report the absence of any jarring or discordant note.

Services of Sir Henry Harrison

20. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot conclude this Resolution without expressing his high appreciation of the services which have been rendered to the City of Calcutta by the late Chairman, Sir Henry Harrison. For nine years he was Chairman of the Corporation, and the successful administration of the affairs of the Municipality during this long period, the firm financial credit of the Commissioners, the innumerable sanitary reforms effected, especially the extension of the water-supply and the conservancy of bustees, the increase in material prosperity in the city which in consequence of these reforms has shown itself in so marked a degree that the value of land in Calcutta generally may be said to have doubled, the reorganization and reconstruction of nearly every department of work, the hearty zeal and co-operation with which the Commissioners as a body now unite with the Executive to advance the welfare of the city,—an attitude for which they were not always distinguished, but which is in itself the best testimony to the capacity of a Chairman,—the methodical and systematic development of civic administration in all departments, are a sufficient and lasting tribute to the manner in which Sir Henry Harrison has discharged the duties of his responsible, difficult, and thankless office. His name will always be honourably associated with the growth of municipal institutions in the Metropolis.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE TRIBUTARY STATES OF ORISSA FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

POLITICAL.

Dated Darjeeling, the 4th November 1890.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Administration of the Tributary States of Orissa for the year 1889-90.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1887-88 and 1888-89 and the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor recorded thereon.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the instructions contained in last year's Resolution on this report have been followed in the preparation of the present one, which is concise and furnishes fuller statistics than before, but the Superintendent will be requested to observe greater punctuality in future in its submission. Mr. Hopkins held charge of the office of Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals of Orissa from the beginning of the year to the 31st December 1889, when he was relieved by Mr. Worsley, the present Superintendent.

2. Raja Balabhadra Sing Mandhata of Nayagarh having died heirless on the 2nd March last, Babu Raghunath Sing Hari Chandan, a relative of the late Chief, has been allowed by this Government to take possession of the guddi as a provisional arrangement, subject to the approval of the Government of India. This succession has been contested by the Raja of Khandpara, and the final decision of the matter is now under consideration.

3. The partial failure of crops in consequence of the irregularity and deficiency of the rainfall during the years 1887-88 and 1888-89 brought about a scarcity of food-grains in most of the Tributary States and the Government estates of Angul and the Khondmals during the past year. The States of Mohurbhunj, Nilgiri, Keonjhur, Pal Lehara, Dhenkenal, and Atgarh were little affected by the distress, but it was severe in other places, and was further augmented by the outbreak of cholera and small-pox, which considerably increased the mortality. The people who suffered most were the aboriginal and semi-Hinduised tribes who form the landless class and live partly by labour and partly on jungle produce, and their sufferings were intensified in some cases by delay in the commencement of relief operations. On the appearance of serious symptoms of distress the necessity of vigilant supervision was impressed upon the Superintendent, and in July 1889 Sir John Edgar, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Chief Secretary to this Government, was specially deputed for the purpose of making personal enquiries into the condition of Angul and some of the affected tracts in the Tributary States, as well as in the Regulation districts. Immediate measures were also adopted for the alleviation of the distress by the opening of relief works, supply of gratuitous relief, grant of money advances and agricultural loans, as well as loans to the Tributary Chiefs who applied for them, relaxation of forest rules, &c., the details of which have already been separately reported to the Government of India. The rainfall of the past year was much above the average of the three preceding years, and there has been, on the whole, a fair outturn of crops. The relief operations have consequently been discontinued and the people are reported to be in a comparatively prosperous condition. The following deductions from the events of the past year, recorded by the Superintendent, are interesting and instructive:—"The experience of the past year seems to enforce two important lessons—first, that in such tracts as the Tributary States, which are without good roads and communications, and in which professional grain-dealers are almost unknown, comparatively slight misfortunes, such as unseasonable drought and a failure of fruits and jungle produce following on two or three short harvests, may convert a temporary pressure into scarcity and sharp distress; and secondly, that no time must be lost in commencing relief operations when actual distress once appears.

The Superintendent finds no reason to suppose that there was an absolute want of grain last year in any of the affected tracts, and thinks that the holders in Angul would have opened their stores more freely if they had felt confidence that any deficiency of food which might occur would be supplied.

4. In a year of scarcity the public health could not be expected to be good. As noticed above, cholera and small-pox caused great havoc during the period of scarcity which lasted from April to November, but the actual statistics of mortality could not be collected, although an attempt was made with that object. In Angul alone the estimated deaths from these diseases were 3,028 and 131 respectively, while 1,974 more are attributed to starvation. After the rains of November malarious fever appeared in an epidemic form, and the people suffered from it severely. Influenza also broke out in several of the States during the past year. The total number of persons vaccinated during the year was 26,906, against 23,427 in the preceding year. It is strange that out of 73 and 490 operations in Baramba and Daspalla respectively not a single case is said to have proved successful, while in Angul 4,650 out of 4,758 were effectual. The Lieutenant-Governor has no great faith in the statistics appended to the report. It appears that there are no local trained vaccinators, and that there is no effective control over those who are brought in from Cuttack. Operations conducted in this way are not likely to commend themselves to the people, already prejudiced as they are against vaccination. The suggestion of the Superintendent to train local men as vaccinators and to let them work under the supervision of the local medical officers is a good one, and he will be requested to report the result of the reference he proposes to make to the Sanitary Commissioner on the subject. No new dispensary was opened during the year, but the existing institutions are reported to be gaining popularity.

5. The mineral wealth of the Tributary Mehals has not been completely explored, but it is probably not inconsiderable. Coal mines exist in Angul and Talchere, and there are mines of mica and stone quarries in Nilgiri, Dhenkenal, and Angul. Iron ore is found in Dhenkenal, Angul, Talchere, Mohurbhunj, and Athmullik. The principal industries are weaving and the manufacture of brass and bell-metal wares, but both are now on the decline. Gold washings carried on in river-beds in Mohurbhunj, Dhenkenal, and Angul have hitherto proved unremunerative. There was no export of food-grains during the past year owing to the scarcity, but oilseeds and forest produce were largely exported. The chief articles of import are salt and English-made cloths.

6. The statistics furnished of the civil and criminal cases instituted in the courts of the Tributary Chiefs do not include the large number of petty cases which are decided by them orally, and the proceedings of which are not recorded. The total number of civil and revenue cases in the courts in the Tributary States established under the authority of the British Government fell from 10,102 to 8,402, the decrease occurring chiefly in Angul, Baramba, Dhenkenal, Mohurbhunj, and Nursingpore. Out of 193 civil and 70 revenue appeals, 214 were decided during the year and 49 remained pending at its close. The total number of offences reported during the year was 2,614 against 2,691 in the preceding year; of these 2,074 were returned as true, against 2,057 in 1888-89. The number of cases brought to trial, including those pending from the previous year, was 1,982 against 1,865 in 1888-89; and of 4,287 persons concerned in these cases, 999 were acquitted or discharged, 3,216 were convicted, 22 died, escaped, or were transferred to other courts, and 51 remained under trial at the end of the year. There were only 75 criminal appeals, of which 15 were rejected, and in 35 the orders of the lower courts were confirmed, in 10 they were modified, and in 15 reversed.

7. In Angul the total realizable land-revenue demand for 1889-90 amounted to Rs. 47,117-14-11, of which Rs. 26,870-1 were collected during the year; of the large balance of Rs. 20,247-13-11 outstanding at the close of the year, which was due to the inability of the ryots to pay in consequence of failure of crops, Rs. 15,125 have since been realized. No land revenue is paid in the Khondmals. The total receipts of the Khondmal Road and School Funds amounted to Rs. 3,578-7 and Rs. 2,337-15-11 respectively, and the two funds showed a balance of Rs. 2,984-2-8 and Rs. 2,944-10-7 respectively at the close of the year. The following statement shows the demands and collections on account of land revenue in the five States under the direct management of Government:—

Name of State.	Total realizable demand including arrears.			Amount collected during the year.			Balance outstanding at the close of the year.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
Mohurbhunj	2,37,386	10	9½	2,19,467	6	9	17,919	4	0½
Dhenkenal	99,363	8	4	70,507	8	4	28,856	5	0
Baramba	34,388	9	5	19,562	8	4½	14,826	1	0½
Nursingpore	37,414	4	6	22,366	10	1	15,047	10	5
Pal Lehara	30,339	12	8	19,905	2	5½	10,434	10	2½

The high prices of food-grains and the very generally prevailing distress necessarily affected the realization of land revenue. The Mohurbhunj State has already been made over to its Chief, and the responsibility of Government for the collection of arrears no longer exists. In regard to the other States, the Superintendent has already issued instructions for the recovery of the arrears as early as possible. The financial management of these five States during the past year was satisfactory. The resources of the Pal Lehara State, which recently came under the management of Government, and which is involved in heavy debts contracted by the late Chief, require improvement, and the Superintendent has directed his special attention to this subject.

8. The settlement operations in Angul are nearly complete. The assessment work was finished in December last and shows an increase of revenue from Rs. 36,898 to Rs. 1,10,547. This very large increment has resulted, not from raising rates, but from changes in classification and especially from the assessment of lands brought into cultivation but hitherto unassessed. Still it would be impolitic and scarcely just to attempt to enforce the settlement completely at once. The Lieutenant-Governor has postponed the enhancement altogether till 1892; then the newly-assessed lands are to pay half rates for five years, at three-quarter rates for five years, and then for five years at full rates. These concessions will, it is hoped, prevent the settlement from being too great a burden. In the Mohurbhunj State 19 pergunnahs have been resettled since the assumption of its management by Government. Under the terms of the resettlement, the revenue of these pergunnahs has been increased from Rs. 79,133 to Rs. 1,97,428. The settlement of 70 villages in Nilgiri has been completed, and the result shows an increase of assessment from Rs. 6,955 to Rs. 14,747.

9. The total number of schools was 1,128 with 14,407 pupils against 1,182 schools with 15,153 pupils in 1888-89. There were seven girls' schools, the same as in the preceding year, but the number of pupils fell from 448 to 425. There were also 266 girls reading in the boys' schools during the past year. One girl passed the lower primary scholarship examination from Angul and obtained a scholarship. There were 1,592 children of the aboriginal races under instruction against 1,541 in the preceding year. The total expenditure on education in the Gurjats during the year amounted to Rs. 67,155, of which Rs. 7,570 were borne by Government.

10. The area of reserved forests in Angul was not extended during the year. The management of the forests is very expensive, the annual average expenditure of the last four years being nearly thrice as much as the receipts. This abnormal deficit is explained by the Superintendent to be due to the fact that Angul is unable to compete with the cheaper timbers of the neighbouring States. The distressed condition of the people during the past two years necessitated the relaxation of the forest rules with a view to allow them free access to the reserves to collect edible roots, fruits, sago-palm, iron stone, and fuel. With the object of improving the condition of the landless classes of Orissa and protecting them from scarcity in future, Sir John Edgar has made some valuable suggestions for reconstituting the forest reserves in Angul and Khurda and re-organizing their administration. The question is now under consideration. The forests in Mohurbhunj, Dhenkenal, Baramba, and Nursingpore were administered by the respective Managers of those States.

11. The remarks concerning the merits of officers will be noted in the Appointment Department. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with satisfaction the favourable report which the Superintendent has given of the administration of Keonjhur, Hindole, and Athmullik by their respective Chiefs. Since the close of the year under report the minor Chief of Mohurbhunj has been placed in charge of the State. Both by his disposition and by his acquirements he appears to be well fitted for his high position, and there is much reason to hope that he will prove himself an efficient ruler.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON WARDS' AND ATTACHED ESTATES IN THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 4th November, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on Wards' and Attached Estates in the Lower Provinces for the year 1889-90.

Collections.

The rent-roll of the Wards' and Attached Estates under the management of the Board of Revenue slightly exceeds the large sum of a hundred lakhs, or a crore of rupees a year, and the collections in 1889-90 were nearly 103 lakhs, being better than the current demand by Rs. 2,74,728. This result is the best ever attained, except in the year 1878-79. The explanation given in regard to the estates on which collections have been deficient are generally satisfactory, the exception being in the case of the Chandra Kumar property, Shahabad, where only 75 per cent. of the current demand was realized—a result attributed to the "unsettled condition of certain villages which are over-assessed, the villagers being burdened with debts incurred during the time of the late proprietor." Upon this subject a special report will be made to Government showing what steps have been or should be taken to reduce any over-assessment established to the satisfaction of the Board and generally to assist in the restoration of prosperity. It is most necessary that Managers should observe every indication of the exceptional misfortunes which occasionally afflict particular villages, even on estates where the ryots as a body are doing well, and should be ready to aid in removing or mitigating the causes of distress, particularly when these are connected in any way with the assessment of rent. As to the Dhalbhum Estate, on which collections amounted to only 72 per cent. of the current demand, it is stated that "a large portion of the balance (Rs. 96,291) shown against pergunnah Dhalbhum alone is disputed and irrecoverable, as the resumed ghatwali tenures are said to have been assessed by the late proprietor's amla in a most perfunctory and summary manner without the knowledge of the tenants and without acceptance by headmen and tenure-holders." And the Board add that, "with a view to dispose of the objection raised by the tenants, the remeasurement and re-assessment of 111 villages of the pergunnah have been undertaken." The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to learn the result of these remeasurements, which should be observed with care by the Revenue authorities. In Deo the collections from the middlemen who farm the estate were very bad—a result attributed to opposition on their part to the management of Government. This is a matter requiring the careful attention of the Board and the Commissioner. The system of ticcadari management is not in itself commendable; it is maintained merely as an expedient for temporary convenience, to facilitate collections when the Manager is not, for any cause, able to do what is properly his own work; and if in this particular case the ticcadars perversely decline to meet their liabilities, the question arises whether it would not be wise to survey the estate at once and introduce khas management.

Balances.

2. The good collections of the year have slightly decreased the large outstanding balances which constitute so objectionable a feature in the administration of these estates, while more has been done in the same direction by granting remissions (which generally means writing off debts barred by limitation), with the result that the arrears have been reduced from 108 lakhs to 82. This is satisfactory as far as it goes; but the Lieutenant-Governor considers that greater energy should be shown in the work of retrenching from the accounts, at an early period of the management, demands which cannot be recovered, because they were never valid, or because they are barred by limitation. The existence of such demands affords the inferior collecting agency an opportunity for embezzlement. The Srinagar Ward's Estate has been seven years under the management of the Board, and their attention has been repeatedly called to the large balances outstanding; yet a sum of Rs. 83,432 is entered as still due from the period before the Board took charge. The Bhowanipore Estate, with a rent-roll of Rs. 1,62,576, shows, after large reductions, a balance of Rs. 9,63,321, most of which is classified as bad and irrecoverable and must presumably be barred by limitation, if it was ever really due.

Government dues.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that the claims of Government on Wards' and Attached Estates have been satisfied during the year, the moderate balance (since paid) of Rs. 18,174 being more than equalled by advance payments made on other estates. This is an important branch of Wards' administration, which at one time received insufficient attention.

Financial results.

4. The general financial results of the year cannot be regarded as satisfactory, inasmuch as the debts due by estates increased from 45 lakhs to 48, the cash balances diminished from 24 lakhs to 17, while only four lakhs were invested or spent on the purchase of land. The law charges, which amount to nearly 18 lakhs, are heavy, and in this direction the Lieutenant-Governor would desire to see a reduction.

Improvements

5. The amount spent on improvements, Rs. 66,930, is somewhat in excess of the expenditure under that head in previous years. But on some properties there is obviously a deficiency in this respect: for instance in Cossimbazar, with a rent-roll of over four lakhs, the outlay on improvements was only Rs. 4,668, while Rs. 75,067 were invested; in Narhan, with an income of nearly two lakhs, nothing was spent on improvements, while a lakh was invested. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware of the objection to sanctioning expenditure of this nature where the Manager cannot indicate any scheme for improvement, whether in the way of irrigation, drainage, planting of trees and fuel shrubs, or otherwise; but it is precisely such difficulties as these that a duly qualified Manager is expected to overcome. No Manager can be considered to have fully performed his functions if, on surrendering the estate to the Ward after a lengthened period, and having had surplus funds to use, he has done nothing for the property.

Surveys and records of right.

6. The most important improvements during the year were those made by effecting surveys and records of right under the Bengal Tenancy Act. It is very generally found that when the Court takes possession of an estate, the papers which should show what amount of rent is due from each ryot are unworthy of trust, and when such is the case, no greater benefit can be conferred on all the parties concerned in efficient management than to ascertain and record their permanent rights and liabilities. This should be done under existing orders whenever the Collector is unable, with regard to his responsibilities in proceedings of a quasi-judicial character, to issue certificates for rents on the papers in the hands of the Manager. The object of these settlements is not to enhance rents or increase the income of the Wards, but to prepare a trustworthy rent roll, without which management cannot be efficient and the collection cannot be regular. On the estate first dealt with, that of Srinagar, the effect has been to yield more than 9 per cent. on the outlay, and similar results are being obtained elsewhere, but it is not to be assumed that settlements are to be made only when direct profit of this kind is to be expected. The Lieutenant-Governor learns without surprise that in one instance what was alleged to be the existing rent was actually reduced by nearly 50 per cent. on the ground that the soil had permanently deteriorated owing to fluvial action. Such changes in the character of the country are, when beneficial, made the ground for enhancement, and under the law (in this matter too frequently overlooked) the tenant is equally entitled to a reduction when the effect of the change is adverse to his interests. The progress made during the year was generally satisfactory. The survey of the Srinagar Estate—695 square miles—was completed under the efficient management of Mr. Collin, and the settlement will probably be finished during the current month. Maldwar has been finally dealt with. In Sunkerpore, Burdwan, Churamon, Koojung and Kanika the proceedings are in an advanced stage, and the Board may now with advantage consider what estates should next be taken in hand. There are indications in the present report to show that on some the rent-roll is not worthy of trust, and more information will be obtained on this subject if Collectors fully realize that it is their duty not to issue certificates on the mere statement of the Manager that a certain sum of rent is due without first ascertaining that he is in possession of accounts which show with certainty and accuracy what is the legal demand. As an indication of the loss which land-holders not unfrequently suffer for want of proper records, the following passage is quoted from the account given of the Burdwan Raj Estate:—

"In the course of the survey it was found that a large number of mouzahs belonging to the Raj, which had never been let in patni or otherwise alienated, had been taken possession of by other persons. In order to ascertain where they were situated and to enable the Court of Wards to adopt measures for resuming khas possession of them, a traverse and boundary survey of all lands appertaining to towjih Nos. 1, 3, and 4 of the Bankura district was ordered under section 3 of the Bengal Survey Act V of 1875. The Manager, Mr. Reily, has resumed khas possession of many of these mouzahs without opposition, and the persons in possession of others have applied to him to come to terms as to the settlement of them."

Education.

7. The Board give an account, which, except in one instance, is satisfactory, of the progress in education of each of the principal Wards. The subject is of the greatest importance, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see that it meets with due attention.

8. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Halliday for his efficient management of the Wards Department during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE BOARD'S REPORT ON THE LAND REVENUE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE OFFICIAL YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 8th November 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Board's Report on the Land Revenue Administration of the Lower Provinces for the official year 1889-90.

The Director's Report of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal, for the year 1889-90.

Board's letter No. 630A, dated the 13th August 1890, submitting the latter.

Collections.

The moderate decrease of Rs. 10,277 in the revenue demand is more than accounted for by the fact that the owner of Jellamoota, who for many years declined to accept the settlement of his property, has done so at last, thereby becoming entitled to a sum of Rs. 58,344 a year for collection expenses, which is deducted from the income of Government. The current demand for land revenue, thus modified, amounted to Rs. 3,81,02,828, and there were arrears of Rs. 29,20,128; the collections were Rs. 3,86,65,822, and the balance uncollected, after remissions, was Rs. 22,60,785. The collections were comparatively good, being in excess of the regular income, and the best for ten years. Turning to the districts in which less was realized than 90 per cent. of the total demand, including arrears, it may be remarked that Chittagong is mainly managed as a Government estate, and in such instances it is found impossible altogether to prevent the occurrence of arrears; the payments were really satisfactory during the year, inasmuch as they exceeded the rental. In Pooree the apparent result seems to have been brought about by an error of account, which, the Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction, has since been corrected under the orders of the Board. As has been pointed out on a previous occasion, Collectors dealing with rent rolls compiled according to the Bengalee year, which ends in April, are not always sufficiently careful to exclude from the demand of the official year sums not due until after its clo e—a mistake which gives to their returns an unsatisfactory appearance, and by the inclusion of fictitious demands impedes supervision over real arrears. In Chumparunand Midnapore exceptional calamities afford a sufficient explanation, and there remains only the cases of Furreedpore and Patna, as to which a separate report should be made. It is not clear why the owners of permanently-settled estates at Patna are more dilatory in payment than proprietors elsewhere, and the reference to pending settlements in Furreedpore is scarcely borne out by the figures given in Appendix X. Collections have been to some degree facilitated by the general adoption of the system of remittance by money-orders, of which 139,535 were issued during the year for an aggregate sum of over eleven lakhs.

Government estates.

2. The collections of the year on Government estates were good, being 104 per cent. on the current demand, and the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the remissions made on a liberal scale in Majnamoota on account of floods. This estate apparently accounts for the large uncollected balances in the Midnapore district. It is not the property of Government, but managed until the proprietor thinks fit to imitate the owner of Jellamoota by accepting settlement.

Operation of the sale laws.

3. Out of 159,852 estates on the roll 13,656 estates or shares in estates became liable to sale during the year, and 1,273 were actually sold, the others being exempted, in almost every instance on account of the payment of revenue after the latest day fixed for that purpose, but on or before the day of sale. This practice of exemption requires regulation, too much being at present left to the discretion of individual Collectors, who have very little to guide them. The subject has been under the special consideration of Government during the year, and a Bill has been framed and circulated for opinion which has for one of its objects the framing of conditions under which payments made after the latest day of payment and before the day of sale may be received. The number of cases in which sales were annulled on appeal is 30, and this seems to the Lieutenant-Governor somewhat large. If Collectors observed due diligence in seeing before sale that the simple preliminaries clearly prescribed by law had been complied with, such reversals, which introduce an element of uncertainty into the whole procedure, would be very exceptional. The Board may with advantage take measures to secure that due notice shall be taken of any case in which a Collector may fail to conduct a sale according to law, thereby giving reasonable grounds for setting it aside on appeal.

Certificate procedure.

4. The working of the Public Demands Recovery Act, by which claims of the State other than those for land revenue are realized, was somewhat more satisfactory than in the previous year, inasmuch as fewer certificates were filed, more were executed, and the balance left pending was considerably reduced. The great majority of the certificates, as many as 72,224, were on account of the demand for road and public works cesses under Bengal Act IX of 1880—a demand as fixed and well known as that for the regular land revenue—and in nearly all such cases the default must have been wilful. It is where the procedure is used to recover a rent not fixed by any public authority that the greatest care is requisite in its working. In such instances the Collector or other officer issuing the certificate should always satisfy himself before so doing that there is satisfactory evidence as to the validity of the demand. This precaution is particularly required in the case of claims made by Managers for rent alleged to be due to Court of Wards' estates, where such rents have not been authoritatively fixed and recorded. It should be ascertained in regard to each estate, before the issue of certificates, that the accounts have been so kept as to prove that sums shown by them as due are really demandable under the law.

Settlements and records of rights.

5. The Board and the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture notice the inconvenience of the present system of reporting on settlement work according to the financial year, the natural period being that adopted for road cess purposes, that is, the year commencing with the cold weather on the 1st November. On this head a separate expression of opinion will be solicited. Now that very important settlements are being dealt with, it is desirable to make all subsidiary arrangements as perfect as may be possible. The larger settlements are supervised by the Director, who observes :—

"There were 83 estates,* containing an area of 7,285 square miles, in 20 separate districts, under survey and settlement operations during the year. Of these, 51 are Government estates, with an area of 4,294 square miles, of which a resettlement of land revenue is being made; 9 are wards' estates, with a total area of 2,868 square miles, of which a survey, with a record of rights and settlement of fair rents, has been undertaken; and 23 are private zemindars' estates, with an area of 123 square miles, the owners of which applied for survey, record of rights, and settlement of rents, either on the ground of disputes existing between them and their tenants, or on the ground that they were new auction-purchasers and unable to ascertain the amounts of the rentals payable to them."

"It will be observed that survey and settlement operations under the Bengal Tenancy Act have extended over a vast area, comprising Government, wards' and private estates, in many districts and in every division in which the Act is in force; that these operations have affected a large number of tenants, aggregating at least four hundred thousand; that an increase of rent and revenue amounting to more than a lakh of rupees has been actually obtained, with the consent of the raiyats concerned, in the estates of which settlement has been completed or is approaching completion, yet in no single case has any rioting or disorder been reported, nor has anything like opposition of a formidable character been experienced. The number of appeals to the Special Judges from the decisions of Settlement Officers, compared with the number of such decisions, was exceedingly small. It may therefore, I think, be said that the anticipations of those who thought that these operations would lead to confusion and disorder have been wholly falsified by events. The cost of the professional survey operations has in some cases been in excess, and the cost of the settlement operations has been generally less than was estimated. On the whole, the cost has been about 8 annas per acre. Where highly-paid and efficient officers like Mr. Collin have been in charge of the operations, they ultimately cost less than where, as in some of the wards' estates in Dinagepore, lowly-paid and inefficient officers were employed. The status was recorded and the rents were settled of 171,647 tenants, of whom 5,604 are cultivating tenure and under-tenure-holders, 1,503 were recorded as raiyats at fixed rates, 102,727 as settled raiyats, 3,363

* The word "estates" is here used in the sense of separate properties, not in the technical sense, according to which every area, with a separate towjee number, is an estate. Each of these properties includes many "estates" in the latter sense as settled but non-occupancy raiyats, 20,894 as non-occupancy raiyats, and 37,556 as under-raiyats. These figures show that the number of—

Tenure and undertenure-holders is ...	3	per cent. of the whole.

The Board, in forwarding this report, after commenting on the magnitude of the surveys in progress, observe that they have no means of testing their thoroughness, and indicate that in their opinion time alone can show whether the work has been adequately done. In Sir Stewart Bayley's opinion it is quite within the power of the Board to render their own control and supervision adequate for all purposes, but if the law or rules are found to be practically deficient in this respect, he will be glad to consider any suggestion which the Board may have to make on the subject. That the work and responsibility falling on the Director in the supervision of these numerous settlements is very onerous, admits of no more doubt, than does the ability and industry which he brings to bear on the work, but in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion it would be well if the Member in charge could find time occasionally to inspect on the spot the work of settlement in some of the larger estates, and by this means keep a close touch with the work of the department.

Embankments.

6. Under this head the Board observe—

"In Bankoora an embankment was constructed during the year in the Government estates Pithaipore and Rajarbari, to protect them from the floods of the river Darkessur, at a cost of Rs. 2,060. The Bhagirathi embankment in Moorshedabad was breached during the year at a place called Rampal, 4 miles above Lalitakuri, and the results were serious. The breach was caused by malicious cutting. Much damage was also caused by a breach at Bairamgunge, also the result of deliberate mischief. In Chittagong a sum of Rs. 5,849 was spent on the Kutubdia embankment in turfing the new banks put up last year."

The subject has heretofore been dealt with in the annual revenue reports somewhat cursorily, and the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad if the Board would pay special attention to the matter next year. The question whether existing embankments should be retained, or new works of the kind constructed, is literally of vital importance in many districts, and more especially in Midnapore. The first effect of an embankment made with any judgment is almost invariably good, as it protects crops from destruction and villages from grave inconvenience; but in the course of years other consequences ensue, the embanked river rises in its bed owing to alluvial deposits, while the surrounding country remains, behind the embankment, at the old level, with the result that the normal height of the rising water is eventually above that of the adjacent fields, and the river becomes annually less and less capable of carrying its flood waters. This is a most dangerous position, as not only are floods under such circumstances very destructive if any breach occurs, but the water they bring will not flow off, and the fields remain submerged until, after a lengthened period, they are dried up by the slow action of evaporation. The subject has engaged the anxious attention of Sir Steuart Bayley, and, indeed, few matters are at present more pressing.

Land acquisition.

7. The Board state that 4,448 acres of land were acquired during the year at a cost of Rs. 17,48,683, and subject to an abatement of Rs. 1,122 a year revenue. The report gives other details, but does not deal with such questions as the supervision necessary to check the irritating and expensive delays which often occur in land acquisition proceedings, the difficulties which have arisen in assessing the value of the land taken up, and how these difficulties have been dealt with. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad if in future reports the Board will pay special attention to these points.

Working of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

8. The Board observe that, "judging from the year's experience, the Act appears to have worked smoothly, and it may be remarked again that the flood of litigation which was foretold as likely to be one of the first results of the passing of the Act has happily not yet occurred." The sale of printed forms of receipt on the part of Government continues to be large, amounting to Rs. 12,87,625, although private presses issue the forms at cheaper rates and presumably do a much greater business. These figures indicate that much is being done in the direction of silently establishing a record of existing rents where all was previously in confusion. In illustration of the evils which this part of the Act is intended to remedy, the following account may be quoted of one large estate, on which a record of rights is being made at the request of the owner:—

"The Settlement Officer reports that the Rajah's zemindari papers were in such a state of disorder that it has been extremely difficult to ascertain facts The jama-wasil-baki papers, with some exceptions, show the rent of each holding in the village separately, but the ryots alleged that they made lump payments, though the lands comprised in their respective holdings lay scattered in two or more villages, and stated that the Rajah's gomastas or collecting agents granted them rent receipts accordingly. In ascertaining the existing rent with a view to the settlement of fair rents, it came to light that while a ryot cultivated no land in a village, a certain amount of rent was entered against his name in the jama-wasil-baki papers of that village; and, on the other hand, while a ryot did cultivate a certain area in a particular village, his name did not appear in the jama-wasil-baki of that village. The Settlement Officer has in numerous instances found that ryots cultivating land in one village have got their rents entered in another, and the confusion was made the greater by the absence of any record of mutation of holdings, subdivisions of tenancy, or distribution of rent in the Rajah's sherista. The result is that in many villages neither the names of ryots nor the amount of their rents, as entered in the zemindari papers, correspond with the entries in the khatians. The road cess papers of 1880, which, it was agreed, should be the basis for ascertaining the existing rents, were prepared from these zemindari papers, and consequently are incorrect It has therefore been a work of time and much labour to ascertain the correct rent payable by each ryot."

As many as 52 applications for settlements on private estates were made during the year, against 40 in 1888-89, and much useful work has been done in the direction of ascertaining and fixing rents. The only part of the Act to which general exception has been taken on the basis of actual experience of its operation is that which enables those transferring tenures to give notice of the transactions to their landlords, paying ceratin fees through the Courts, and the force of the objection made under this head has been much diminished during the year by the reduction in the number of such notices from 63,372 to 29,898. In dealing with agrarian questions in Chota Nagpore, Orissa and the Sonthal Pergunnahs, which are administered under special laws, the Lieutenant-Governor has had occasion to regret the absence of the powers conferred by the Bengal Tenancy Act in the rest of the Lower Provinces.

9. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to the Hon'ble Mr. Halliday for his excellent administration as Member of the Board during the year; to Messrs. Smith, Worsley, Lyall and Grimley, Commissioners, for good revenue work; to Mr. Finucane, Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, for the skill and discretion with which he has supervised very difficult settlement operations; to Mr. Edward Collin, who actually carried out the largest of these settlements. The work of the following Collectors and Deputy Commissioners has received the favourable notice of the Board:—

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE PATNA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 8th November, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Patna Division for the year 1889-90.

This report has been prepared under disadvantageous circumstances, as Mr. Kemble, by whom it is submitted, was not in charge of the division during any part of the period to which it relates; while of the reporting Collectors, Mr. Bourdillon, of Chupra, is the only one who held that office for the greater portion of the year.

Tours.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely approves of the plan on which the tours were conducted. As stated by the Commissioner, the Collectors were constantly moving about, and went out from head-quarters, even in the hot and rainy seasons, when their presence was required in the interior. They all seem to have found more or less that long, continuous rounds of inspection were not possible, as appeals, municipal and excise matters, land revenue and treasury questions, and other duties constantly demanded their attention at the sudder station. Indeed, under existing circumstances it is by no means desirable that Collectors' tours should generally be continuous, or should take the old form of a slow progress in camp. The objections to a system of government by orders from head-quarters without local enquiries or inspection are as strong as ever; but the means by which the necessary communication between a district officer and the inhabitants of the various towns and villages in his jurisdiction should be kept up must vary with the altered conditions of the present day. Among subdivisional officers, Mr. Mackertich, of Sasseram, was only 80 days on tour, Baboo Radha Madhub Bose, of Bhabuah, only 70 days, the explanation given in the former case being heavy current work, in the latter sickness. The Lieutenant-Governor will ascertain whether the consent of the District Collector had been obtained to the curtailment of the tours on these grounds. The prescribed period in the case of subdivisional officers having been reduced by recent orders, it is unsatisfactory to find that it is not in every instance observed.

Material condition of the people.

3. The question whether the normal condition of the working classes in Behar can be considered satisfactory has recently been examined by this Government in a special report, and need not be discussed here. The special circumstances of the year 1889-90 were unfavourable, as prices were high, the harvest of the previous season was bad, and, except in Chumparun, fever was prevalent. Wages are returned as having risen in the district of Durbhunga, and the Commissioner considers that there was an upward tendency elsewhere, though this does not appear in the tabular statements. Indeed, the Commissioner might with advantage test these returns generally, as they do not seem altogether worthy of trust, and the system of entering a daily rate for some districts, a monthly rate for others, is objectionable: there is always a doubt whether the daily rate refers to men hired for odd jobs, and therefore receiving somewhat more than those in regular employment.

Scarcity and relief.

4. Mr. Kemble hardly notices the scarcity which affected a part of the division or the measures of relief adopted, though these constituted the characteristic features of the year's administration. Almost the only reference to the subject consists in a quotation of the views of Mr. Bourdillon and Mr. Grierson, that the high prices of the season were artificially caused by combination among the mahajans, and an opinion expressed by the latter Collector that a mistake was made in preventing local officers from endeavouring to lower prices by threatening to import rice on behalf of Government. Some local and temporary effect may probably have been produced by such combinations, presumably with the result of lowering prices in the end, just as much as they were raised at first; but the Lieutenant-Governor cannot believe that the rise in prices through Behar generally was so caused, for it was the natural result of the failure of a portion of the crops, it was spread over the whole country, and it proved permanent. The first impulse of popular opinion is always to attribute the enhanced price of grain to the wickedness of the dealers, particularly where there has been no very marked local deficiency in the harvest; but such views must always be regarded with much suspicion. And it is highly dangerous to influence the market at the commencement of a scarcity by threatening to import grain on the part of Government. Such a proceeding would doubtless lower prices temporarily, as Mr. Grierson says he proved by experience before the issue of Government orders prohibiting all measures of this kind; but by lowering local prices the Collector stops the importation of the grain necessary to supply the deficiency in his district, and the people are thus left with an inadequate supply of food.

Manufactures and commerce.

5. The outturn of indigo is entered as 55,437 maunds, which is below the average. The opium yield was also deficient. It is not stated how the information given as to the quantity manufactured in the case of sugar, saltpetre, tobacco, paper, blankets, and silk was obtained, and these returns are always of very uncertain value. The statistics of trade, also, must be taken as approximate only, except those relating to Nepal, which were arrived at by actual registration on the frontier. As to these the Commissioner remarks that—

"The increase is most noticeable under the exports, as I find that the quantity of food-grains, pulses, &c., and the number of hides, small skins, and cattle of sorts which left the country this year is nearly double what was reported last year. It is remarkable that, notwithstanding the increase in the export of food-grains, the quantity imported also increased. There is a large decrease in exportation under the table of 'things valued,' due to the absence of an important item of diamonds, valued at Rs. 30,10,000. Silver also fell from Rs. 9,24,866 to Rs. 3,72,000. This of course is a special case. Owing to political changes some of the rich members of society probably found it expedient in the year 1888 to remove their valuables to British India.

"The value of clothing imported into the country fell last year to Rs. 15,47,074 from Rs. 22,43,952. To make up for this there was a large increase under head 'Other things.' One item of imports, 120,000 bricks, entered last year is not found in the returns this year."

Police and crime.

6. The year was marked by some increase in cognizable offences, the returns showing 28,383 cases in the calendar year 1889, against 25,575 in 1888. The excess is attributed to the high prices current at the beginning of 1889. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to find that the Commissioner and Magistrates deprecate the prosecution under section 211, Indian Penal Code, of those who wilfully bring false cases against others, on account of the time which such proceedings occupy, the uncertainty of their result, and on the allegation that the only harm done by most of these false cases is that they give unnecessary trouble to the police. False accusations frequently cause, and are almost always intended to cause, great injury to the persons named or indicated as accused, and no pains requisite for the purpose can be too great to suppress a practice which does so much harm and brings so much discredit upon the administration. It is not, however, necessary to rely wholly upon prosecutions for discountenancing such charges: every improvement in the magistracy and the police which renders investigation more prompt and efficient, or brings superior judgment to bear on the evidence tendered, has its effect in deterring the malicious from the attempt to use the forms of justice as a means for indulging their private malice. False charges will always be most numerous where the authorities are least able to discriminate them from true.

Matters connected with land.

7. The collection of the land revenue, including the rent on Government estates, was not satisfactory, amounting to 93·8 per cent. on the total demand, and the deficiency was greatest in Patna, which is not a district classified as suffering from scarcity during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Commissioner will give his particular attention to the subject. His remark that the system adopted in Sarun of refusing to accept land revenue after the latest day fixed, where default has become habitual, entails hardship "if the towji accounts are not very accurately kept" is not understood. There should not be, and it is believed there is not, any inaccuracy whatever in the towji accounts. On this subject a special report will be requested. The system of transmitting revenue by postal money-order, Mr. Kemble states, "is increasing in popularity, the sum remitted being Rs. 2,63,269 by 25,832 orders: in the preceding year Rs. 1,45,897 were remitted by 25,832 orders." In regard to the relation between landlord and tenant, the Commissioner reports three disputes, two of which are being settled by the special procedure for survey and record of rights provided in the Bengal Tenancy Act, while the third should, in his opinion, be settled in the same way. He also refers to unfavourable mention of the working of the bhaoli system in Gya. "Looking at all these reports," he observes, "I can find nothing which would justify me in reporting that the relations between landlord and tenant were unsatisfactory. I do not think that we ought to look for less selfishness in a Gya zemindar than we find among the rest of mankind." It is evident that the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act has not been followed, as was anticipated in some quarters, by the disturbance of the outward quiet which has generally characterised the relations of the various agricultural classes in Behar, and it is doubtless gradually preparing the way for a better system by introducing a record of the amount of rent due in each case, and affording protection to both landlord and tenant. But it has been proposed to make this remedy more speedy and complete in its operation by a general survey and record of rights in the division wherever rents are at present uncertain, as they seem to be nearly everywhere. The proposal was postponed last year on account of the failure of crops, and its adoption in the near future is now under the consideration of Government.

Education.

8. In the number of schools and of students there has been some increase, and female schools in particular have multiplied from 203 to 236, and their students from 3,569 to 3,995. The Lieutenant-Governor is also glad to observe that more Mahomedan boys are now under instruction. In Sarun Mahomedan students have almost doubled during the last nine years.

District and Local Boards, Municipalities, and Zemindars.

9. Mr. Kemble reports well regarding all the District Boards in his division. He writes:—

"The members take an intelligent interest in whatever subjects are laid before them at meetings, and in some districts, especially Sarun and Durbhunga, have worked well on sub-committees—auditing accounts, preparing bye-laws, supervising the plans and estimates of the District Engineer, and in looking after the schools. I may apply the words of Mr. Bourdillon to all the districts, and state that the functions of the Boards in their corporate capacity are merely confirmatory, consultative and legislative, and in discharging those duties and serving on sub-committees they render the district officer much help. More than this cannot be expected of them. In no district, however, do they take any very active part in executive matters, which are, as a rule, left to the Chairman and District Engineer. Where Europeans are numerous, however, much assistance is rendered in keeping up the roads.

"Though the District Boards cannot be pronounced a great success, they are not a failure. As time goes on, it is to be hoped that they will not leave executive matters so much to their Chairman, and that they will exercise more and more real control over the expenditure of the funds entrusted to them.

"The example set by some of the indigo-planters is sure to work good.

"The Durbhunga Board seems to have been doing some good work. The remark made about one Board in the division, that it should be happy because it has no history, applies generally to the others."

In Chupra, with Mr. Bourdillon as Chairman, much progress has been made in the direction of efficient municipal management, but the account given of the working of municipalities in the division generally is not favourable indicating, as it does, that party spirit has in some instances been carried to an extent inconsistent with efficient administration, if not with the maintenance of the public peace. The Commissioner's remarks on this head will be further considered in the Municipal Department of this Government.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the Commissioner's reference to the good work done by the Planters Association in settling quarrels between the planters and their ryots. The existence of this Association is a source of safety to the peace of the district, and is of material assistance to the Government.

11. Sir Steuart Bayley has to acknowledge the justice of the complaint made by the Commissioner of Patna in common with most other Commissioners as to the inadequacy of the staff to cope with the increasing work of the districts. He trusts that when the next provincial contract is settled it will be found possible to remedy to some extent the unquestioned dearth of officers.

12. The thanks of this Government are given to Mr. Boxwell for his administration of the division during the year, and in particular for the energy with which, assisted for a time by Mr. Henry, he discharged the onerous duties imposed on him by the distress in North Behar. In Mr. Beadon the Government has lost a most zealous and devoted officer, whose premature death is deeply regretted by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Collectors generally, including several who officiated for short periods only, did so well that it is almost invidious to select any for special mention, but the names of Mr. Quinn, Mr. Grierson, Mr. Power, and Mr. Bourdillon cannot be altogether passed over. The remarks of the Commissioner under this head will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

No. 198T—Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT

RESOLUTION.

Dated Darjeeling, the 31st October 1890.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1889-90.

THE Administration Report of the Commissioners for the year which ended on the 31st of March last was not received by the Government until the 17th of this month. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that in future years the Commissioners will be able to arrange for the more punctual submission of this report.

2. Excluding the advances made to the Commissioners by the Government in respect of the Kidderpore Dock Works, the gross debt of the Commissioners on the 31st of March 1890 amounted to Rs. 1,20,36,401, distributed as follows:—

The debt to Government was reduced during the year by Rs. 1,29,534, and for the repayment of the debenture loans a sum of Rs. 1,24,000 was set aside, making the total amount at credit of the sinking fund account on the 31st of March 1890 Rs. 6,51,000.

4. On the 31st of March 1890 the advances received from the Government on account of the Kidderpore Dock Works amounted to Rs. 1,73,39,038. On the same date the expenditure on these works had reached Rs. 1,70,65,321. Towards the close of the year the Government received from the Commissioners a revised estimate of the cost of constructing the Tidal Basin and Dock No. 1. This estimate amounted to Rs. 2,53,38,737, and it has been raised by the Government of India to Rs. 2,64,01,605 on the assumption that the Docks will not be completed and earning revenue until the commencement of 1892-93. The accidents which have recently happened on the works will necessitate additional expenditure, but the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Docks will be completed before the end of next year, and that the total expenditure will not exceed the estimate as revised by the Government of India.

5. In February last the Government appointed a Committee to consider and advise on the arrangements to be adopted for the working of goods traffic into and out of Calcutta after the completion of the Kidderpore Docks. Owing, however, to the inability of the Commissioners to furnish information asked for by the Committee, the enquiry could not be completed. On receipt of the Committee's preliminary report, the Commissioners were called on, in a letter dated the 1st of May last, to furnish the Government with an estimate—

(a) of the annual charges which will have to be met by the Port Trust after the completion of the docks; and

(b) of the revenue that will be obtained in respect of the several services which the Trust will perform after the completion of the Docks, and from any other sources.

This estimate has not yet been submitted. When it is received, the Committee will be asked to resume its deliberations.

6. The year 1889-90 opened with a balance of Rs. 2,86,308. The receipts during the year amounted to Rs. 26,82,730. The expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 25,90,391, including Rs. 2,24,689 credited to the sinking funds and Rs. 96,276 spent on new works. The year closed with a credit balance of Rs. 3,78,647.

7. The receipts on capital account during the year amounted to Rs. 1,89,000, including an opening balance of Rs. 14,883 and the sum of Rs. 96,276 contributed from revenue, the balance having been taken from depreciation funds. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 1,83,302, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 5,698.

8. Materials and stores to the value of £27,826-9-6 were procured by the Commissioners from England during the year through their Agent in London, and contracts to the value of Rs. 1,72,743-12-9 were made locally for materials and works. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that flooring stones, estimated to cost about Rs. 2,40,000, are being obtained from the British India Steam Navigation Company, but that no formal contract has been made, as the stores are supplied according to indents received from time to time. His Honour is of opinion that this arrangement should have been embodied in a formal contract and submitted for the sanction of the Government.

9. The receipts at the jetties amounted to Rs. 11,73,907, being Rs. 33,977 over those of the previous year; but the increase of revenue was derived entirely from the petroleum wharf, where the receipts amounted to Rs. 1,58,940. There was a considerable falling off in the receipts from exports, which were less than those realized in any year since 1881-82. The jetties were not worked at their full power. In 1887-88 the number of vessels berthed was 232, and the average length of their stay at the jetties was 9·9 days. Last year only 203 vessels were berthed, and they occupied the jetties on an average for 10 days each.

10. The imports of petroleum have increased. Last year 3,726,670 cases were imported as compared with 2,380,652 cases in the previous year. The Batoum oil, of which 534,880 cases were imported in 1888-89, does not appear to have found favour with consumers Some of this oil which was imported in January 1889 still remained at the depôt on the 31st of March 1890. There were no imports of Batoum oil in 1889-90.

11. At the close of the year the extension of the Eastern Bengal State Railway to Budge-Budge was completed. The construction of this line was undertaken by the Government on representations made by the Commissioners and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce of the danger to which the shipping in the port was exposed by the transport of petroleum by water from the depôt at Budge-Budge to the Calcutta and Howrah wharves. After the opening of the railway for traffic, the Commissioners, however, advised that it was unnecessary to place any restrictions on the transport of petroleum by water within the limits of the port. The Lieutenant-Governor is unable to reconcile the views now held by the Commissioners with those put forward by them and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce when they advocated the construction of the line or with the experience of the past, and the question of placing restrictions on the transport of petroleum by water is still under consideration. The Petroleum Act, 1886, and the rules made under it have come into force since the close of the year.

12. The total quantity of tea brought into Calcutta during the year was 101 million pounds, of which 30 million pounds passed through the tea warehouse built by the Commissioners. The receipts from the warehouse amounted to Rs. 76,455, including a sum of Rs. 17,542 which was realized by letting out the ground-floor for storing piece-goods and grain. The improvement in the receipts is satisfactory, but the tea warehouse, which, excluding the value of the site on which it stands, cost Rs. 8,51,010, has not yet become a financial success.

13. In the Harbour Master's Department, although the number of vessels which came to the port was less than in the previous year, the receipts from mooring hire show an increase of Rs. 17,931. This increase is due to the fact that many sailing vessels made long stays in port with the object of getting better freights. The Commissioners' steam-vessels earned Rs. 13,214 by towing vessels within the limits of the port.

14. There were nine accidents to vessels in charge of Assistant Harbour Masters, for seven of which the officers concerned were more or less to blame. None of the accidents caused very serious damage, and the result of the year's working compares favourably with that of the previous year.

15. Since the close of the year, special rules for the port of Calcutta have been made under the Explosives Act, 1884.

16. The total number of surveys made by the Engineer and Shipwright-Surveyor, including surveys of vessels belonging to the Commissioners, was 254, of which 229 were surveys of vessels and 25 of boilers and condensers on emigrant vessels. The fees levied in respect of these surveys did not cover the expenses incurred in making them. Since the close of the year the Commissioners have been relieved of the duties connected with the survey of vessels under the several Acts relating to merchant shipping, and a revised scale of fees has been adopted which is calculated to cover the expenses of making the surveys.

17. During the year 5,886 cargo boats and 1,532 passenger boats were surveyed and licensed, the total amount realized being Rs. 29,731, including Rs. 6,957 from fines for breaches of port rules. The expense of surveying these boats was under Rs. 10,000; but when, in 1879, the duty of licensing them was transferred to the Commissioners, it was arranged, with the approval of the Government, that the fees charged would be fixed so as to bring in a sum sufficient to carry on the work efficiently and to contribute the sum of Rs. 12,000 a year towards the maintenance of the river police force. The receipts now afford a margin over and above this contribution; but, in view of the changes that may result on the opening of the Kidderpore Docks, the margin is not so large as to call for any reduction in the fees at present.

18. The receipts from the tramways amounted to Rs. 3,02,022 against Rs. 3,26,697 in the previous year, showing a falling off of Rs. 24,675. On the other hand there was an increase of Rs. 5,846 in expenditure, which amounted to Rs. 1,99,442 against Rs. 1,93,596 in the previous year. After providing Rs. 50,354 for interest on the capital expenditure incurred on the tramway, the net revenue derived by the Commissioners from this source amounted to Rs. 1,02,580 against Rs. 1,33,101 in the previous year. The falling off in the gross receipts was due to the decline in the export of grain and pulses.

19. Towards the close of the year it was brought to the notice of the Government that the charges levied by the Commissioners for the carriage of goods on their tramways were not, as required by the "Calcutta Port Improvement Act, 1870," in accordance with a scale approved by the Lieutenant-Governor. After some correspondence with the Commissioners, they were, in a letter dated the 30th of June last, furnished with the views of the Government of India and requested to frame and submit, in accordance with the provisions of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890," for the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, a scale of all the charges to be made for the conveyance of goods by their tramway, due regard being had, in framing the scale, to the provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890. The Government has not yet received this scale from the Commissioners. The Government of India has expressed the opinion that there are grave objections to higher maximum rates being levied on the Port Commissioners' tramway for through traffic than have been fixed for commercial railways generally. The charges now levied, giving as they do a large surplus revenue, are very high, and they will have to be reduced in accordance with the principles laid down by the Government of India.

20. The expenditure of the year on surveying, buoying, and lighting the approaches to the port amounted to Rs. 4,98,424. The average annual expenditure on the port approaches during the past five years has been Rs. 4,93,558. The port approaches department has no income of its own, and the expenditure of the past year was met from the following sources:—

		Rs.
Contribution from	jetties	2,70,000
Ditto	inland vessels' wharves	25,000
Ditto	strand bank lands	65,000
Ditto	Harbour Master's department ...	50,000
Ditto	tramway	75,000
	Total ...	4,85,000

With the opening of the Kidderpore Docks it will be impossible to continue to make some of these contributions, and the question of how the expenditure on the port approaches should be met will receive further consideration when the estimate referred to in paragraph 5 of this Resolution is received from the Commissioners.

21. No changes of any great importance occurred in the river channels during the year. The establishment maintained for the survey of the river carried out its duties efficiently.

22. All the light-houses and light-vessels on the coast of Bengal were inspected towards the close of the year by the Engineer appointed by the Government of India to inspect and report on all Indian light-houses. The Engineer's report has recently been received and is now under the consideration of the Government. The lights of the approaches to the port of Calcutta require some small alterations, but are generally efficient. Mr. Douglass recommends that a light-house should be erected on the coast below False Point at the mouth of the Davy river. The advisability of having a light in this position had already engaged the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the question will now be again considered.

23. The Calcutta Port Act, 1890, consolidating the several Acts relating to the Port Trust, came into force on the 1st day of June 1890. Under it the Commission is composed of a Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and five Commissioners who are appointed by the Government, five Commissioners elected by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, one by the Calcutta Trades' Association, one by the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta, and one by such body as the Government may select as best representing the interests of the native mercantile community. The Bengal National Chamber of Commerce has been recognised as the body best representing those interests.

24. During the year the Commissioners submitted, at the request of the Government, a draft of revised port rules under the Indian Ports Act, 1890. A legal difficulty has arisen affecting some of the most important of the rules, and they are still under consideration.

25. The thanks of the Government are due to the Commissioners for their successful management of the affairs of the Trust during the year. The Commissioners have, as in former years, had at their disposal ample resources, and while the charges made are in some cases high, the facilities which they have provided have met most of the wants of the trade of the port. With the opening of the Kidderpore Docks those facilities will be largely increased, but at the same time the charges which the Trust will have to meet will be enhanced in a corresponding degree. The construction of the Kidderpore Docks was sanctioned on the recommendations made by a Joint Committee of the Port Commissioners and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce in 1883. At that time the trade of Calcutta had shown signs of rapid expansion, and the majority of the mercantile community urged on the Government the advisability of permitting the Port Commissioners to carry out their proposals for providing increased facilities for the shipping. The subjoined table of the departures of sea-going vessels from Calcutta during the past 11 years shows that the expansion has not been so rapid as had been anticipated, and that during the past two years there has been a slight falling off:—

The Lieutenant-Governor hopes and believes that the check which the trade of the port of Calcutta has sustained is only temporary, but the present conditions require that rigid economy should be observed in administering the affairs of the port, and that the burdens should be distributed in an equitable manner, so that every branch of trade may have the opportunity of expanding without being subjected to restrictions of an artificial kind.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER 1890.

Meteorology of the month.—Up to the end of September weather conditions were still being controlled by the depression which had formed in the Bay off the Circars, and after moving into Central India had changed its direction and moved to the north-east over Bengal. The general rainfall practically ceased at the end of that month, and as the pressure distribution had became very uniform and tended to become relatively high at Bengal stations as compared with that at those on the coast, the monsoon current became very weak, and rainfall was almost entirely absent during the first ten days of October. After the sky cleared temperature increased rapidly, and dry westerly winds blew over the whole province as far as the borders of Assam on the 1st and 2nd. As easterly winds continued down the Assam valley the interaction seems to have been the cause of unsettled conditions, which first became apparent on the 3rd in the east of North Bengal and on the following day spread over almost the whole of Bengal. Thunderstorms with local falls of rain and a general fall of temperature occurred in North Bengal on the 2nd and 3rd, and in all districts except Chutia Nagpur and Behar on the 4th, while with the advance of the unsettled conditions winds changed from westerly to south-east and temperature underwent considerable variations. On the 5th the difference of pressure in the northern districts of Bengal from that in the south of the Bay was only a tenth of an inch, and as it began to increase in the east of Assam, the rise gradually extending in a south-westerly direction, the distribution underwent a change which by the 8th gave highest pressure in Bengal and lowest in the south of the Bay. These altered conditions were accompanied by fine weather with falling temperature and light northerly winds, but for a few days only, as a low-pressure area formed in the south of the Bay and advanced in a northerly direction so as to pass over the western districts of Bengal.

Cyclonic storm from the 8th to the 16th.—The low-pressure area was faintly noticeable on the 8th, in the relatively low pressure at Madras and Nellore and the indraught across the coast at the southern stations. The depression probably covered the greater part of the southern half of the Bay as the wind velocity at Diamond Island had increased from 4 to 12 miles an hour, and the direction being south-easterly, evidently belonged to a cyclonic circulation. There was very little change till the 11th, the depression deepening slowly, but apparently remaining diffused, while rainfall was very light along the west coast. On the 11th moderately heavy rain fell at all stations in the Circars and Orissa, pressure changed much more rapidly, specially at Coconada and Vizagapatam, and squally weather became general along the west coast. The centre of the depression was to the east of Coconada, moving in a north or north-westerly direction. On the 12th rainfall had increased varying from 2 to 4 inches in the Circars and Orissa, and it had extended to some of the inland stations of Western Bengal. The centre was then close to the coast between Vizagapatam and Gopalpur, but as it was moving almost due north, it did not cross the coast till the following morning. Gopalpur alone reported lower pressure (by ·037 inch), and as changes were elsewhere small, there was every appearance of the depression beginning to fill up. Wind velocity also favoured this conclusion, as the highest recorded during the storm was 31 miles an hour at Pooree on the 11th. It fell to 23 on the 12th and 14 on the 13th, after which there was a slight increase. The area of heavy rainfall kept steadily ahead of the centre of the disturbance, and on the 13th when it was near Gopalpur the heaviest fall in the Circars was ·85 inch, but in Orissa, False Point, and Pooree received between 4 and 5 inches, and moderate amounts were falling in South-West and East Bengal. On the 14th the area of lowest pressure covered the northern half of Orissa and the adjacent parts of South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, the lowest reading being 29 657 inches at Burdwan. Squally weather with very heavy rain prevailed in Lower Bengal, and also on the following day, though the depression was filling up As the centre moved northwards, pressure continued rising with great rapidity, and unusually heavy rain fell in North Bengal on the 15th and 16th. After this pressure was above 30 inches except in Lower Bengal, and readings about a twentieth of an inch above the normal. Showers continued to fall, but weather was rapidly clearing.

It may be noted that the rainfall accompanying this storm, especially during the earlier part of its existence, was almost entirely in front of the area of lowest pressure.

Fine weather prevailed till the 20th, when the second depression of the month began to appear to the east of the centre of the Bay. A south-easterly wind was blowing at Diamond Island, and velocity for the previous day was 14 miles an hour, while at 8 a.m. it was 24 miles. These strong winds continued on the 21st; when the depression had moved to the north and was covering the northern half of the Bay. Meanwhile fine clear weather with a few local showers was general in Bengal, and northerly winds were blowing in Arakan, Bengal, and Orissa.

The storm proved to be of very local influence, and as it moved over the Sunderbuns and East Bengal, gave squally weather and moderate rain only in the near neighbourhood of its centre. On the 23rd the centre was near Furreedpore which received three inches, while the falls at Jessore and Dacca were about 2 inches. On the 24th it was diffused and shallow, but the wind circulation was cyclonic round a centre between Dacca and Serajgunge. On the 25th normal weather prevailed with northerly or north-westerly winds at all stations, and rapidly falling temperature. Till the end of the month similar weather continued with high pressure in the north and lowest in the extreme south of the Bay where conditions were unsettled.

Pressure.—At the beginning of the month the distribution was very uniform and above the normal by amounts varying from ·08 inch in the west of the province to rather less than ·05 inch at eastern stations. Up till the 5th there was a steady fall, then a moderate rise for two days, after which readings were very nearly normal. Considerable changes occurred during the existence of the storm, that is, from the 10th to the 16th; the rise being very rapid on the 15th and 16th, more especially in the western half of the province. On the 16th readings were over 30 inches at Sibsagar and Motihary, and on the 17th over almost the whole province, the exceptions being in South-West and East Bengal. During the latter half of the month changes were generally small. While the small depression was moving over East Bengal, the largest fall was about a tenth of an inch, and this was followed by a brisk rise. The means for the month rarely differ from the normal by more than a few thousandths of an inch.

Temperature—Has frequently been below the normal, and means are largely in defect—for Chutia Nagpur by 1·6°, North Bengal 1·4°, South-West Bengal and South Behar 1°, Assam ·9°, Orissa and East Bengal ·5°, and North Behar ·3°. There was excess of between 1° and 3° at the beginning of the month, and the general tendency up to the 10th was to keep slightly above the normal. While the heavy rain was falling, day temperatures were very low, and means for the period between the 10th and 17th were below the normal by amounts ranging up to 3·8° in North Bengal. From the 17th till the end of the month comparatively cool weather prevailed, defect averaging more than 1° in all districts except Orissa, where there was excess of about 1° during the last few days.

Rainfall.—Showers fell on the 4th and 5th, and again on the 23rd and 24th, but almost the whole rainfall of the month was received between the 9th and 17th. During these days, however, the falls were unusually heavy, first in Orissa and afterwards in South-West, East and North Bengal, so that the mean falls for the large divisions are all above the normal except that for Chutia Nagpur, which is deficient by nearly one inch. The mean fall for North Bengal is 12·3 inches, or 8 inches in excess; for Orissa 9 inches or 2 84 inches in excess; and for South-West Bengal 8·07 inches, or 3·74 inches in excess The falls for the other divisions are East Bengal 6·92, South Behar 3·78, North Behar 3·59, and Chutia Nagpur 2·07 inches.

The following table gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall and the normal rainfall of the province up to the end of October in the same form as has been employed in the previous monthly abstracts of the present year. The figures represent the ratio of the rainfall of each month of the present year to the normal rainfall expressed as a percentage. The table thus gives a condensed summary of the rainfall data of the year for each meteorological division. The first ten columns give the percentage amount of rainfall received in each month, and the last column the percentage rainfall of the whole period from the 1st of January to the end of October. It will be seen that there is excess of 34 per cent. in North Bengal, 28 in North Behar, and 23 in South Behar, while Chutia Nagpur and East Bengal have received less than the normal:—

The area of deficient rainfall lies almost entirely in the west of the province, including the whole of Chutia Nagpur and of Behar with the exception of Purneah and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. The difference from the normal in the former is about half an inch in all districts except Hazaribagh and Lohardugga, where, as in Behar, defect amounts are generally over 2 inches. The largest defect is in Chittagong, being 4·5 at Cox's Bazar, 3·25 at Rangamati, and 2·4 inches at Ruma. Parts of Burdwan, Hooghly, and Dacca received deficient rainfall by about 1 inch. Very heavy falls were registered in the south of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, excess at Jamtara being 15·22, at Nya Doomka 8·47, and at Pakour 7·74 inches; but in Purneah and Chumparun excess was only 2 or 3 inches except at Kissongunge, where it was over 10 inches. In South-West and East Bengal excess was very irregular and ranged up to 12·7 inches at Saugor Island, but as a rule it was between 2 and 3 inches. In the north of East Bengal and in North Bengal it ranged from 5 to 15 inches, and in the latter was at many places between 8 and 10 inches. Actual falls were under 2 inches in Chutia Nagpur except Manbhoom, and in the western half of South Behar: between 2 and 5 inches in the western half of the province except Orissa and parts of South-West Bengal: and between 5 and 10 inches in Orissa, the greater part of South-West Bengal and East Bengal, except the Sunderbuns and a narrow strip along the Bengal and Orissa coasts, where they were over 10 inches, and at Contai and Saugor Island over 20 inches. At many stations in the Sonthal Pergunnahs falls were over 10 inches, and in North Bengal between 10 and 20 inches.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of October in all districts of the province. The figures are obtained in the manner explained in previous monthly summaries. The first column gives the average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual weighted rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in the district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal as a percentage, and the fourth the same information in a slightly different form:—

* Means of five days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the last

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 7ht of November 1890.

CALCUTTA, the 11*th November* 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 7TH OF NOVEMBER 1890.

WEATHER conditions in the south of the Bay have been unsettled during almost the whole week in consequence of the low pressure which has obtained there from day to day. The effect of this slight disturbance has been felt in the north of the Bay and in parts of Bengal and Orissa, especially the latter, where skies have been overcast and moderately heavy general rain has fallen. At the end of the previous week the depression, which appeared to be approaching the Madras coast, became more diffused, owing to the fall of pressure in the north of the Bay, and the squally weather subsided; but about the middle of the present week there was a further slight intensification, and this kept up the moist and cloudy weather over the whole Bay and Lower Bengal. Squalls again increased in force in the south of the Bay, especially in the Circars, where heavy rain was falling; but, as before, the disturbance failed to concentrate, and disappeared without a definite depression having crossed the coast. Cool clear weather prevailed in the northern districts of Bengal with occasional very light showers, and though considerable amounts of cloud were reported from the stations in the southern districts fine though moist weather was generally experienced, except on Saturday, the 1st of November, when light showers fell in South-West Bengal and heavier ones in Orissa and Chittagong. The rainfall continued in the south of Orissa till the end of the week, and in Chittagong for two or three days. As pressure has been highest in the northern districts and diminished towards the low-pressure area in the south of the Bay, steady light northerly winds continued till the 7th, when directions were more irregular.

Pressure—Has undergone the usual small oscillations, but has been always above the normal. Mean excess varies from ·03 inch in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, to ·07 inch at a few of the more northern stations.

Temperature—Has been very nearly normal in Orissa, slightly above in parts of South-West Bengal, North Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, and considerably below elsewhere. The lowest minimum temperatures were registered in Behar in the early part of the week, in South-West Bengal on the 5th, and elsewhere on the 6th and 7th. In the table below giving the weekly means at representative stations it will be seen that the day temperatures have been considerably below the normal at Darjeeling and Dacca, but that elsewhere the defect has occurred chiefly at night. The mean for North Behar is below the normal by 1·6°, for East Bengal by 1·4°, and for South Behar by ·7°, while for the other districts it is either normal or slightly below.

Rainfall has been chiefly confined to Orissa, but light showers fell in all districts, except North Behar, in the early part of the week. The average fall for Orissa is 1·42 inches, almost double the normal; for South-West, East and North Bengal about ·2 inch; for South Behar ·09 inch, and Chutia Nagpur ·02 inch. Defect in East Bengal is ·52 inch and in Chutia Nagpur ·12 inch. The continued showery weather in the south of Orissa is shown by the number of rainy days at Pooree being 6 with a total fall of 2·28 inches, and at False Point 4 with a total fall of 3·69 inches. The heaviest fall reported is 3·01 inches at Banki on the 1st.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently equal; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV. and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

D, dew.

N.B.—In the weekly report form 5th to 11th October 1890, read "76·8" for "86·8" as dew point of the 5th October 1890.

FITZROY RIVER.

Directions for No. 3 cutting.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 29 of 1890), issued by the Port Master, Brisbane, is re-published for general information :—

As the dredge Saurian has completed the first-half width of 100 feet of the above cutting (i.e., the up-stream or western half), giving a depth of 10 feet at low-water ordinary spring tides, after this date, and until the completion of the second-half of the cutting, the present line of leading beacons and lights will be shifted 50 feet up-stream, and paralell to the present line, or in the centre line of that part of the cutting just completed.

It will therefore be necessary for vessels passing up the river to leave the dredge on the starboard hand instead of the port hand, as at present. The dredge will be moored about 25 feet only above the line of lights, consequently vessels must be prepared to keep a little below, or on the line, and not get on the upper side of it.

TRINITY HARBOUR.

Directions for new cutting.

THE Port Master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 30 of 1890) that the new cutting into Trinity Harbour is now open for navigation. It is 200 feet wide, and is marked by six piles carrying square black beacons driven 50 feet from the edge on the eastern side of the cutting; the shoalest water in the cutting being 13 feet at low-water ordinary spring tides After passing through the cutting, the water gradually deepens from 3 to 5 fathoms, the depth at the anchorage off the wharves.

DIRECTIONS.

By Day.—After passing the Fairway buoy steer about S. S. W., keeping two white triangular beacons, which are erected on the masts on which the leading lights are exhibited, in line, which will carry in mid-cutting until within a ship's length of the outer leading light mast; then steer mid-stream until abreast the wharves, when a vessel may anchor in mid-channel in 4 to 5 fathoms of water.

By Night.—Two white leading lights and one red light are exhibited, which enable vessels to enter the Port and reach the wharves by night. The back light is at an elevation of 96 feet and the front light of 87 feet above high water, and are at a distance apart of 5,000 feet. The red light, which is at the wharves, is distant half-a-mile above the outer white light. When making for the Fairway buoy the two leading lights will be seen, which, when brought in line, will bear about S. S. W., and will lead in mid-cutting. Steer with the lights in line to within one to two ships' lengths of the outer light, when haul more to the eastward, keeping the red light, which is placed on the outer end of Burns, Philp and Company's wharf, on the starboard hand. When abreast of the red light a vessel may anchor in from 4 to 5 fathoms.

The old channel is still marked by seven black beacons on the port hand; and seven red beacons on the starboard hand.

A tide-gauge, showing the depth of water in the cutting, is placed on the outer pile marking the eastern side of the cutting.

READ—

Despatch from the Secretary of State for India, No. 45 (Statistics), dated the 15th May, 1890, and enclosures.

RESOLUTION.—In compliance with the representations made by the Government of India during the last ten years, Her Majesty's Government has repealed the duty on the importation of silver plate into the United Kingdom, repealing at the same time the duty on gold plate.

2. The Government of India has always coupled with its representations against the duty a proposal for the repeal of the requirement of compulsory assay and of a fixed English standard of fineness of metal, because the retention of those requirements prevented equal competition between manufacturers in India and manufacturers in England. This part of the proposals has not been complied with, and the English law of assay and hall-marking remains unaltered; but Her Majesty's Government has proposed to provide in a Bill to be introduced in Parliament that Indian silver ware bearing an Indian hall-mark affixed under the authority of the Government of India should be admitted into the United Kingdom without being subjected to the British hall-mark regulations, and the Secretary of State for India has invited an expression of the views of the Government of India on this subject. His Lordship suggests that, if a system of Indian hall-marking is adopted, it might be made voluntary and not compulsory, and enquires what standard of fineness should, with due regard to the practice of Indian silversmiths, be adopted for the Indian silver hall-mark.

3. The most serious difficulty hitherto in subjecting Indian goods to the English assay has been that the nature of that assay is such that the goods are materially injured in the process. Hence it is necessary to send the goods to the assay office in an unfinished condition, and after they have been marked to take them back to the workshop, and finish them for sale. This cannot be done with Indian ware, and therefore in the case of such ware intended for sale in England, it will be necessary, in order to ensure its admission to free competition with English goods, that, if assay is required, it should be made in this country. Another difficulty has been that the English standard is higher than the Indian (rupee) standard, but this will disappear with the admission of an Indian standard or standards.

4. The Government of India does not consider it possible to adopt any system of compulsory assay or hall-marking. No system of assay under Government regulation has ever been in operation in this country; it is not now desired by the trade in India, or by the purchasers of Indian gold and silver ware, and it would necessarily operate unequally and unfairly in a country of long distances, costly transit, and wide distribution of manufacture. Looking, however, to the stage which has been reached, it is desirable to obtain the opinions of the persons interested on the proposal for an Indian assay, and to consider, assuming that an Indian assay should be introduced, what sort of a system should be devised.

5. The points for consideration in connection with the introduction of a system of assay are :—

(1) Should the assay be compulsory or optional?
(2) What standard or standards of fineness should be adopted?
(3) Where should assay offices be located? At the two Mints only, or at other centres also?
(4) What process for assay should be adopted?
(5) What fees should be charged?
(6) What distinguishing marks should be applied to the wares assayed?

6. On the first point the Government is decidedly of opinion that no such restriction of trade as would accompany a compulsory assay and hall-mark can be contemplated. The law which would be required would be of a character entirely contrary to the economic policy of the Government of India, and would be vexatious and restrictive in operation wherever it could operate (as in the Presidency towns). Apart, moreover, from the objections of principle to such a system, it is clear that the law would constantly be evaded, and a serious result of compulsion would be the discouragement of trade in British territory and its encouragement in Native States.

If any assay is to be introduced, it must be optional, and none should be required for articles which under the English law do not require to be marked.

7. On the second and third points the Governor-General in Council will reserve any expression of opinion until he is placed in possession of the views of the Local Governments and the trading and manufacturing community. As regards assay offices, itmust be remembered that the establishment of new offices will involve considerable expenditure, which must all be met from fees.

8. As to the fourth point, there are three processes in use in various countries—(a) cupellation, (b) the wet method, (c) the touchstone. The two first are the most accurate, but both involve the slicing or scraping off from the piece of work of a portion of the metal to be assayed, and consequently it is found necessary to send the work to the assay office in an unfinished state, and finish it off for sale after it has been marked. If either of these processes is adopted in India, the manufacturer who works at a distance from the assay office must incur a heavy expense in cost of transit. If, for instance, he is at Delhi, he must send his wares to Bombay; then get them bank to Delhi; and then, after finishing off the work, send them to Bombay again for export. In each transit the goods must be insured.

The last method—that of the touchstone—does not involve any injury to the ware, but it is not so accurate, varying, it is believed, about one per cent. in its results one way or the other. It is consequently in France and other Continental countries used only for small wares, which could not be treated by the other processes. In England it is not used at all. It would probably be best to adopt this process in India: the test is sufficiently good for practical purposes, and it has the advantage of placing manufacturers at a distance from the assay office more nearly on a level with manufacturers at an assaying centre than would be the case if the other processes were adopted.

9. On the fifth point, that of the fees to be charged, no suggestion can be made at present. The fees must bear some relation to the expenditure, and, as said above, that will be large if assays are allowed to be made elsewhere than at Calcutta and Bombay. The Mint and Assay Masters may, however, be asked to suggest a scale which would be sufficient if no new offices were established. The fees first charged would be provisional only until it is seen how the scale operates.

10. The Mint and Assay Masters may be asked to advise on the sixth point also.

11. The Governor-General in Council will be glad to learn at an early date the views of the local Governments and Administrations on all these points, and desires specially to be informed—

(a) whether the prospect of the admission of Indian artware in the precious metals to England without the necessity of undergoing there the assay by cutting and scraping is considered of sufficient importance to the trade to justify the introduction into India of a system which must necessarily be restrictive and operate unequally, whether it is compulsory or voluntary;

(b) whether the continuance of hall-marking in the United Kingdom has appreciably minimised the effects that might have been expected from the repeal of the duty on silver plate. The trade has had some experience of the effects of the repeal, and will probably be able to say what practical effect the abolition of the duty has had. It must have stimulated the transmission to England by private persons of articles not intended for sale, and therefore not requiring to be assayed; and in this way trade has probably benefited indirectly, but it is desirable to know whether there has been any substantial increase directly in the supply of articles to be placed on sale in England.

12. One matter deserves special consideration. Section 4 of Act 47 and 48 Vict., cap. 62, is as follows:—

Articles of foreign plate which, in the opinion of the Commissioners of Customs, may be properly described as hand-chased, inlaid, bronzed, or filigree work of Oriental pattern, shall, subject to the payment of the proper duties of customs, be exempted from assay in the United Kingdom.

The Governor-General in Council is not aware of the precise significance attached by the Commissioners of Customs in England to the terms "hand-chased, inlaid, bronzed, or filigree work of Oriental pattern," but it seems possible that they cover most descriptions of Indian silver ware exported to England. It is important to know how the exemption made by the section quoted above has worked in practice, and whether it has in fact given the substantial relief that it seems to give. The opinions of those engaged in the trade on these points are particularly invited. It is possible that the terms of the existing law are not generally known in India.

13. His Excellency in Council considers it important that the questions raised in this Resolution should be carefully explained to representative native manufacturers, and their opinions obtained. It is also specially desirable that such opinions should be obtained from workers distant from the places where assay offices exist or are likely to be established: e.g., the Chief Commissioner of Burma should obtain the opinions of workers at Mandalay and Rangoon, and the Government of Bombay from Kutch and elsewhere.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the Resolution, together with a copy of the Despatch and enclosures read in the preamble, be forwarded—

(1) to the several local Governments and Administrations for the purpose indicated above;

(2) to the Foreign Department with the request that it may obtain and furnish to this Department opinions from the Native States of Jaipur and Kashmir;

(3) to the Chambers of Commerce of Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Rangoon, and Upper India for opinion; and

(4) to the Trades Associations of Calcutta and Madras with the request that the Government of India may be favoured with the fullest expression of their opinion and that of individual members and representative dealers and workers in the precious metals appertaining to those bodies.

Ordered also, that these papers be forwarded to the Mint and Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay, with the request that this Department may be furnished with their opinion on the question generally, and specially on the second, fifth, and sixth points noticed in the Resolution; and that the papers be published in the Gazette of India.

Secretary to the Government of India.

STATISTICS, No. 45.

INDIA OFFICE; London, 15th May 1890.

To His Excellency The Most Honourable The Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD MARQUIS,—YOUR Excellency has learnt by telegraph that it has been decided to abolish the duties on the importation of silver plate into the United Kingdom. The report of the Chancellor of the Exchequer's speech* shows that Her Majesty's Government remitted the duties in deference to the wishes and interests of the people of India.

2. The question of abolishing the British system of hall-marking and the views of the Indian Government on the matter were also considered. But it was decided not to interfere with the law and practice concerning hall-marking in the United Kingdom. The majority of people interested in the trade and those conversant with the artistic side of the question are believed to be strongly in favour of retaining the system of hall-marking. Her Majesty's Government proposed, however, to mitigate as far as possible any inconvenience under which the Indian silver trade might suffer, by providing that Indian silver work bearing an Indian hall-mark affixed under the authority of your Government should be admitted into the United Kingdom without being subjected to the British hall-mark regulations.

3. The Bill dealing with the matter will be forwarded to Your Excellency as soon as it is introduced. Meanwhile I shall be glad to learn at an early date what standard of fineness your Government would, with due regard to the practice of Indian silversmiths, propose to adopt for the Indian silver hall-mark. I forward a copy of a Parliamentary return showing the standards of fineness adopted by different European nations which maintain a system of hall-marking.

By book-post.

4. It is perhaps needless for me to observe that, if a hall-mark is established for India, it might be permissive and not obligatory. Any dealer who desired to send silver ware to England without being liable to the British hall-marking system would get his wares assayed and marked in India under such rules as Your Excellency might prescribe. I anticipate that the new law and practice in the United Kingdom will follow the practice now existing, whereby artistic silver ware or ware belonging to private persons and not intended for sale is exempted from the hall-mark regulations.†

†47 & 48 Vict., cap. 62, section 4.

5. I forward a copy of a letter from Mr. W. Carlton Wood, on behalf of Messrs. Orr & Sons, on the subject of hall-marking in India, together with the reply that I have caused to be sent thereto.

I have the honour to be,
MY LORD MARQUIS,
Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servant,
(Signed) CROSS.

ENCLOSURES.

No. 1.

41, BASINGHALL STREET, LONDON, E.C.,
29th April 1890.

MY LORD,—As representing Messrs. P. Orr & Sons, of Madras, silversmiths, and in view of the answer given last night in the House of Commons by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that communications would be addressed to the Government of India before the proposed standard for hall-marking Indian silver plate was fixed, I beg respectfully to submit for consideration some practical points on the inherent difficulties of compulsory hall-marking, and with a view of demonstrating that "rupee standard" will not meet the requirements of Indian manufacturers :—

(1) The vast body of Indian silversmiths are of the small trader class. The silver used by them from time immemorial is obtained by melting rupee coins. No other silver is generally obtained by men of that class. They are not silver refiners.

(2) It is a necessity that solder be of a harder and inferior quality to the metal in the article soldered. The Indian silversmith notoriously solders heavily: consequently it is evident that no article made from rupee coins would pass the English Hall if the rupee standard be adopted. It is well known that English silversmiths overcome the difficulty of the solder by obtaining from the bullion dealers silver $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 dwt. per ounce better than standard, thereby rendering the whole article standard.

(3) Coins in use contract dirt, and it is doubtful if metal obtained from a quantity of rupee coins thrown into the melting pot would pass the English Hall even in the few articles where no solder is used.

(4) The great objection of Indian manufacturers to the English hall-marking is that the system adopted, "the scrape and parting assay," is unsuitable to finished goods, which are thereby rendered unsaleable without being returned to a workshop. The English manufacturers' practice of sending goods to the Hall "in the rough" is practically not open to Indian makers. If hall-marking remains compulsory, I beg to submit that the French system of assaying finished plate by "the touch," which in no way damages the goods, should be adopted here. I recognise that "the touch" is not so absolutely accurate as the "the scrape," but I respectfully submit that a plan proved adequate in France can scarcely be inapplicable in England.

The difficulty of fixing an arbitrary standard that will really meet the requirements of Indian trade is considerable, and I respectfully submit that optional hall-marking is the true remedy. If this is unattainable, I beg to recommend that, subject to Indian plate bearing a stipulated mark or letter defining it as Indian, it be allowed free sale in this country without assay.

I respectfully submit that, if the rupee standard be adopted and hall-marking with the system of "the scrape" be compulsory, no trade in ordinary Indian plate can result, and the assertion will be made in India that the British Government have given with one hand and taken away with the other.

I have, &c.,

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DACCA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 11th November, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for the year 1889-90.

The report is submitted by Mr. Power, who held charge of the Division for only the two last days of the year, and is therefore chiefly based on the remarks made by the District Officers, one of whom, however, took charge in the last month of the year, while another took charge after its close. The Commissionership was held for nearly the first nine months of the year by Mr. Worsley, and thereafter for three months by Mr. Clay.

2. The record of touring and inspection done by all officers, except the District Officer of Furreedpore, was exceptionally good. The Commissioner's tour extended to 104 days, the Collectors of Backergunge and Mymensingh were each out for 100 days, while the Collector of Dacca was out for 96 days. In Furreedpore changes of officers and sickness combined to reduce the touring done to 60 days. Of the 12 Subdivisional Officers, four performed tours of over 100 days, and those of the others were of sufficient duration. All the district offices and treasuries, and nine out of the twelve subdivisional offices and treasuries, were inspected by the Commissioner either during the year or immediately after its close. By the Collectors their own offices were inspected twice, seven of the subdivisional offices once, and five of the subdivisional offices twice.

3. The rainfall was plentiful, but in two districts, Dacca and Furreedpore, was so unevenly distributed as to reduce the outturn on the whole to less than eight annas or half an average crop. Backergunge throve on the misfortunes of its neighbours, and secured abnormally high prices for a full average crop. In Mymensingh also the crop, though not so good, is reported to have been quite an average one. In the two latter districts the condition of the people was naturally a very prosperous one, and it is said that the only classes which suffered were those with small fixed incomes. In Dacca and Furreedpore, however, some pressure is said to have been felt on account of the partial failure of the food crops. The health of the people was not good; fever and cholera were exceptionally prevalent, and on the whole it is said that the year was less healthy than any of the preceding quinquennial period.

4. Beyond the ordinary articles for domestic use made in every district, there is not much of importance manufactured in this Division. Such manufactures as there are, however, all showed an improvement over the previous year. The outturn of indigo in Goalundo increased from 83 to 101 maunds, of sugar in Furreedpore from 9,080 to 12,049 maunds, and the steam oil-mill established five years ago at Jhalokati in Backergunge produced 16,900 maunds of oil—an increase of 10 per cent. over the production of the previous year. The export trade in all articles except hides showed considerable expansion. The value of that from Naraingunge amounted to Rs. 1,14,89,150, against Rs. 1,01,61,683 in 1888-89. The trade of this place, it is said, has more than trebled since 1879-80, when Naraingunge was first declared to be a port, and has expanded by nearly 60 per cent. within the last five years. In Backergunge and Mymensingh, where the rice crops were good, the export was of course large; and in Dacca and Furreedpore jute has to a large extent supplanted rice, so that the latter is hardly exported at all from those districts. In Backergunge very little jute is grown, as the saline soil deteriorates the fibre: but in the three northern districts it is a peculiarly suitable crop, and is largely grown. This is due to the fact that the crop is an early one, and can therefore be exported by water before the khals have become impassable. There was a heavy crop of betel-nuts, and large quantities were exported to Calcutta and Burmah, while cocoanuts were as usual largely exported to Calcutta and to other districts.

5. The Commissioner remarks that trade is carried on chiefly by water in country boats and steamers, that there are hardly any carts, and that the amount of traffic carried on by the railway, though considerable in itself, is, comparatively speaking, small. Again, under the head of "Communications," he says—

"The improvement of water communication does not appear to have attracted much attention during the year. In low-lying districts like those of this division, road-making, involving as it does the construction of high embankments, is very expensive, and, as one Magistrate remarks, it would probably be very beneficial to the people if some portion of the money at the disposal of the Boards was expended in deepening or clearing the silt of the more important of the numerous khals and nullahs which intersect the division."

The question of roads versus khals is an extremely important one, and was discussed by Mr. Larminie (chiefly with reference to Backergunge) in his Annual Road Cess Report, published in page 1095 of the Calcutta Gazette for 9th June, 1886. Mr. Larminie was of opinion that at that time in the districts of Dacca, Mymensingh and Furreedpore roads were likely to prove of the greatest use to the public, but that in Backergunge money could more usefully be expended in improving the natural water communications.

6 The police are said to have worked fairly well during the year. The number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases is not given; but from the Inspector-General's report it appears that there was an increase in both classes of crime. The number of cases in which police enquiry was refused was 453 against 685 in the previous year. The largest number of refusals occurred in Mymensingh, where the police are numerically weakest in view of the area and population, and the smallest number (28), as in the previous year, in Furreedpore. False cases again showed an increase (695 against 660), but the results of the prosecutions were somewhat better, convictions being obtained in 27·7 per cent. of the cases as against 22·9, the percentage of the previous year.

7. The Land Revenue collections were on the whole satisfactory. The outstanding balance decreased from Rs. 3,39,124 to Rs. 2,95,014, and the percentage of total collections on total demand increased from 90·8 to 92·06, Furreedpore being the only district in which the percentage was below 90. There was a decrease in the outstanding balance on account of cesses in all districts except Furreedpore, but this was accompanied by an increase in the number of certificates filed from 9,819 to 10,821. There was a falling off in the Excise revenue, due mainly to the closing of outstills where the upset price was not paid, and to the abolition of the outstill system, which told heavily on the sales and reduced the advance collections paid in March. Under Stamps there was an increase of Rs. 58,031, the total revenue amounting to Rs. 6,20,538. The increase was general throughout the division. The Commissioner remarks :—

"This general increase is not traceable to any marked temporary cause, and may therefore be attributed to the growing artificiality of existence, i.e., to what is usually called progress."

The income-tax worked much more smoothly. The demand increased from Rs. 2,55,800 to Rs. 2,72,008, while the outstanding balance at the close of the year decreased from Rs. 5,300 to Rs. 2,110, and the percentage of objections was reduced from 7·8 to 5·8. Although the tax may continue to be unpopular, the expressions of discontent have apparently somewhat diminished. The system of paying land revenue by postal and revenue money-orders continued to work well, and the amount remitted increased from Rs. 1,45,539 to Rs. 1,78,808.

8. As in previous years, full statistics are given regarding the progress of education in the division, but no explanation is offered of their more striking features. Thus under secondary education an increase of only 2·4 per cent. in the number of pupils is accompanied by an increase of 7 per cent. in the expenditure; while under lower primary a decrease of 2·1 per cent. in the number of scholars is accompanied by an increase of 3·8 per cent. in the expenditure, and under female schools, although there has been a decrease of 5·5 per cent. in the expenditure, the decrease in the number of scholars amounts to no less than 23·1 per cent. As there was also a reduction in the expenditure from municipal and local funds, these facts point, until explained, to the supposition that the results must to some extent be due to a want of efficient administration on the part of the municipalities and District Boards concerned. On the other hand, it is satisfactory to note the large increase of 10,321 scholars under "Private institutions for indigenous instruction," and His Honour observes with much pleasure that there is an increase in the number of Mahomedan boys attending every class of school, an improvement which is, however, accompanied by a decrease of over 53 per cent. in the number of Mahomedan pupils attending girls' schools and female schools. Two new colleges have been established at Barisal, viz., the Brojo Mohon Institution and the Raj Chandra College. In the Commissioner's report they are stated to have had respectively 21 and 12 students on the 31st March 1890. In the Director of Public Instruction's report, the numbers given are 61 and 27, and the average daily attendance is returned as 44 and 21. The discrepancy is remarkable and should be explained.

9. In paragraph 244 the Commissioner says that the management of the pounds by the District Boards has not as yet resulted in any marked improvement, and that the Magistrate is of opinion that systematic inspection by some responsible officer of the Boards is much to be desired. This source of revenue is believed to be capable of considerable expansion, and such an inspection as that suggested, which ought to be easily arranged without additional expense, would probably effect something in this direction for by an examination of the counterfoils the inspecting officer could readily ascertain from what distance cattle are usually brought to the pounds, and consequently what room there is for the establishment of new pounds, and he could probably also form a shrewd guess whether the rent realized for the pound was a fair one or not.

10. Regarding the zemindars, the Commissioner makes the following remarks:—

Dacca.

"Nawab Sir Abdul Ghuni, K.C.S.I., Nawab Ahsanullah, Khan Bahadoor, and Rajah Rajendra Narayan Roy Bahadoor, have maintained their reputation as loyal subjects, peaceful landlords, and public benefactors. Of the other zemindars of this district,

Babu Srinath Roy of Bhagyakul deserves prominent mention for his public spirit in contributing a munificent donation of Rs. 30,000 in memory of his mother for the building and foundation of an eye-ward to be attached to the Mitford Hospital at Dacca.

Furreedpore. "The principal zemindars of this district are absentees. There was nothing in their conduct during the year deserving of special mention.

Backergunge. "The zemindars of this district, with the exception of Nawab Ahsanullah, have done nothing during the year to merit praise." On the contrary, it is stated that many of them, by their conduct in stirring up disturbances for their own ends, deserve severe censure.

Mymensingh. The Commissioner while noticing the absence this year of any special act of beneficence on the part of the Mymensingh zemindars reports that the Maharajah of Susung, Rajah Surja Kantha Acharjya Bahadoor of Mooktagacha, Babu Jogendra Kishore Roy Choudhuri of Ramgopalpore, Babu Brojendra Kishore Roy Choudhuri of Gouripore, Srimati Jahnobi Choudhurani and Srimati Bindu Bashini Choudhurani of Kagmare, Hafez Mahomed Aly Khan of Karotia, Babu Radha Bollabh Choudhuri of Sherepore, and Mir Abdul Huq of Sabinnagar, have maintained their reputation as liberal, peaceful, and law-abiding landlords.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the good services rendered by Mr. Savage at Backergunge, Mr. Hare at Dacca, and Mr. R. C. Dutt at Mymensingh, which have been brought to his notice by the Commissioner. The Personal Assistant, Babu Okhoy Coomar Sen, is also favourably mentioned. Mr. Worsley was in charge of the Division during the greater part of the year under report, and deserves His Honour's thanks for his careful and judicious administration. The present Officiating Commissioner, Mr. Power, has done well during his tenure of office.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF THE CALCUTTA ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS (F).

Dated Darjeeling, the 13th November 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Committee for the Management of the Calcutta Zoological Gardens for the year 1889-90.

The accounts appended to this report show that the financial position of the Gardens requires the serious attention of the Committee. The receipts from private sources amounted to Rs. 18,126, the Government contribution was Rs. 19,504, making a total income of Rs. 37,630, while the expenditure was Rs. 46,285, leaving a deficit of Rs. 8,655. Of this Rs. 6,523 were spent on original works of construction; but, even excluding that sum, the cost of ordinary administration exceeded the income. The balance was reduced from Rs. 11,279 to Rs. 2,624.

The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that a very useful tropical aviary was constructed during the year, which bears the name of the Nawab Bahadur of Moorshedabad in recognition of his large subscription to the Gardens of Rs. 10,000.

The number of visitors who paid entrance fees was 109,569 against 111,573 in the previous year; but this number was exclusive of a large number of students and children under eight years of age who were admitted free of charge. The most important additions made in the course of the year were a pair of adult African lions, two African leopards, one African caracal, and one hunting leopard presented by His Excellency the Viceroy; a pair of young Indian lions presented by the Nawab of Junagarh, Katteywar, and two tigress cubs presented by Sir Steuart Bayley. One zebra was obtained by exchange from the Zoological Society's Gardens, London, and a pair of jaguars from Mr. Carl Hagenbeck of Hamburg. The birth of a pair of tiger cubs is mentioned as an unusual event during the year. Of the presentations made, there were 60 mammals, 34 birds, and 4 reptiles. The total number of presentations during the year was 98 as against 42 in the previous year, and is indicative of the interest taken by the public in the institution.

It is stated that the institution continued to maintain its popularity with the students and teachers of the various schools and colleges of Calcutta and its suburbs.

The thanks of the Lieutenant Governor are due to the members of the Committee for their efficient management of the Gardens during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 297Mne., dated Calcutta, the 15th November 1890.

THE following Report of the 14th quarterly inspection of the Dock Works at Kidderpore, which are being carried out by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, is published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,
Under-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF THE KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

From—MAJOR A. D. MCARTHUR, R.E., and W. CONNAN, ESQ.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

IN accordance with the orders of the Government of Bengal, communicated with letter No. 178T.—M. of the 21st ultimo (received on the 4th instant), we have the honour to report that the 14th quarterly inspection of the Kidderpore Dock Works was made on the 8th instant.

The usual tabular statement and the index plan showing the work done during the quarter ending 30th September 1890, and the total amount of work executed from the commencement, which has been prepared by the Superintending Engineer of the Dock Works, are already with Government. The present state of the various works under construction is reported in the following paragraphs.

Sixty feet Lock.—As reported in the last quarter, the work was almost completed, with the exception of the riverside revetment. Of the estimated quantity of masonry, viz. 2,229,490 c. feet, 98·1 per cent. was executed up to the end of the quarter, thus leaving only 1·9 per cent. remaining to be done.

Eighty feet Entrance.—With the exception of the riverside revetments, this work is completed; about 21·0 per cent. of excavation remains to be done.

Double Entrance to Dock No. 1—Is finished, including the swing-bridge which is open to traffic.

Tidal Basin.—Quay walls completed, with the exception of coping, of which 35·4 per cent. still remains: 5·3 per cent. of the masonry also remains to be done.

Graving Dock.—About 5 per cent. of the masonry remains to be done. The erection of the caissons has been commenced.

Government Graving Dock—Is almost finished, with the exception of 6·7 per cent. of the estimated quantity of masonry. The foundations of the engine and boiler houses, which serve both graving docks, have been got in, and the centrifugal pumps are being erected as the work proceeds.

Dock No. 1.—The quay wall was completed with the exception of the coping which was in progress. We regret to record that in the beginning of October, or shortly after the expiry of the quarter ending September, to which period the progress herein stated bears reference, a considerable length of the walls of this Dock suddenly showed signs of failure. We understand that the matter has already been reported to Government, and that a more detailed report is in course of preparation, which will be submitted in due course. As far as we could note during our inspection, the following is the present condition of the damaged work, the same being roughly indicated on the diagram accompanying the progress report and submitted herewith.

Movement of the long straight length of the east wall of the Dock has taken place over 2,050 feet, commencing about 50 feet from the angle of the short berth at the north end and extending to the angle of the wall at the south end. The displacement at the extremities of this length is shown by slight cracks in the face of the masonry extending through the wall and by longitudinal cracks along the course of the tunnel arch; but it is not considered that the latter extend through the solid masonry. The wall has been thrust forward by the earth backing, and tilted so as to bring the face to a vertical position along the whole damaged length. The movement is very slight at the two extremities and attains a maximum at a distance of 1,650 to 1,700 feet from the south angle, where the displacement at the coping level is 7′ 5½″. From this point of maximum displacement to the south angle, an almost perfect straight line has been preserved, the remaining 400 feet at the north end being more or less bulged. The original batter of the wall was $\frac{1}{2}''$ to the foot or about 2′ in the total height from the foundation, and this amount would represent the forward movement at the top edge of the coping due to tilting, the remainder of the movement, or a maximum of 5′ $5\frac{1}{2}''$, being the bodily transfer of the whole wall to the front sliding over its bed. The earth backing has sunk an average of perhaps 6′ for a distance of 75 to 120 feet from the front of the wall, filling completely the gap caused by the displacement of the wall. The average height through which the wall has sunk is 15″.

Shortly after the occurrence above mentioned, a serious movement and fracture of the wall at the south-west angle of the Dock took place. About 450 feet of the inclined portion of the wall was affected, and about 50 feet adjoining this at the end of the Dock. The greatest forward movement was at a point 120 feet from the angle of the side walls, being 12′ $11\frac{1}{2}''$, or, allowing 2 feet for the tilting of the wall, a forward movement of the whole wall of nearly 11 feet. The masonry of this portion is much shaken, showing cracks both on the face extending through the wall and longitudinal cracks. No less than seven cracks appear on the face of the wall and extending through it, while one appears at the extremity of the detached length at the end of the Dock. The mass of masonry here appears to have received a severe wrench from the force exerted by the backing at the point of maximum displacement, but the movement of the wall itself is small.

It was reported to us that since the first movement of the walls no further displacement or settlement has taken place. The masonry of both the damaged walls appears to us to be of thorough good quality.

Boat Canal.—Lift lock is finished, the main pumping-station is being roofed and the pump being erected; 19·5 per cent. of excavation and 17·0 per cent. of masonry still remain.

The Chetla lock walls are raised to within a few feet of coping level.

Subsidiary Works.—The hydraulic engine-house is completed. The four jetty heads to the entrance are about half done and the foundations of the cargo sheds were in progress. The latter along the length of the damaged portion of the Dock walls have sunk with the earth backing.

Expenditure.—The total expenditure up to the end of the quarter under review is reported to be Rs. 1,95,81,854, of which Rs. 1,70,48,464 represent outlay on works and Rs. 25,33,389 on account of land.

Sanitary.—During the quarter under review the health of the workpeople was generally good. The daily average number of coolies employed was 6,144, among whom there were four deaths, thus showing a death-rate of 7·82 per mille per annum.

General remarks.—We are of opinion that fair progress was made with the work up to the end of the quarter, which would have been maintained up to the date of our inspection but for the partial failure of the Dock walls. The quality of the work, as far as we have been able to judge, is satisfactory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means of six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last for the week ending Friday, the 14th of November 1890.

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

Calcutta, the 18*th November* 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 14TH OF NOVEMBER 1890.

FINE weather has prevailed almost without interruption over the whole province throughout the week, and the general conditions have undergone very little change from day to day. Pressure has been above the normal, and temperature after the first day or two has been steadily falling. Wind circulation, except towards the end of the week, was westerly in the western districts, and gradually became more northerly towards the east. In the Bay steady northerly winds of light or moderate force have blown almost continuously.

At the beginning of the week pressure was very high, readings being over 30 inches at all stations, and diminishing from 30·1 in the north of Bengal to a little over 30 inches in the extreme south of the Bay. Southerly winds were blowing in Chutia Nagpur and the west of South Behar, owing to a local high-pressure area over the country surrounding Gya, Hazaribagh, and Ranigunge, which caused faintly defined anti-cyclonic winds in its neighbourhood. Temperature was falling in the northern districts and rising in South-West and North Bengal and Assam, while nearly all stations reported light cloud. Pressure began to fall very slowly on the 9th, and the cloudy weather continued, a light shower of rain being reported from Cuttack. The fall of pressure was moderate on the 10th, but conditions underwent no change, except that light showers were more frequent in Orissa and a few drops fell at Buxa and Darjeeling. Till about the end of the week there was no further change, pressure tended to become more uniform, and low in the northern districts, especially on the 13th, when westerly or south-westerly winds blew at nearly all stations, and on the 14th notwithstanding the general rise.

Pressure—Was considerably above the normal at the beginning of the week and afterwards very nearly normal. Means are therefore in excess at all stations by amounts varying from ·02 inch over the greater part of the province to ·05 inch in East Bengal.

Temperature—Has been steadily falling and almost always below the normal. From the table below, giving mean temperature at representative stations, it may be seen that defect has been almost the same in maximum and minimum readings; the only notable differences occurring at Darjeeling, where the mean night temperature is above the normal by 1·6° and the day temperature below by about 1°; and at Purneah, where defect was considerably greater during the day than at night. The mean for Orissa is normal, and for the other districts below—North Bengal by ·4°, South-West-Bengal and Chutia Nagpur by ·7°, East Bengal and South Behar by 1·6°, and North Behar by 1·9°.

The warmest days were the 9th and 10th in Lower Bengal, and the 13th and 14th in North Bengal and Behar, maximum temperature being generally between 82° and 84°. The coldest nights were the 11th and 12th in all districts except North Bengal and the adjacent part of North Behar, where temperature was lowest on the 9th and 10th:—

TORRES STRAIT, PRINCE OF WALES CHANNEL.

Beresford shoals—possibly less depth than charted.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 580 of 1890) that from the report of a Court of Inquiry, held at Thursday island, into the loss of the British ship Volga, drawing 21½ feet, on 6th August 1890—there appear some grounds for supposing that that ship may have struck on the Beresford shoals, at the eastern approach to Prince of Wales channel, Torres strait, afterwards foundering near the western extreme of North-west reef :—

The position of the Volga when she struck was very doubtful, but the great difficulty of sounding closely in the locality, in consequence of the strong tides and winds, renders it very possible that there may be a patch of less water on Beresford shoals than was found during the survey in 1881.

Position of sunken wreck of Volga, lat. 10° 31′ 10″ S., long. 142° 9′ 5″ E.

Mariners are warned accordingly.

FITZROY RIVER.

Directions for No. 3 cutting.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 29 of 1890), issued by the Port Master, Brisbane, is re-published for general information :—

As the dredge Saurian has completed the first-half width of 100 feet of the above cutting (i.e., the up-stream or western half), giving a depth of 10 feet at low-water ordinary spring tides, after this date, and until the completion of the second-half of the cutting, the present line of leading beacons and lights will be shifted 50 feet up-stream, and paralell to the present line, or in the centre line of that part of the cutting just completed.

It will therefore be necessary for vessels passing up the river to leave the dredge on the starboard hand instead of the port hand, as at present. The dredge will be moored about 25 feet only above the line of lights, consequently vessels must be prepared to keep a little below, or on the line, and not get on the upper side of it.

TRINITY HARBOUR.

Directions for new cutting.

THE Port Master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 30 of 1890) that the new cutting into Trinity Harbour is now open for navigation. It is 200 feet wide, and is marked by six piles carrying square black beacons driven 50 feet from the edge on the eastern side of the cutting; the shoalest water in the cutting being 13 feet at low-water ordinary spring tides. After passing through the cutting, the water gradually deepens from 3 to 5 fathoms, the depth at the anchorage off the wharves.

DIRECTIONS.

By Day.—After passing the Fairway buoy steer about S. S. W., keeping two white triangular beacons, which are erected on the masts on which the leading lights are exhibited, in line, which will carry in mid-cutting until within a ship's length of the outer leading light mast; then steer mid-stream until abreast the wharves, when a vessel may anchor in mid-channel in 4 to 5 fathoms of water.

By Night.—Two white leading lights and one red light are exhibited, which enable vessels to enter the Port and reach the wharves by night. The back light is at an elevation of 96 feet and the front light of 37 feet above high water, and are at a distance apart of 5,000 feet. The red light, which is at the wharves, is distant half-a-mile above the outer white light. When making for the Fairway buoy the two leading lights will be seen, which, when brought in line, will bear about S. S. W., and will lead in mid-cutting. Steer with the lights in line to within one to two ships' lengths of the outer light, when haul more to the eastward, keeping the red light, which is placed on the outer end of Burns, Philp and Company's wharf, on the starboard hand. When abreast of the red light a vessel may anchor in from 4 to 5 fathoms.

The old channel is still marked by seven black beacons on the port hand; and seven red beacons on the starboard hand.

A tide-gauge, showing the depth of water in the cutting, is placed on the outer pile marking the eastern side of the cutting.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF MUNICIPALITIES IN BENGAL DURING 1889-90.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Calcutta, the 21st November, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The reports from the several Commissioners of Divisions on the working of the Municipalities in Bengal (except Calcutta) during the year 1889-90.

Read again—

The Resolution reviewing the divisional reports on the working of Municipalities during the year 1888-89.

The following Resolution reviews the reports submitted by Commissioners of Divisions on the working of municipalities during the year 1889-90.

2. Number of Municipalities.—The total number of municipalities in existence at the close of the year was 147 as in the preceding year. The municipalities of Assensole and of the Suburbs of Calcutta were abolished for reasons explained in paragraph 4 of last year's Resolution; and two new municipalities, namely Cossipore-Chitpore and Munickтollah, comprising portions of the Suburban Municipality, were established during the year. Since the close of the year the Khagoul and Garwa manicipalities have been abolished.

The statement in Appendix A shows the date of establishment of each municipality in the province, the population within municipal limits, and the actual number of rate-payers in each. The average proportion of rate-payers to the whole population in the municipalities for which complete figures are given was 17·9 per cent., against 17·85 of the previous year.

3. Elective System.—The system under which two-thirds of the total number of Commissioners fixed for each municipality are elected by the rate-payers was in force in all the municipalities except those named below:—

Bettiah.	Gurwa.	Lohardugga.
Chanduria.	Jajpore.	Nalchitty.
Chogda.	Jamui.	Netrokona.
Chyebassa.	Jehanabad.	Perozepore.
Colgong.	Jhalda.	Raghunathpore.
Cox's Bazar.	Jhalokati.	Roserah.
Daltongunge.	Julpigoree.	Sitamarhi.
Darjeeling.	Kendrapara.	Sonamuki.
Daudnugger.	Khoolna.	Tikari.
Debhatta.	Lalgunge.

4. Results of elections held during the year.—The two newly-formed municipalities of Cossipore-Chitpore and Manicktollah having been allowed the franchise, the first general elections were held in them. Out of 3,026 and 1,507 registered voters in those towns, 944 and 822 persons respectively attended the poll and voted. The elections were warmly contested in several wards, and it is said that the people generally took a lively interest in the matter. Of 103 bye-elections held under section 27 to fill up vacancies in the ranks of Commissioners, 91 were conducted successfully; the remaining 12 failed owing to nominations of candidates not having been submitted by the electors, within the time prescribed by the rules. The largest attendance of voters at the poll was 70·7 of the total number of qualified voters. These minor elections, the details of which are furnished in the table in Appendix B, appear to have excited no particular interest in most cases

5. Constitution of Committees.—The following statement shows, division by division, the constitution of the Committees of the various municipalities during the year:—

Division.	Nominated.	Elected.	Total.	Officials.	Non-officials.	Europeans.	Natives of India.	Remarks.
Burdwan	136	228	364	48	316	21	343	The professional occupation of Municipal Commissioners is not stated in all the Reports. This point is, however, one of much importance and full information will be given in future years.

The following table shows the percentage of officials and Europeans to the total number of Commissioners during 1889-90 and the previous eight years:—

	Officials.	Europeans.		Officials.	Europeans.
1881-82 ...	26·3	22·9	1886-87 ...	15·6	9·1
1882-83 ...	25·3	21·7	1887-88	16·2	9·4

1884-85 ...	18·0	12·1	1889-90 ...	16·1	9 0
1885-86 ...	16 1	10·1

It is clear that, so far as the personnel of the Municipal Committees is concerned, full scope has been given to the principle of allowing the townspeople to manage their own affairs.

6. Meetings of Committees.—The largest number of meetings held by any municipality was 41 at Serampore with an average attendance of 56·8 per cent. of the members. The highest average percentage of attendance was attained in the municipalities noted in the margin. The following table shows the municipalities which held more than twenty meetings with the average percentage of attendance at each meeting:—

The smallest number of meetings was held in the municipalities of Balasore and Jugdishpore, where the Commissioners met only once a quarter with an average percentage of attendance of 62·5 and 50· respectively.

Detailed information on the subject of the meetings held by the various municipalities is given in Appendix C. The attendance was on the whole satisfactory, and the statistics show that a large amount of time and trouble was gratuitously and unsparingly devoted by the Municipal Commissioners to the discharge of their duties.

7. Municipal Benches.—The Municipal Benches in the province tried 16,604 cases of nuisance and breach of conservancy rules, in which 14,730 persons were convicted and 2,209 acquitted. The average amount of fines imposed on each offender varied from Rs. 4-2-8 in Jamalpore, in the Monghyr district, to Re. 0-2-1 in the Nuddea Municipality. The statement below shows the work done in detail :—
